Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 16th April 1908, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The disturbed conditions in upper India which were initiated on the 4th by the depression from Persia were prolonged until the 13th, and during the first four days of the week rain fell in the west Himalayas and submontane districts, Kashmir and the North-West Frontier Province, being most widespread on the 12th and 13th. On the latter date the barometer rose very rapidly and dry weather conditions were re-established over northwest India. The disturbance was succeeded by a cool wave which passed across northern India and the excessive temperatures which had prevailed over the United Provinces and northeast India for some time past disappeared. In Assam and south India thundershowers occurred on most days of the week and were very numerous in south India on the 16th.

Burma.—Myitkyina had a light fall of rain. Skies were clear or lightly clouded, and temperature was normal or in excess, the excess occurring chiefly in Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain occurred in Assam and at Narayanganj, the falls being most numerous on the 10th and 13th. Skies were cloudy in the coast districts and in Eastern Bengal and Assam, and were clear or lightly clouded elsewhere. The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Light rain fell at Muktesar, Chakrata, Pachmarhi and Amraoti. Cloud was reported from the greater part of the division on the first three days of the week, but skies were almost clear on the remaining days. Temperature was in general excess on the 10th and 11th; on the 12th however a cool wave from northwest India entered the western districts and advanced across the division, temperature being almost everywhere in defect on the 15th and 16th.

Northwest India—Rain fell in Baluchistan on the 10th and on that and the following four days it occurred in parts of upper India, chiefly along the hills, the falls were most numerous on the 12th and 13th. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded in the area of rainfall, but cloud disappeared on the 14th and skies were almost clear on the remaining days of the week.

The Peninsula.—On the 16th widespread rainfall occurred in south India and on the other days a few falls of rain were reported almost daily Skies were lightly to moderately clouded in south India and clear or lightly clouded elsewhere. Temperature was approximately normal.

The week's rainfall was above the average in the Punjab, west Rajputana, the North-West Frontier Province, Kashmir, Berar and Malabar, and was normal in Assam, the west of the United Provinces and Baluchistan. For the whole period from the 26th November to the 16th April rainfall is 20 per cent or more in excess in Upper Burma, Bihar, Chota Nagpur, the North-West Frontier Province, Kashmir, the North Madras coast, Mysore and Malabar, and 20 per cent. or more in defect in Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, the east of the United Provinces, of Central India and of Rajputana, the east and north Punjab, Baluchistan, the Bombay Deccan, the Konkan, south Hyderabad and southeast Madras.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 11th April 1908.

Burma.—Slight rain fell in two Lower Burma districts, in five Upper Burma districts and in the Northern and Southern Shan States. Transplanting of spring rice and gathering of beans and peas are progressing in several Upper Burma districts. The state of standing crops in Upper Burma is fair on the whole. The price of unhusked rice is practically stationary.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Light to moderate rain is reported from all parts of the Province except the Rajshahi division where rain is greatly needed and heat has been very excessive. More rain is also wanted in many other districts, especially in East Bengal. Prospects of standing crops are fairly good Preparation of land for autumn crops is going on but sowing is greatly impeded by want of rain Harvesting of spring crops is nearly complete Pressing of sugarcane is finished except in Upper Assam where a little remains Plucking of tea has commenced but the growth of the leaf is retarded by heat and deficiency of rain. The price of rice has risen slightly in five districts, in others there has been no change There is no apprehension of scarcity.

Bengal.—Light showers fell during the week in Jessore, Khulna and in parts of Cuttack, the remaining districts received no rain. Rain is urgently wanted in Lower Bengal and in Champaran, Bhagalpur and Balasore for the preparation of lands and for the sowing of the next season's crops, it is also required for the standing crops as well as for the mango crop which appears to be promising in several districts. Harvesting of spring crops continues and the threshing of those crops is in full swing. The newly planted sugarcane crop is doing fairly well but rain is wanted for its early growth Makua is being gathered and its prospects are so far fair. Scarcity of water is felt in the Burdwan division generally and also in Murshidabad, Jessore, Khulna, Angul and Manbhum. The fodder supply is reported to be insufficient in parts of Birbhum, Bankura, Hooghly and Angul The price of common rice is stationary except in Nadia, Champaran, Purnea, Balasore and Puri where it has risen; and in Birbhum and Ranchi where it has fallen. Stocks of food grains are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad and Palamau. Scarcity is still apprehended in Nadia and Shahabad. The number of persons on test works in Bankura, Hazaribagh and Ranchi were 1,577, and in the Orissa districts 4,228. Gratuitous relief was given to 12,842 persons of whom 10,674 were in Orissa.

Threshing and winnowing of spring crops are in progress and the outturn and prospects are generally fair, but are unfavourable in Kheri, Bahraich, Bara Banki and Gonda. Prices have fallen slightly in sixteen districts and have risen in six; elsewhere they are stationary and still very high. Grain is coming into the markets which are well stocked and importation is much reduced. Considerable quantities of grain are being imported from the plains into Garhwal and Almora by the aid of takkavi. Sowing and irrigation of sugarcane continue and fields are being prepared for the autumn crops. Extraction of opium is nearly completed but the outturn is poor in several districts. Picking of mahua is in progress but the crop has been injured in some districts by cloudy weather. The condition of agricultural stock is fair, except in three districts. Fodder is now available in larger quantities.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows—There has been a reduction in all forms of famine relief except aided works owing to the spring harvest. Labourers have found increased work in the fields and steps are being taken in many districts to reduce gradually gratuitous relief. The reduction is least marked in Bundelkhand where prices have risen in three districts and famine has been declared in the two remaining tahsils of Hamirpur. Scarcity has been declared in Garhwal and gratuitous relief sanctioned from 1st April. The recent rain has somewhat improved the situation in portions of the hill districts. The general health of the people continues good and of those on works fair. There is a little emaciation which is dealt with by special feeding There is no wandering. Some damage is also reported from hail in two villages of Bannu and in parts of the Dera Ismail Khan district. Sowings of extra spring crops and sugarcane still continue Land is also being prepared for autumn sowings which will have an excellent start. 4 Ex-officio vendors shall supply stamps to the public and to licensed vendors, and shall allow discount to the latter at the rates and under the conditions hereinafter prescribed

5 Licensed vendors shall sell to the public such stamps as are indicated in their licenses They shall obtain stamps from ex-officio vendors on payment of ready money (less the commission hereinafter prescribed), and shall keep such stock of stamps, including half-anna and one-anna unified stamps, as the Collector may consider sufficient to meet the demand likely to be made upon the licensed vendors for their supply

On the last day of each month the vendor shall add up the columns and enter in one line the receipts of the whole month. Below this line he shall enter the sales of the month obtained from the register of sales. The difference will be the opening balance of the next month.

(b) an abstract of daily sales, the columns of which shall be totalled at the end of every month.

Books containing these forms will be issued from the Collector's office. The above accounts shall be produced for inspection on the demand of any Government Officer not below the grade of Amildar.

14. An entry shall be made in the register of sales as each sale is effected. If the vendor takes a stamp from stock for his own private use it must be treated as a sale

18. Stamp papers will be sold at the Resident's Treasury and also at other licensed vend premises excepting single stamps of the value of more than R50 which may be sold, without discount to any person by the Treasurer of the Resident's Treasury

19 The account books of vendors will be sent for and examined once a quarter by the Officer in charge of the Resident's Treasury in order to ensure their being properly kept.

20. When a stamp vendo[illegible]nable to supply a single stamp paper of any required value, he sh[illegible] said value exceeds the highest value of stamp which he is authori[illegible] to sell, supply the smallest number of stamp papers available to make up that [illegible] and shall record on the back thereof a certificate to that effect

No 83.—The following is published for general information

ESTABLISHMENTS.

Nos. 675-694 E, dated the 24th April 1908.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department.

The Government of India have for some time had under their consideration the question of improving the pay of the Engineer Establishment of the Public Works Department. They have recognised that in the altered circumstances of the country the existing rates of pay are insufficient to ensure the recruitment of engineers with the requisite qualifications either in England or in India, or to maintain that standard of efficiency which is requisite to the proper maintenance and control of the great system of Public Works on which the advancement and prosperity of the country so largely depend. The question of re-organising the pay of the service is complicated by the inclusion in one list of Imperial engineers recruited in England and Provincial engineers recruited in India, the latter drawing a lower rate of pay. The Provincial Service was constituted in 1892 but up to the present time its officers, though on a lower scale of pay and under different rules in regard to leave and pension, are borne on the same list as the engineers of the Imperial Service—a practice not in accordance with that followed in any other Department. It has been decided that the opportunity afforded by the alteration of the rates of pay should be taken to give full effect to the recommendations of the Public Service Commission and to separate the cadres of the Imperial and Provincial Services. The Governor-General in Council, with the approval of His Majesty's Secretary of State for India is, therefore, pleased to sanction the following changes in organisation with effect from the 8th March of 1908, the date on which the Secretary of State's despatch on the subject was received in India.

IMPERIAL ENGINEERS.

2 Assistant and Executive classes—In place of the existing graded system of promotion in the executive and assistant engineer classes, as laid down in Resolution No 1523-G, dated the 28th September 1893, it has been decided, with the object of equalising the rate of promotion of officers in these classes throughout India, to introduce a fixed time-scale of promotion. The scale sanctioned is as follows —

		Maximum pay Rs
Assistant Engineer	1st year of service ...	380
,, ,,	2nd ,, ,, ,, ...	420
,, ,,	3rd ,, ,, ,, ...	460
,, ,,	4th ,, ,, ,, ...	500
,, ,,	5th ,, ,, ,, ...	540
,, ,,	6th ,, ,, ,, ...	580
,, ,,	7th ,, ,, ,, ...	620
,, ,,	8th ,, ,, ,, ...	660
Executive Engineer	9th ,, ,, ,, ...	700
,, ,,	10th ,, ,, ,, ...	750
,, ,,	11th ,, ,, ,, ...	800
,, ,,	12th ,, ,, ,, ..	850
,, ,,	13th ,, ,, ,, ...	900
,, ,,	14th ,, ,, ,, ...	950
,, ,,	15th ,, ,, ,, ...	1,000
,, ,,	16th ,, ,, ,, ...	1,050
,, ,,	17th ,, ,, ,, ...	1,100
,, ,,	18th ,, ,, ,, ...	1,150
,, ,,	19th ,, ,, ,, ...	1,200
,, ,,	20th ,, ,, ,, and following years ...	1,250

The two periodical increments of Rs. 50, now admissible to Executive Engineers, 1st grade, under paragraph 12 of Volume I of the Public Works Code, are abolished and, in accordance with the procedure which is usually adopted when the pay of a service is re-organised on an improved basis, exchange compensation allowance will cease to be drawn with effect from the date on which the new scale comes into force.

The increments will be given for approved service only, but after the first increment has been admitted by the Local Government or Administration under which the officer is serving subsequent increments may be drawn in each class on the date on which they are due, and may be admitted in audit without sanction of higher authority, provided that the Local Government or Administration concerned has not issued an order withholding the increment in any particular case In the 9th year of service an officer will ordinarily pass into the executive class, the minimum pay of which is Rs. 700, but no officer will be permitted to enter that class until he is reported fully qualified for the charge of a division Further, no officer in the executive class may draw more than Rs. 800 a month except as a purely temporary arrangement, unless he holds a divisional charge, or a charge which, in the opinion of the Local Government or Administration, is of equal importance. An officer of the assistant class placed in charge of a division will, in addition to his substantive pay, draw the ordinary officiating allowance admissible under Article 120, Civil Service Regulations, subject to a maximum of Rs. 700, which is the minimum pay of an Executive Engineer, but the period during which an Assistant officiates in the executive class will not count as service for increments in that class. Temporary promotion to the rank of Executive Engineer is abolished.

3. Administrative classes.—No change is made in the pay of officers of administrative rank, as sanctioned in Resolution No 1101-E., dated the 25th August 1905, but exchange compensation allowance will not be admissible on promotion to that rank to officers who on the 8th March 1908 were below the rank of Executive Engineer, 1st grade. An exception is made in the case of Executive Engineers, 1st grade, since the enjoyment of the higher rate of pay up to the date of promotion to the rank of Superintending Engineer, might not compensate them for the loss of exchange compensation allowance, admissible to administrative officers under present rules. Exchange compensation allowance in the administrative classes has already been withdrawn by the orders in Resolution No 471-E, dated the 30th April 1906, from all officers appointed to the Department in and after the year 1907, and the present orders will ultimately lead to the complete abolition of the allowance throughout all ranks of the Department.

PROVINCIAL ENGINEERS.

4 Assistant and Executive classes—In the case of these officers the following improved time-scale for the assistant and executive classes is introduced in place of the system of grade promotion, laid down in Resolution No. 2523-G., dated the 28th September 1893, under which an officer of the Provincial Service cannot, as an Executive Engineer, rise above a maximum pay of Rs. 650 —

No promotion to the executive class will be made until the completion of 15 years' service, and promotion at that stage will be dependent on—

(1) possession of the necessary qualifications for the charge of a division,

(2) existence of a vacancy in the divisional charges reserved for provincial engineers (paragraph 11 below).

An assistant appointed to the charge of a division will receive the ordinary officiating allowance admissible under Article 120, Civil Service Regulations, subject to a maximum salary of Rs 650, the minimum pay of the executive class; but the period during which an Assistant officiates in the executive class will not count as service for increments in that class. Temporary promotion from the assistant to the executive class is, as in the case of the Imperial Service, abolished.

The increments will be given for approved service only, and may be drawn when due subject to the same restrictions as are laid down in the case of the Imperial Service.

5. Administrative classes.—In supersession of the rates of pay fixed in Resolution No. 2112-G, dated 19th July 1892, the following revised rates are sanctioned for the three classes of Superintending Engineers —

					Rs.
Class I	...	...	...	...	1,600
Class II	...	..	..	...	1,400
Class III	...	...	...	...	1,200

The rates of pay for officers of the Provincial Service who may rise to the rank of Chief Engineer will be the rates sanctioned for Imperial engineers.

6 All Provincial engineers now in the Department are given the option of electing for these new conditions of service. If election is made within two months from the date of this resolution, it will take effect from the date from which the new scale is sanctioned, otherwise, with effect from the date of election. A reasonable extension of time, at the discretion of Local Governments and Administrations, may be permitted in the case of officers on leave or on foreign service out of India.

7. In the case of both Imperial and Provincial engineers all time spent on leave with allowances, on foreign service and on deputation on special duty, will count as service for increments on the time-scale in the absence of orders in any particular case to the contrary. In regard to the date on which increments become due the rule in Civil Service Regulations, Article 151, will apply. This will not, however, in any way affect the question of relative seniority which, as at present, will be regulated by the date or order of appointment as the case may be.

8. The initial salary which each officer now in the service is to draw under the new scales of pay will be determined by their Local Governments, except in the case of officers on the minor Administrations List, whose promotion has hitherto been regulated by the Government of India. The initial salary to be drawn by these officers will be communicated in due course to the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam and to the Local Administrations concerned. In determining the initial pay under the new scales it should be understood that, though Local Governments are accorded full power to fix the pay of any officer within the maximum admissible for his length of service, no officer whose promotion has been retarded in the past, is, by reason of length of service, entitled to claim a higher rate of pay under the new scales than that admitted to the officer immediately above him in the seniority list. Indian College officers on the Imperial rates of pay will count service, for the purpose of the new incremental scale from the date on which they attained the pay Rs. 350.

9. The new scale will be introduced so as not to cause any reduction in the emoluments (substantive pay plus exchange compensation allowance) actually drawn at present by any officer, Imperial or Provincial, under the existing scale. In any case in which under the new scale the pay admissible is less, the difference between such pay and the old scale of pay, plus exchange compensation allowance, will be allowed as a personal allowance to be reduced or absorbed as the recipient's pay, or salary, is increased under the new scale Further, no officer shall be called upon to refund any excess of pay, which he may have actually drawn, under competent authority, between the date on which the new scales of pay take effect, viz, the 8th March 1908, and the actual date of the orders of the Local Government or Administration regulating the position of the officer on the incremental scale, and any officer, whether Imperial or Provincial, permanently promoted to the rank of Executive Engineer on or before the date of this Resolution, may be permitted to retain that rank irrespective of his position on the new incremental scales of pay

10. The pay to be drawn by Royal Engineers in the administrative classes is determined by Resolution No 1140 E, dated 15th October 1906, and separate orders will issue in due course in regard to the pay to be drawn by these officers in the executive and assistant classes consequent on the revision of the civil rates of pay now sanctioned

11. It will now be necessary to fix a separate cadre for Imperial and for Provincial engineers for each province or branch of the service, and this matter, which is not one of urgency, will be taken up in due course in communication with the various Local Governments and Administrations The strength of the Provincial Service has, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, been fixed for the present at 280 officers, and separate cadres will therefore be laid down for each Provincial branch of the service working up to this total, the balance of requirements being provided for in the cadres for Imperial engineers It may be explained that, in order to secure, as provided in the scale of pay laid down, the promotion of each qualified Provincial engineer to the executive class, after three years' service on his maximum pay as an Assistant Engineer, in other words in his 16th year of service, it is estimated that it will be necessary to reserve a minimum of 75 divisional charges for this service This number will accordingly be eventually reserved and distributed over the various Provincial cadres. The Provincial Service which was introduced by Resolution No 2112 G., dated 19th July 1892, is still in its infancy, the total strength at present being [illegible] officers, and no officer of that service has consequently yet reached the stage in his career when his fitness for administrative rank would ordinarily require consideration. All administrative charges must therefore be filled for the time being by Imperial engineers, and the cadres for Provincial engineers will, for the present, be confined to the executive and assistant classes The Governor-General in Council, however, fully recognizes the necessity of increasing the strength of the Provincial Service, as soon as this is found to be practicable, in order to provide a larger field of employment for persons who have been trained in this country. The scheme now sanctioned for the Provincial Service must not therefore be regarded as finally determining the position of that service in the Public Works Department, but rather as providing the framework of a scheme, to be subsequently enlarged, in the direction of giving the Indian element in the department a larger share in the administration of the public works of their country as they prove their fitness for the higher posts. The Governor-General in Council, therefore, directs that a careful reconsideration of the strength and constitution of the Provincial Service shall be undertaken at periodical intervals of five years.

ORDERED that this Resolution be forwarded to Local Governments, Administrations and Officers noted in the margin for information and guidance, and that it be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 18th April 1908.

Burma.—Slight rain fell during the week in three Lower Burma districts, in four Upper Burma districts, in the Northern and Southern Shan States and in the Pakokku Hill tracts. Transplanting of spring rice and gathering of miscellaneous spring crops are progressing in Upper Burma Standing crops in the Upper Province are mostly in good condition The price of unhusked rice has risen slightly in three districts, and has fallen slightly in one, elsewhere prices are stationary.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Heavy rain fell in Lakhimpur and there were light falls in most other districts The weather continues very hot with high winds though the nights are fairly cool More rain is greatly needed to assist sowing and the growth of rice, jute and other monsoon crops Prospects of tea are poor except in Lakhimpur. There is scarcity of fodder and water in many places The price of rice has risen in three, and has fallen in two districts There is no present apprehension of scarcity.

Bengal.—During the week the weather has been abnormally hot and dry A few drops of rain fell in Jessore, Cuttack and Angul. Rain is urgently wanted throughout the Province especially in Lower Bengal for jute sowings The cheena and sugarcane crops in Behar are fair The makua crop in Hazaribagh and Ranchi is not as good as was anticipated Ploughing is at a stand-still for want of moisture and the new sugarcane crop is suffering Harvesting of the summer rice crop in Orissa continues. Stocks are reported insufficient in parts of Birbhum, Nadia, Murshidabad and Palamau Prices are stationary except in two or three districts of the Patna division where they show a tendency to rise. Scarcity is apprehended in Nadia, Shahabad and Palamau and test works have been opened in Bankura, Cuttack, Balasore, Puri, Hazaribagh and Ranchi Water scarcity is reported from most of the districts of the Presidency and Burdwan divisions, from Cuttack, Balasore, Singhbhum and parts of Manbhum. Fodder is scarce in Bankura, Hooghly, Cuttack and Balasore. The numbers on gratuitous relief are 17,737 of whom 15,520 are in Orissa The numbers on test works are 7,323 of whom 4,620 are in Orissa

United Provinces—The rainfall exceeded one inch in the north of Garhwal, half an inch in the east of the Almora district and in Pilibhit, and light rain in twenty-four other districts. The rain did good in the hill districts and enabled ploughings for autumn crops to be resumed where they had been retarded for want of rain Prospects of spring crops have improved in north Garhwal but in the hills generally, except in irrigated tracts, they are poor Harvesting of spring crops has commenced in places in the hill districts. Harvesting in the plains continued in full swing in northern and western districts, the outturn of the spring crop being somewhat disappointing in the Meerut division, in the rest of the Provinces harvesting is drawing to a close and the crop is being threshed and winnowed The outturn of the mahua crop is reported to be disappointing in Bundelkhand Opium extraction is nearing completion Irrigation of sugarcane and of extra crops continues Prices have fallen in fourteen districts and in the north and west of the Province, elsewhere they are stationary and have risen slightly in Sultanpur. Markets are well stocked and importation is now on a much reduced scale. Special measures are in progress to bring grain into the hill districts and into the Tehri State. The condition of agricultural stock, except in one or two districts, is fair. New fodder is available but is dear and forest hay is still being utilized

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Harvesting of spring crops is nearing completion in many districts with the result that the number of workers on public and aided works has risen. There is a reduction in the numbers on gratuitous relief and in poorhouses The general health of the people is satisfactory. There is no wandering and no noticeable immigration or emigration 21,354 persons are on relief in the Balrampur Estates The numbers on Government relief are—workers on public works 490,393, on aided works 68,500, on test works 1,954, dependants on works 236,929, on gratuitous relief 335,193, in poorhouses 2,865, total 1,135,834. The largest total figures are —Bahraich 220,563, Mirzapur (with Family Domains) 109,402; Gonda (excluding Balrampur) 106,315, Kheri 96,356, Banda 89,661, Jalaun 70,588; [illegible]apur 67,026, Allahabad 57,061 Prices—Almora 8¼, Garhwal 7½ to 11, Mirzapur 7½ to [illegible]; Jalaun and Bahraich 9½, Hamirpur and Banda 9 5/16; Fatehpur 9 to 10; Kheri 9 7/16; Allahabad 10 to 14; Etah 13 to 14, Budaun 14 to 15, Azamgarh 15½, elsewhere 10 to 13½ seers per rupee.

Punjab.—Good to light rain has fallen in Ambala, Jullundur, Lahore, Sialkot, Rawalpindi, Mianwali, Jhang and Multan. Prices of food grains are rising in eight and falling in five districts, but are still generally at or above scarcity rates except in Multan. Sowings of extra spring crops and of autumn crops are going on. Spring crops are being harvested in several districts. The expected yield of irrigated crops is good to below average and of unirrigated average to bad. The opium crop is average in Amritsar and below average in Lahore. The rainfall of the last two weeks did some good to standing crops in the Salt range but did neither harm nor good in other tracts. The rain has come too late to revive very late sown crops on dry land. The rainfall is beneficial for extra spring crops and early autumn sowings. Crops have been damaged by hailstorm, river flood and cold winds in Mianwali. Fodder is scarce in Rohtak, Delhi, Sialkot, Gujranwala, Mianwali, Lyallpur, Jhang, Multan, parts of Hissar, Ambala, Shahpur and Rawalpindi. Pasture is insufficient in Lahore. The condition of cattle is good to poor. The canal water-supply is insufficient in Ambala and Lyallpur. The canal was closed during the week in Delhi. 1,292 persons attended the famine test works in the Gurgaon tahsil against 1,187 last week.

North-West Frontier Province.—Light showers fell in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of standing crops is average. Extra spring sowings still continue. The cultivation of sugarcane and cotton is in progress. The public health is good. The water-supply is abundant and rivers are in flood. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are falling but very slowly. Prices—wheat 8¾ to 13, gram 12$\frac{1}{16}$ to 16, bajra 13½ to 15, and maize 11¾ to 17 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell at Mirpur, Akhnur, Jasmirgarh, Riasi, Ranbirsinghpura, Kathua, Kotli and Udhampur. Prices are stationary. Wheat is selling from 7 to 14, and maize from 9 to 18 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Irrigated crops are poor; in other parts the recent rain has been beneficial for standing crops. Fodder is insufficient nearly all over the Province. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress in certain tahsils of the Province.

Kashmir.—The weather is bright. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—There were slight showers at Karauli and Bharatpur. Harvesting is completed in some places and the outturn is reported to be very fair. The condition of cattle is satisfactory. The fodder and water-supply are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Sirohi and Shahpur and show a tendency to fall in Marwar, Jaisalmer and Ajmer-Merwara; they have risen in Tonk and Jhalawar. Food stocks seem to be adequate but prices continue much above the normal. The total numbers on special public works in Banswara, Karauli, Bharatpur and Ajmer is 3,000; gratuitous relief on a small scale is being given in Marwar and Bharatpur.

Central India.—Rain partial in Gwalior and nil elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops is almost finished in Indore and Bundelkhand and is in progress elsewhere. Prospects of the area sown are fair to good, but damage is reported for want of moisture in parts of Gwalior. Agricultural stock is fair to good. Cattle are showing emaciation in Sailana. Fodder and water are becoming scarce in a few parganas of Gwalior. Fodder is indifferent in Bhopal, sufficient in Indore and Bhopawar and in the Malwa Agency except in Sailana and Piploda; fair in Baghelkhand and fair but scanty in Bundelkhand. Prices have risen slightly in Rutlam, have fallen slightly in parts of Bundelkhand, and are high but steady elsewhere. Extraction of opium is in progress.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The general situation is unaltered. Prices have fallen slightly in parts of Bundelkhand. Prices are:—Bundelkhand 9¼ to 10½, Bhopawar 9 to 14, and Indore 9 to 10 seers per rupee. The numbers on relief are Rewa—on works 67,500, on gratuitous relief 11,000. In the rest of Baghelkhand—on works 6,500, on gratuitous relief 1,000. Total for the Agency 86,000. In the Bundelkhand Agency—on works 7,000, on gratuitous relief 5,000; total 12,000. In Indore State—on works nil, on gratuitous relief 25,000. In the Bhopawar Agency, Jhabua State—on works 5,000, on gratuitous relief 1,500, Manpur 86. Central Provinces.—Slight rain fell in the Hatta and Hingoli tahsils and at Yeotmal. The spring harvest is at an end and normal hot weather conditions have set in. Agricultural operations are being confined to threshing, winnowing and preparation of land for next monsoon sowings. Liberal grants of takavi are being distributed for agricultural improvements and will shortly be distributed for the purchase of bullocks and seed grain. Mahua is being picked and has received considerable damage from stormy weather in Damoh. Water is generally sufficient, but fodder is scarce in several districts and dear everywhere. The price of wheat fell in Saugor, Jubbulpore, Seoni, Hoshangabad, Chanda and Drug by ½ to 1 seer and rose in Bhandara, Bilaspur and Yeotmal by ½ seer. Rice in Saugor and Drug, and rice and juar in Chanda became cheaper by ½ seer. The price of rice rose in Damoh, Bhandara and Yeotmal by ½ to 1 seer. Gram sells dearer by ½ seer in Damoh and Mandla and by 1 seer in Bhandara; in the remaining districts prices of staple food grains remained stationary.

Feudatory States.—Light showers, not exceeding 35 cents, were received during the week in Kawardha, Kanker and Bastar. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops continued. Preparation of land for the ensuing crop, construction of field embankments and picking of mahua were in progress. Fodder and water are getting scarce in Kawardha and in parts of Bastar. The price of wheat rose by 2 seers in Bastar, by 1 seer in Sarangarh and Sakti; and by ¾ seer in Raj-Nandgaon. Rice became dearer in Bastar and cheaper in Korea by ½ seer.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—Owing to completion of reaping and exhaustion of harvest earnings the numbers on works, both village and ordinary, have increased but picking of mahua and other forest produce continues to give employment to many people. It has been found necessary to open a village work in Saugor and to recommence village relief on a small scale there. The numbers on gratuitous relief have increased in all districts except Damoh where there is a slight fall due to removals in the previous fortnight. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat has fallen to 9¾ seers in Jubbulpore; elsewhere prices range between 7½ and 9 seers per rupee. The condition of the people is good. Kitchens for children which were closed during the harvest have not been reopened yet. The numbers on relief are :—on works 3,420, weavers on relief 2,636, on gratuitous relief 15,441, total 21,497.

Agricultural stock is generally in good condition and sufficient, except in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona, Sholapur and Cutch. The supply of drinking water is sufficient, except in parts of the Panch Mahals, Ratnagiri, East Khandesh, Ahmednagar and Sholapur. Water for irrigation is insufficient in parts of the Panch Mahals, Surat, the Deccan, Baroda and Kathiawar. The quantity of food grains purchasable per rupee is in Sind 38 to 47 per cent, in Gujarat 35 to 68 per cent, in the Konkan 18 to 33 per cent, in the Deccan 39 to 46 per cent, and in the Karnatak 35 to 64 per cent less than the normal. Stocks of grain are generally adequate. The demand for labour is generally sufficient and wages are normal. The cultivating and labouring classes are in fair condition. The daily average numbers on relief for the week ending 11th instant were :—on works, Panch Mahals 3,236, West Khandesh 117. DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 30th April 1908, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

At the head of the Bay moderately strong southerly winds were blowing throughout the week and the trough of low pressure which was well marked was favourably situated as regards Eastern Bengal and Assam where rainfall occurred on all days of the week but it was widespread only on the 26th and 28th. A depression from Persia gave rain in Baluchistan on the 24th and in parts of Kashmir on the 25th while duststorms were fairly numerous in the plains of upper India. In Kashmir a fresh disturbance appeared on the 29th and gave some moderately heavy rain on the 30th. Over the rest of India weather was dry except for rain in parts of Burma, especially in the central districts, and occasional falls in south India.

Burma.—There were scattered falls of rain chiefly in Tenasserim and the central districts of the province. Skies were clear or lightly clouded and temperature was normal or in slight defect.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall occurred every day in parts of the eastern half of the division and was most widespread on the 26th and 28th. Light to moderate cloud was reported from the greater part of northeast India but skies were almost clear in the western districts. Temperature was normal or in defect in the area of rainfall and was nearly normal elsewhere.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Skies were almost free from cloud and temperature was normal except on the 25th when it was in excess in parts of the division, especially in the United Provinces.

Northwest India.—Precipitation occurred in Baluchistan and along the hills in upper India. Skies were clear or lightly to moderately clouded except on the 29th and 30th when they were completely overcast in Kashmir. Temperature was in large defect in Baluchistan on the 25th but was in excess over the greater part of the division on the 24th and 25th; on the remaining days of the week it was approximately normal.

The Peninsula.—Thunderstorms gave rain at a few stations in south India. Skies were clear or lightly clouded and temperature was generally normal or in excess, the excess being strongly marked in the southeastern districts from the 27th to the 29th.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

April 24th. Mandalay 1·20", Monywa 1·16", Robat 0·60" and Chaman 0·62".

„ 25th. Moulmein 0·90", Mandalay 1·00", Chittagong 0·88" and Mymensingh 1·17".

„ 26th. Chittagong 3·62", Narayanganj 1·50", Mymensingh 2·38", Dinajpur 2·08" and Cochin 4·15".

„ 27th. Tezpur 1·09", Gauhati 2·81", Mymensingh 1·05" and Chittagong 1·58".

28th. Mergui 2·74", Dibrugarh 1·50", Cherrapunjee 1·18", Chittagong 1·60" and Mymensingh 1·51".

April 29th. Cherrapoonjee 1·77".

" 30th. Dibrugarh 2 30", Dhubri 1·10", Cherrapoonjee 5 70" and Sonemarg 1 80".

The rainfall of the week was heavier than usual in Upper Burma, Eastern Bengal and Baluchistan. For the whole period from the 29th November to the 30th April rainfall is 20 per cent or more in excess in Upper Burma, Bihar, the North-West Frontier Province, the north Madras coast, Mysore and Malabar and is within 20 per cent of the normal in Lower Burma, Eastern Bengal, Chota Nagpur, Orissa, the west of the United Provinces and of Rajputana, the southwest Punjab, Sind, Kashmir, the Central Provinces and Berar. In all other parts of the country rainfall is 20 per cent or more in defect, the largest actual deficiency being one of 5 7" in Assam.

The winter rainfall period which closes with this issue of the Gazette was characterized by the prolonged delay in the setting in of the winter rains and by the greater part of the rainfall occurring during the passage of a single storm which crossed northern India from the 8th to the 13th January. This storm was the only one that gave general and heavy rain over the whole of northern India, while the only other noteworthy periods of wet weather occurred in northeast India about the middle of December when moderately heavy general rainfall was received and in upper India about the 1st of February when a depression from Persia entered the northwest and gave general rain in the North-West Frontier Province and the east and north Punjab The rainfall that was fairly widespread in the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province in the second week of April is also worthy of note although the fall was light except along the hills

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 25th April 1908.

Burma.—General rain fell during the week in Lower Burma and in most districts of Upper Burma, also in the Northern and Southern Shan States, the Chin Hills and the Pakokku Hill tracts. Transplanting of spring rice has been completed in several Upper Burma districts and reaping has commenced in places. Some miscellaneous spring crops have been gathered and others are being gathered. The state of standing crops in the Upper Province is satisfactory on the whole. The price of unhusked rice has risen in eight districts, the rise in some Lower Burma districts being considerable. The price has fallen in one district and is stationary elsewhere.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Rain fell in every part of the Province. This has greatly improved prospects of all growing crops and will enable much sowing of rice and jute to be completed. Tea is suffering from blight in Cachar. The scarcity of fodder and water has been relieved by recent rain. The price of rice has risen in four districts and has fallen in two. Scarcity is not apprehended.

Bengal.—During the week light showers fell in most districts of Lower Bengal. In Burdwan, Nadia and Jessore the fall amounted to more than an inch, while in Bihar, Orissa, and Chota Nagpur there was practically no rain. More rain is, however, still wanted in Lower Bengal and Orissa for the cultivation of lands for the sowing of autumn crops and for standing crops such as sugarcane. Planting of sugarcane continues in several districts. Harvesting of spring crops is nearly over and threshing is going on. Stocks of food grains are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Balasore and Palamau and in parts of Birbhum. The price of common rice is stationary in most districts, it has risen in a few districts of the Presidency, Patna and Chota Nagpur divisions. Scarcity is still apprehended in Midnapore, Nadia, Palamau and Manbhum. Water scarcity is keenly felt in most districts of the Burdwan, Presidency and Orissa divisions, also in Manbhum and Singhbhum. The fodder supply is insufficient in Bankura, Cuttack, Angul and Singhbhum. Cattle are reported to be dying in many parts of Balasore for want of drinking water. The numbers on test works in Bankura, Hazaribagh and Ranchi were 2,692 and in the Orissa districts 5,193. Gratuitous relief was given to 18,9[illegible]3 persons, of whom 16,350 were in Orissa.

United Provinces.—There was no rain during the week except 20 cents in one tahsil of Sultanpur and a few light showers in the higher parts of the Tehri State. Rain is needed in the hill districts for autumn ploughings. Prices are generally stationary but have risen slightly in seven and fallen in nine districts. Markets are well stocked and importation on a large scale has ceased. Large quantities of grain are being taken up into the hills from the plains by the aid of advances to banyas and grain orders to hill men. Several grain depôts have been opened in the Tehri State. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress in the hills and is completed or is nearing completion in the plains though threshing and winnowing continue in the western districts. Sowings of sugarcane and irrigation of sugarcane and extra crops continue. Harvesting of sawan has commenced in some eastern districts. Opium weighments are in progress but the outturn is reported poor. The condition of agricultural stock is fair and improving and increased quantities of fodder are available.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—There is an increase in the numbers on public and aided relief works owing to the return of labourers on completion of harvesting operations, but the numbers on gratuitous relief have further decreased. The expansion in relief operations is confined to the worst areas, viz., Mirzapur, Bundelkhand and North Oudh with Basti in Sultanpur. Public relief works have been closed in Mainpuri and Farrukhabad. Valedictory doles have been given to those on gratuitous relief. The general condition of the people continues satisfactory. Over 1,000 persons from the Rewah State and 500 from Palamau in Bengal are on the Mirzapur works. 27,633 persons are on relief in the Balrampur Estate. The numbers on Government relief are:—on relief works 533,925, on aided works 91,971, on test works 1,848; dependants on works 251,811, on gratuitous relief 314,005, in poor-houses 2,825, total 1,196,385. The largest total figures are:—Bahraich 235,325, Mirzapur, with Family Domains 127,241, Gonda, excluding Balrampur, 119,352, Kheri 103,136, Banda 95,211, Jalaun 76,219, Sitapur 70,467, Allahabad 51,090. Prices:—Garhwal 6 and 11, Almora 8¼, Mirzapur 7½ to 10, Fatehpur 9 and 10, Jalaun and Bahraich 9½, Banda 9¼, Kheri 9 13/16, Allahabad 11 to 14, Azamgarh 15⅛, elsewhere 10 to 13 seers per rupee.

Punjab—Rainfall nil. Prices of food grains are rising in six and are falling in seven districts; they are unchanged in other districts but are still generally at or above scarcity rates except in Multan. Spring crops are being harvested. Sowings of extra spring and autumn crops are in progress. The expected yield of irrigated crops is good to below average and of unirrigated average to bad. The opium crop is average in Amritsar. Fodder is scarce in Rohtak, Delhi, Sialkot, Gujranwala, Mianwali, Jhang, Multan, and parts of Hissar, Gurgaon, Ambala, Shahpur and Rawalpindi. Green fodder is scarce in Ferozepore and Lyallpur. Pasture is insufficient in Lahore. The condition of cattle is good to poor. The water-supply canal was closed during the week in Lyallpur and opened for three days in Delhi. 1,275 persons attended the famine test works in the Gurgaon tahsil against 1,292 last week.

North-West Frontier Province—Slight showers fell in Peshawar, Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of standing crops is average. Sowing of extra spring crops, sugarcane and cotton continues. Harvesting of spring crops has commenced in Bannu. Harvesting of gram is nearly finished and the outturn is average. The water-supply and fodder are sufficient. Cattle are generally in good condition. Prices show a downward tendency. Prices—wheat 9$\frac{1}{16}$ to 14¼, gram 11⅜ to 18, maize 12$\frac{1}{16}$ to 18, and bajra 13 to 13¼ seers per rupee.

Jammu—Rain nil. Prices are stationary. Wheat is selling from 7 to 14 and maize from 9 to 18 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair in irrigated and poor in other tracts. Fodder is insufficient nearly all over the Province. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress in certain tahsils.

Kashmir—The weather is bright. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—The spring harvest where gathered has on the whole been very fair. Reaping still continues in many places. The fodder and water-supply are sufficient for the present. Food stocks seem to be adequate, prices, however, continue much above normal, ranging between 9 and 13½ seers except in Sirohi, Dungarpur, Shahpura and Bundi, where they are comparatively easier. Prices are fluctuating and show a tendency to fall in some States, e g, Karauli and Dholpur, and to rise in others, e g, Alwar and Bharatpur. The numbers on special public works are increasing owing to the completion of the harvest and are now 4,242, mostly in Bharatpur and Karauli.

Central India—Rain partial in Gwalior and nil elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops is almost finished in Indore, Baghelkhand and Bundelkhand and is in progress elsewhere. Mahua is being collected in Baghelkhand. Sowing of extra crops is in progress in Orcha. Land is being prepared for autumn crops in parts of Indore and Bhopawar. Prospects of the area sown are fair to good, but damage is reported for want of moisture in parts of Gwalior. Agricultural stock is fair to good. Fodder and water are becoming scarce in a few parganas of Gwalior. Fodder is indifferent in Bhopal, fair but scanty in Bundelkhand and sufficient elsewhere. Prices are rising in Bhopal, have slightly risen in Malwa and are high but steady elsewhere. Extraction of opium is completed in Malwa and is in progress elsewhere.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The general situation is unaltered. Prices—Indore and Bundelkhand 9 to 10 and Bhopawar 9 to 14 seers per rupee. The numbers on relief are:—In Bundelkhand Agency on works 7,000, on gratuitous relief 5,000, total 12,000. In Indore State on works nil, on gratuitous relief 27,000. In Bhopawar Agency, Jhabua State on works 5,000, on gratuitous relief 1,500, total 6,500. Manpur 84. In the Bhagelkhand Agency minor States—on works 3,000, on gratuitous relief 1,000, total 4,000. In the Rewa State—on works 68,500, on gratuitous relief 12,500, total 81,000.

Central Provinces.—The week was rainless. Normal hot weather conditions continue. Agricultural operations are still confined to threshing, winnowing and preparation of land for next monsoon sowings. Mahua picking continues, but has been considerably damaged by storms in Saugor and Narsinghpur. Water is generally sufficient, but fodder is scarce in several districts, notably in Hoshangabad and Chhindwara, and dear everywhere. The condition of the agricultural classes is good, and sufficient employment is found on field works opened with the aid of takavi which is being liberally advanced. The price of wheat fell by ½ seer in the northern districts except Jubbulpore, in Jubbulpore, Hoshangabad and Chanda it rose by ½, 1 and ¾ seers respectively. Rice is cheaper by 1 seer in Saugor and Betul, and dearer by ¼ seer in Chanda and Raipur and by ½ and 1 seer in Nimar and Bilaspur. Juar rose in Saugor and Chanda by 1 and ½ seer, and fell in Akola by ½ seer; in the remaining districts the prices of food grains remained steady.

Feudatory States—The days are hot but the mornings and nights are cool. Threshing and winnowing are nearly completed. Repairs to embankments of fields and tanks are in full swing. Land is under preparation for next monsoon sowings Scarcity of fodder and water is reported from Kawardha and Sakti. Prices of food grains are steady except that the price of rice rose by 1 seer in Raigarh, and that of wheat fell by ½ seer in Raj-Nandgaon

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Mahua picking is nearly completed in some districts. The crop was somewhat spoilt by storms and not up to expectations. The numbers employed on works are increasing. Prices are stationary everywhere except in Jubbulpore, where wheat is dearer by one seer than last week. Prices of standard grain vary from 7½ to 9 seers per rupee in affected districts. New crops are not yet coming to market The numbers on relief are on works 5,344; weavers on relief 2,811; on gratuitous relief 15,837, total 23,992.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell during the week in parts of Kanara and Dharwar. 2 Composition-Ivory Balls.

NOTE.—The above list is not exhaustive, and much of it might be replaced by simpler forms that could probably be made far more cheaply by any clever mistry under proper supervision. In most cases, however, it will probably be found advantageous to buy such a set as indicated in the list specially for demonstration purposes, and subsequently to develop simplified duplicates, illustrating the same principles, which the boys should be given opportunity actually to experiment with on their own individual accounts or working in pairs

Under section 3, clause (h), every school that intends to undertake instruction in Geography for the Matriculation Examination is required to possess the apparatus mentioned in the following list:—

I.—The total cost need not exceed Rs 150—

1. A measuring tape
2. A magnetic compass.
3. Squared paper and tracing paper
4. Clay, dry sand, paper pulp or plasticine for modelling
5. A globe, not less than 14 inches in diameter, with writing surface, with lines of latitude and longitude, and outlines only of the land masses, marked upon it
6. A map of the school locality on a scale of 4" or 6" = 1 mile
7. A map of the district in which the school is situated on the scale 1" = 1 mile.
8. A map of the Division in which the school is situated on the scale 1" miles.
9. A map of the Province.
10. A map of India

(N.B.—All these maps should be coloured to indicate the height of the land above sea-level

II D 2

11. A relief map of India.
12. Maps of India showing the most important distributions, e.g., Temperature and Rainfall, Density of Population, Forest, Pasture and Agricultural land, Minerals, Industries, Railways and Canals, Political Divisions.
13. Physical maps of the continents and of the British Isles.

It is essential that the students should be provided with atlases, or with the necessary hand-maps. Maps for school work should not contain too much detail, or be crowded with names.

II.—The following additional equipment is recommended when it can be provided.—

1. A wet and dry bulb thermometer.
2. A barometer.
3. A rain gauge.
4. A large globe coloured to indicate land relief and ocean depths.
5. A relief globe.
6. Small hand globes for the use of pupils.
7. Hand maps for use in class.
8. A relief map of the Province.
9. A map of the World on Mollweide's equal area projection.
10. A geological map of India.
11. A small collection of typical rocks, in particular those of the Province and of India.
12. A small museum of typical products
13. The Statistical Atlas of India.
14. A good standard atlas.
15. A Meteorological atlas.
16. Mill's International Geography
17. A geographical Gazeteer
18. Geographical wall pictures.

The total cost of this supplementary equipment need not exceed Rs. 400, and can be reduced if Schools will make their own collections of rocks and typical products.

III (1) Valuable information regarding geographical equipment and all other matters connected with the teaching of geography is to be found in the Geographical Teacher, the organ of the Geographical Association, published three times a year, at one shilling a copy.

(2) Globes of all kinds are made by George Philip and Son, London, W., and A. K. Johnston, London, and Messrs. Ruddiman, Johnston, London.

Small hand globes of German make can be obtained through the Calcutta School Book Society for about a rupee each.

(3) The "Comparative" series of large wall maps of the continents published by George Philip and Son is good and up to date, so also are the Orographical wall maps published by Edward Stanford Messrs Ruddiman, Johnston publish a series of smaller wall maps which includes maps of India illustrating various distributions

Messrs Nelson's wall atlases are good. Mr. S. B. Chatterjee publishes District maps; also ordinary and relief maps of the Province.

Babu L. M Basu, the drawing master of the Dacca Collegiate School, has published good relief maps of Eastern Bengal and Assam and of India.

The Vidal-Lablache French wall maps on strong card board, named on one side, and the same map without names on the reverse, published by Armand Colin, Paris, are good and cheap. They measure 46 inches by 39 inches and can be delivered in Calcutta for Rs 4 14 each.

(4) The hand maps, coloured to indicate relief, published by the Diagram Company, West Barnes Lane, New Malden, Surrey, at one penny each, are the best of their kind.

The uncoloured half-penny maps, showing river systems and a few towns, published by the same Company, are excellent for class use.

The Autograph hand maps, with hill shading in brown, published by Edward Stanford, London, at one penny each, are very good, and are larger than the Diagram Company's hand maps. The 15 inches map of the World on Mollweide's equal area projection is especially to be commended.

(5) Wall pictures of considerable artistic merit are published by Messrs. Edward Arnold of Leeds, Messrs. Hachette of Paris, and Messrs. Holzel of Vienna. They cost, delivered in India, from two to three rupees each.

Map lantern slides, and view slides especially prepared for geography teaching, are sold by the Diagram Company for two or three shillings each.

(6) The best meteorological atlas published in Britain is Bartholomew's, and the most recent geographical gazetteer in English is that published by J. B. Lippincott of Philadelphia and London.

1. The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in July The examination will be conducted either at the College, or by an

Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam, and Burma only. The examination will be ipso facto vitiated, if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed; but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements, in regard to the place and hour of examination, with the candidates

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination, even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it, but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways.

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies, if such is pensionable by the British Government.

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts, not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned —

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application)

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth) not required, if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's hand-writing

NOTE —A candidate already in Government service should, in like manner, submit his application, through his immediate official superior, to an Examiner of Accounts qualified to hold the particular examination, and should state whether he desires to be examined at the office of the Examiner of Accounts concerned or at the College

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, to decide, on a consideration of the certificates submitted, whether the candidate should be allowed to appear for the examination, or whether his application should be rejected. The Examiner of Accounts will then forward to the Principal for registration the names of the accepted candidates The names of these candidates should be entered in a statement showing their ages and their addresses, and also showing where each candidate is to be examined, whether at the College or at the office of the Examiner of Accounts This statement, together with the fees, should be transmitted to the Principal not later than 15 days after the dates fixed in paragraph 2 for the submission of applications of candidates.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4 Each examination is complete in itself A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates

5 If from any cause a candidate fails to appear for the examination, the fee paid wil not be refunded.

6. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts, in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

7 It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments, preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department

8. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the 4th grade of Accountants, Public Works Department

9 Candidates for the 4th grade Accountantship examination, who are not Government servants and over 25 years of age, are allowed to appear at the examination, at the Sibpur College centre only, but, even if successful, they are debarred from employment in the service of Government, and their names will be excluded from the list of passed candidates which is furnished to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department

10 Candidates over 25 years of age should apply in writing to the Principal of the Civil Engineering College, not later than 30 days previous to the examination, the application to be accompanied by the fee of Rupees ten

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces—Pendra and Raipur had light falls of rain Skies were clear or lightly clouded. Temperature was normal or in excess up to the 5th but from that day to the end of the week it was in defect in the southeast of the Central Provinces

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 2nd May 1908.

Burma.—Showers, generally light, fell in eight districts of Lower Burma, in nine of Upper Burma and in the Northern and Southern Shan States. In Upper Burma reaping of spring rice and gathering of miscellaneous spring crops continue. Ploughing for cotton and early sesamum has commenced and hill sides are being prepared for cultivation Standing crops in the Upper Province are generally in fair condition The price of unhusked rice has risen in nine districts, elsewhere prices have remained unchanged.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—General rain fell in all parts of the Province. Sowing of rice, jute and other autumn crops is everywhere in full progress. More rain is still wanted in most parts of Eastern Bengal. Prospects of tea and all other standing crops have generally improved by rain, though some damage was done by it Including subdivisions the price of rice has risen at fifteen stations and has fallen at fifteen There is no apprehension of scarcity

Bengal—Slight rain fell in parts of Lower Bengal and also in Darjeeling In Cooch Behar there was a fall of 4 79 inches, in the rest of the Province there was no rain Threshing of spring crops continues Preparation of lands for the next season's crops is going on but it is being impeded in some districts by want of moisture Planting of sugarcane is not over yet Drought is affecting the crop already planted Rain is urgently wanted throughout the Province for the sowing of autumn crops Prospects of summer paddy are not good in Murshidabad and in Orissa owing to want of rain Harvesting of mahua is over, the outturn of the crop is not as good as was anticipated in the beginning of the season The price of common rice is stationary in most districts, it has risen in Hooghly, Shahabad, Saran, Monghyr, Purnea, Angul and Hazaribagh and has fallen in Jessore, Khulna and Ranchi. Food stocks are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Cuttack, Balasore, Palamau and in parts of Birbhum Scarcity is still apprehended in Nadia and Palamau The water-supply is scarce in the Burdwan, Presidency and Orissa divisions and also in the Sonthal Parganas, Manbhum and Singhbhum Fodder is becoming insufficient in Birbhum, Bankura, Hooghly, Cuttack, Balasore and Singhbhum Further deaths of cattle are reported from Balasore for want of fodder and water The number of persons attending test works in Bankura, Hazaribagh and Ranchi was 2,384, and in the Orissa districts 17,071 Gratuitous relief was given to 22,414 persons, of whom 16,965 were in Orissa

United Provinces—No rain fell during the week except 17 cents in Garhwal, 11 cents in Meerut and a light sprinkling in the hill portions of Naini Tal Harvesting of spring crops continues in the hill districts and is completed, except in six districts, in the plains Threshing and winnowing continue in the western districts. Autumn sowings have commenced in the hill districts where more rain is needed Cotton sowings have commenced in Muttra and early rice is being sown in a few places. Planting and irrigation of sugarcane continue Opium weighments are in progress Sawan is being harvested in a few eastern districts, elsewhere irrigation of extra crops continues, extra crops generally promise well Prices are generally stationary but have risen slightly in six and have fallen in nine districts Markets are well stocked and exports are beginning to exceed the imports Large quantities of grain continue to be taken up to the hills by aid of advances to banias and grain orders to hill men The condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory except in Banda and Hardoi where there is still a demand for forest hay New bhusa is generally plentiful but dear.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows There is a further increase in the numbers on public and aided relief works but the increase is practically confined to the Banda, Mirzapur, Bahraich, Basti and Gonda districts The number of dependants on works and of those gratuitously relieved at their homes and in poor-houses has decreased Preparations are being made to replace large public works by civil and aided works. In the Agra division the situation has improved since the harvesting of the spring crop Scarcity instead of famine has been declared in the Agra district except the Jagnar tract and in the northern half of Etawah and Etah. Scarcity is now recognised only in tahsil Jalesar. All relief measures have closed in Farrukhabad and Mainpuri. Three works have been opened in the Tehri State and grain is being supplied on credit from four depôts and by special arrangements at Dehra. Grain is also being distributed gratuitously to those in need of relief. The general health of the people continues satisfactory, but small-pox is still prevalent and cholera is reported from nine districts. Cholera has appeared on one relief work in Sitapur and on one in Mirzapur and necessary measures have been taken. Immigration from the Rewah State and Palamau in Bengal to the Mirzapur relief works, and colonial emigration from Basti continue. There is no wandering and very little emaciation. 26,755 persons are on relief in the Balrampur Estate and 4,224 persons are being relieved elsewhere on private works. Sowings of extra spring and autumn crops are in progress The expected yield of irrigated crops is good to below average and of unirrigated average to poor Wheat has been damaged by ear-cockle in parts of Lyallpur Fodder is scarce in Rohtak, Delhi, Sialkot, Mianwali, Jhang, Multan and parts of Hissar, Gurgaon, Shahpur and Rawalpindi Green fodder is scarce in Ferozepore and Lyallpur Cattle are being fed on stubble and chaff. The condition of cattle is generally good. Water is insufficient in Ambala The canal is running in Delhi and has been closed for annual repairs in Lyallpur 1,596 persons attended the famine test work in the Gurgaon tahsil against 1,275 last week.

North-West Frontier Province—Rain ranging from 12 cents in Bannu to 68 cents in Kohat fell all over the Province except in Dera Ismail Khan, where only slight rain was received in the Tank tahsil it was beneficial for the preparation of land for autumn sowings. The condition of standing crops is average Harvesting of spring crops is in progress, the outturn is average Sowings of extra spring crops, sugarcane and cotton still continue in Dera Ismail Khan. The water-supply in canals is ample Fodder is sufficient. The condition of cattle is good except in two villages of the Peshawar district Prices except that of gram show a slight tendency to rise. Kashmir.—The weather is generally bright with slight rain. Prices are almost stationary. Spring crops are in average condition Autumn sowings are in progress.

Rajputana.—Harvesting of spring crops is nearing completion and land is being prepared for autumn sowing in Jhalawar. The condition of cattle is satisfactory Fodder is generally sufficient Prices have risen in Jaisalmer, Partabgarh and Bundi, but have fallen in Tonk. They are everywhere much above the normal There is a slight decrease in numbers on special public works in Banswara, Karauli and Ajmer and a slight increase in Bharatpur. The total number is 4,183.

Central India—Rain nil Harvesting of spring crops is nearing completion Land is being prepared for autumn crops in Indore, Bhopal, Malwa and Bhopawar. Mahua is being collected in Baghelkhand, Bhopawar and Manpur. Prospects of the area sown are fair to good. Agricultural stock are fair to good Fodder and water are becoming scarce in a few parganas of Gwalior. Fodder is indifferent in Bhopal, fair but scanty in Bundelkhand and sufficient elsewhere. Prices are rising in Bhopal, have risen in Malwa, are fluctuating in Bundelkhand; and are high but steady elsewhere. Extraction of opium is completed in Indore.

Grand total—on works 90,013; on gratuitous relief 48,626; total on both kinds of relief 138,639.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been hot and cloudy with occasional high winds. Damoh, Narsinghpur, Wardha and Nagpur had light local showers during the week. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops and picking of mahua are nearly completed. Preparation of land for sowings of the ensuing season's crop and construction of field embankments in rice districts are in full swing Water is sufficient everywhere except in parts of Chanda, Damoh and Chhindwara Fodder is getting scarce and therefore dear in Seoni, Nimar, Chhindwara, Chanda, Yeotmal and the Vindhyan districts and in Hoshangabad.

Its dearness has caused some deterioration of agricultural stock. Scarcity of fodder is apprehended in Nagpur. The price of staple food grains remained stationary in eleven districts. The mahua crop has been slightly damaged by cloudy weather in Udaipur Fodder and water are sufficient though they are getting scarce in Kawardha, Raigarh and Sakti. Rice rose in Sirguja and wheat fell in Korea by 1 seer. Wheat sells dearer in Raj-Nandgaon and rice cheaper in Bastar by ½ seer

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows —During the week it was found necessary to extend weavers' relief to weavers of Nagpur and to distribute gratuitous relief on a small scale in the Bhandara and Balaghat districts. Relief is therefore being given in eleven districts now The numbers on village relief works and on ordinary public works have increased in the Jubbulpore division owing not so much to increased distress as to the close of the harvest and mahua picking and to the desire of cultivators to husband their resources for the cultivation season. The numbers on gratuitous relief are stationary Prices remain steady with a slight fall in Saugor New grain is not yet coming on the market in any quantity The public health is good. There is no epidemic in famine districts The numbers on relief are —on works 7,253, weavers on relief 3,582, on gratuitous relief 15,785, total 26,620.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

GENERAL.

Simla, the 7th May, 1908.

RESOLUTION.

A report by the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), on the working of the Act during the calendar year 1907 is published for general information

No 1437-P, dated Calcutta, the 10th April 1908.

From—H G GRAVES, Esq Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

I have the honour to submit, for the information of the Government of India, the Annual Report of the Patents Office during the calendar year 1907

2 The office, at 2 Bankshall Street, Calcutta, has been in my charge except for three months from the middle of July to the middle of October, when Mr P. J Bruhl acted as Patents Secretary while I was on leave

3 During the year 615 applications were made for leave to file specifications and 508 specifications were filed The total number of applications under the present Act has been 8,959 and of specifications 6,916 Compared with the previous year there has been a decrease of 11 in the number of applications made by residents in India, but that is partly counterbalanced by an increase of 6 from foreign sources The total decrease is thus only 5 as against an average increase of 13 during the decade The number of specifications was 30 less than in 1906 which is a more material decrease to compare with the average annual increase of 10, but in 1906 there was a sudden rise of no less than 71 which could hardly be expected to continue These variations, however, must be considered immaterial and are more than counterbalanced by the very important fact that the continuance fees have been paid on a larger number of exclusive privileges, 620 instead of 556 That is the main source of income of the office and the result has been that the total income has increased from Rs 57,870-3 to Rs 60,604-11 The monetary result is of smaller importance in comparison with the interest taken in inventions and their application.

4. The range of inventions for which protection is sought, as usual is very wide, and, as in previous years, the railway and textile industries predominate. Otherwise there is no noticeable trend in any particular direction during the year One or two applications, however, deserve particular notice One inventor in this country, in spite of apparently insuperable difficulties, both theoretical and practical, has attempted to produce a legible record of speech by a combination of telephone and typewriter with electric selecting mechanism for the various elementary sounds, but he has been unable to complete his application. Drinking tumblers made of ice, a motor car driven by hand power, a universal panacea for all diseases and the usual perpetual motion are other proposals of varying interest.

5 Of the 615 applications made during the year, 49 related to inventions that primâ facie did not appear to be novel In accordance with recent practice, the state of public knowledge was pointed out to the applicant, and he was given an opportunity of amending his application. The result has been that 15 applications were abandoned, 7 were finally refused and leave was granted in 22 cases, 5 being still pending Altogether leave was granted on 451 of these 615 applications during the year, 17 were rejected, 30 abandoned and 117 were pending on December 31st. 297 specifications were filed in respect of applications filed during the year, while the balance 211 appertained to the applications of the previous year.

6. Exclusive privileges were kept alive by payment of prescribed fees in 620 cases, or 64 more than in the previous year, whilst 419 or 90 more than in 1906, ceased Of the 6,916 specifications brought on the register, 2,603 are now in force, an increase of 89 as compared with 2,514 at the end of last year. The appended table shows the comparative age and number of these privileges for the various years.

7. One application only was made for the extension of an exclusive privilege beyond the normal period of 14 years. After due consideration the Governor General in Council allowed an additional period of ten years, subject to conditions.

8. Thirty-four applications were made for the registration of designs; 25 were allowed and 5 refused, the remainder being pending or abandoned. The number of applications has returned to the normal number of 1904 and 1905 after a drop to 15 in 1906. Several applications, relating to tokens or ornaments of a religious nature, came from Mahomedans at Delhi and Hindus at Madras. The latter appear to have started by converting French five franc gold pieces and the trade has grown considerably.

9. The work of the office has progressed satisfactorily and has been kept up to date during the year As in 1906 no reference was made to the law officers and only two references were officially made for external expert advice, any assistance that was requisite being obtained informally. The annual consolidated index of all inventions and designs for which protection was applied for or obtained during 1906, was issued early in the year and corresponding volumes are, at this date, available for 1905 and 1907 Progress is now being made with a consolidated index of the earlier years A revised edition of the Act Manual containing more detailed instructions and a specimen drawing to aid inventors in dealing with this office was issued in July.

10. While I was on leave in England, the new Patents and Designs Act, 1907 (7 Edw. 7. ch. 29) was passed to consolidate the several Acts, 1883 to 1907 and to introduce some very important alterations in the law in respect of licenses, revocation and other matters. Much of my time was, therefore, devoted to studying these questions on the spot and also in investigating the effect of the 1902 Act, under which a limited search for novelty is made, this Act not having been in force before the charge of this office devolved upon me In consequence, my suggestions for amending the Inventions and Designs Act of 1888, so as to bring the present system of protecting inventions and designs more into line with the practice in the United Kingdom, have been somewhat modified, and a draft bill is now under preparation. This will, it is hoped, shortly be ready for examination, and when the necessary sanction has been obtained it will be submitted for the criticism of the manufacturing public.

11. The usual tables are appended.

Statement showing (a) number of specifications filed, (b) privileges kept in force by payment of continuance fees to end of the 4th to the 14th years, (c) privileges expired through non-payment of continuance fees at commencement of the 4th to the 14th years

TIBET TRADE REGULATIONS.

Preamble—Whereas by Article I of the Convention between Great Britain and China on the 27th April 1906, that is the 4th day of the 4th moon of the 32nd year of Kwang Hsu, it was provided that both the High Contracting Parties should engage to take at all times such steps as might be necessary to secure the due fulfilment of the terms specified in the Lhasa Convention of 7th September 1904 between Great Britain and Tibet, the text of which in English and Chinese was attached as an Annexe to the abovementioned Convention;

And whereas it was stipulated in Article III of the said Lhasa Convention that the question of the amendment of the Tibet Trade Regulations which were signed by the British and Chinese Commissioners on the 5th day of December 1893 should be reserved for separate consideration, and whereas the amendment of these Regulations is now necessary,

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, and His Majesty the Emperor of the Chinese Empire have for this purpose named as their Plenipotentiaries, that is to say:

His Majesty the King of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India,—Mr. E. C. Wilton, C.M.G.,

His Majesty the Emperor of the Chinese Empire—His Majesty's Special Commissioner Chang Yin Tang,

And the High Authorities of Tibet have named as their fully authorised Representative to act under the directions of Chang Tachen and take part in the negotiations—The Tsarong Shape, Wang Chuk Gyalpo.

And whereas Mr. E. C. Wilton and Chang Tachen have communicated to each other since their respective full powers and have found them to be in good and true form and have found the authorisation of the Tibetan Delegate to be also in good and true form, the following amended Regulations have been agreed upon

I.—The Trade Regulations of 1893 shall remain in force in so far as they are not inconsistent with these Regulations

II.—The following places shall form, and be included within, the boundaries of the Gyantse mart.

(a) The line begins at the Chumig Dangsang (Chhu-Mig-Dangs-Sangs) north-east of the Gyantse Fort, and thence it runs in a curved line, passing behind the Pekor-Chode (Dpal-Hkhor-Choos-Sde), down to Chag-Dong-Gang (Phyag-Gdong-Sgang), thence passing straight over the Nyan Chu, it reaches the Zamsa (Zam-Srig) (b) From the Zamsa the line continues to run, in a south eastern direction, round to Lachi-To (Gla-Dkyii-Stod), embracing all the farms on its way, viz, The Lahong, The Hogtso (Hog-Mtsho), The Tong-Chung-Shi (Grong-Chhung-Gshis), and the Rabgang (Rab-Sgang), etc, (c) From Lachi-To the line runs to the Yutog (Gyu-Thog), and thence runs straight, passing through the whole area of Gamkar-Shi (Ragal Mkhar-Gshis), to Chumig Dangsang

As difficulty is experienced in obtaining suitable houses and godowns at some of the marts, it is agreed that British subjects may also lease lands for the building of houses and godowns at the marts, the locality for such building sites to be marked out specially at each mart by the Chinese and Tibetan authorities in consultation with the British Trade Agent The British Trade Agents and British subjects shall not build houses and godowns except in such localities, and this arrangement shall not be held to prejudice in any way the administration of the Chinese and Tibetan Local Authorities over such localities, or the right of British subjects to rent houses and godowns outside such localities for their own accommodation and the storage of their goods

British subjects desiring to lease building sites shall apply through the British Trade Agent to the Municipal Office at the mart for a permit to lease The amount of rent, or the period or conditions of the lease, shall then be settled in a friendly way by the lessee and the owner themselves. In the event of a disagreement between the owner and lessee as to the amount of rent or the period or conditions of the lease the case will be settled by the Chinese and Tibetan Authorities in consultation with the British Trade Agent After the lease is settled, the sites shall be verified by the Chinese and Tibetan Officers of the Municipal Office conjointly with the British Trade Agent. No building is to be commenced by the lessee on a site before the Municipal Office has issued him a permit to build, but it is agreed that there shall be no vexatious delays in the issue of such permit.

III.—The administration of the trade marts shall remain with the Tibetan Officers, under the Chinese Officers' supervision and directions

The Trade Agents at the marts and Frontier Officers shall be of suitable rank, and shall hold personal intercourse and correspondence one with another on terms of mutual respect and friendly treatment.

Questions which cannot be decided by agreement between the Trade Agents and the Local Authorities shall be referred for settlement to the Government of India and the Tibetan High Authorities at Lhasa The purport of a reference by the Government of India will be communicated to the Chinese Imperial Resident at Lhasa. Questions which cannot be decided by agreement between the Government of India and the Tibetan High Authorities at Lhasa shall, in accordance with the terms of Article I of the Peking Convention of 1906, be referred for settlement to the Governments of Great Britain and China

IV.—In the event of disputes arising at the marts between British subjects and persons of Chinese and Tibetan nationalities, they shall be enquired into and settled in personal conference between the British Trade Agent at the nearest mart and the Chinese and

Tibetan Authorities of the Judicial Court at the mart, the object of personal conference being to ascertain facts and to do justice. Where there is a divergence of view the law of the country to which the defendant belongs shall guide In any of such mixed cases, the Officer, or Officers of the defendant's nationality shall preside at the trial, the Officer, or Officers of the plaintiff's country merely attending to watch the course of the trial.

All questions in regard to rights, whether of property or person, arising between British subjects, shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the British Authorities

British subjects, who may commit any crime at the marts or on the routes to the marts, shall be handed over by the local authorities to the British Trade Agent at the mart nearest to the scene of offence, to be tried and punished according to the laws of India, but such British subjects shall not be subjected by the local authorities to any ill-usage in excess of necessary restraint.

Chinese and Tibetan subjects, who may be guilty of any criminal act towards British subjects at the marts or on the routes thereto, shall be arrested and punished by the Chinese and Tibetan Authorities according to law.

Justice shall be equitably and impartially administered on both sides.

Should it happen that Chinese or Tibetan subjects bring a criminal complaint against a British subject before the British Trade Agent, the Chinese or Tibetan Authorities shall have the right to send a representative, or representatives, to watch the course of trial in the British Trade Agent's Court Similarly, in cases in which a British subject has reason to complain of a Chinese or Tibetan subject in the Judicial Court at the mart, the British Trade Agent shall have the right to send a representative to the Judicial Court to watch the course of trial

V—The Tibetan Authorities, in obedience to the instructions of the Peking Government, having a strong desire to reform the judicial system of Tibet, and to bring it into accord with that of Western nations, Great Britain agrees to relinquish her rights of extra-territoriality in Tibet, whenever such rights are relinquished in China, and when she is satisfied that the state of the Tibetan laws and the arrangements for their administration and other considerations warrant her in so doing

VI.—After the withdrawal of the British troops, all the rest-houses, eleven in number, built by Great Britain upon the routes leading from the Indian frontier to Gyantse, shall be taken over at original cost by China and rented to the Government of India at a fair rate. One-half of each rest-house will be reserved for the use of the British officials employed on the inspection and maintenance of the telegraph lines from the marts to the Indian frontier and for the storage of their materials, but the rest-houses shall otherwise be available for occupation by British, Chinese and Tibetan officers of respectability who may proceed to and from the marts.

Great Britain is prepared to consider the transfer to China of the telegraph lines from the Indian frontier to Gyantse when the telegraph lines from China reach that mart and in the meantime Chinese and Tibetan messages will be duly received and transmitted by the line constructed by the Government of India

In the meantime China shall be responsible for the due protection of the telegraph lines from the marts to the Indian frontier and it is agreed that all persons damaging the lines or interfering in any way with them or with the officials engaged in the inspection or maintenance thereof shall at once be severely punished by the local authorities.

VII.—In lawsuits involving cases of debt on account of loans, commercial failure, and bankruptcy, the authorities concerned shall grant a hearing and take steps necessary to enforce payment, but, if the debtor plead poverty and be without means, the authorities concerned shall not be held responsible for the said debts, nor shall any public or official property be distrained upon in order to satisfy these debts.

VIII—The British Trade Agents at the various trade marts now or hereafter to be established in Tibet may make arrangements for the carriage and transmission of their posts to and from the frontier of India. The couriers employed in conveying these posts shall receive all possible assistance from the local authorities whose districts they traverse and shall be accorded the same protection as the persons employed in carrying the despatches of the Tibetan Authorities When efficient arrangements have been made by China in Tibet for a Postal Service, the question of the abolition of the Trade Agents' couriers will be taken into consideration by Great Britain and China No restrictions whatever shall be placed on the employment by British officers and traders of Chinese and Tibetan subjects in any lawful capacity. The persons so employed shall not be exposed to any kind of molestation or suffer any loss of civil rights to which they may be entitled as Tibetan subjects, but they shall not be exempted from all lawful taxation. If they be guilty of any criminal act, they shall be dealt with by the local authorities according to law without any attempt on the part of their employer to screen or conceal them.

IX.—British officers and subjects, as well as goods, proceeding to the trade marts, must adhere to the trade routes from the frontier of India. They shall not, without permission, proceed beyond the marts, or to Gartok from Yatung and Gyantse, or from Gartok to Yatung and Gyantse, by any route through the interior of Tibet, but natives of the Indian frontier, who have already by usage traded and resided in Tibet, elsewhere than at the marts shall be at liberty to continue their trade, in accordance with the existing practice, but when so trading or residing they shall remain, as heretofore, amenable to the local jurisdiction.

X.—In cases where officials or traders, en route to and from India or Tibet are robbed of treasure or merchandise, public or private, they shall forthwith report to the Police officers, who shall take immediate measures to arrest the robbers, and hand them to the Local Authorities. The Local Authorities shall bring them to instant trial, and shall also recover and restore the stolen property. But, if the robbers flee to places out of the jurisdiction and influence of Tibet, and cannot be arrested, the Police and the Local Authorities shall not be held responsible for such losses.

XI.—For public safety tanks or stores of kerosene oil or any other combustible or dangerous articles in bulk must be placed far away from inhabited places at the marts

British or Indian merchants, wishing to build such tanks or stores, may not do so until, as provided in Regulation II, they have made application for a suitable site.

XII.—British subjects shall be at liberty to deal in kind or in money, to sell their goods to whomsoever they please, to purchase native commodities from whomsoever they please, to hire transport of any kind, and to conduct in general their business transactions in conformity with local usage and without any vexatious restrictions or oppressive exactions whatever

It being the duty of the Police and Local Authorities to afford efficient protection at all times to the persons and property of the British subjects at the marts, and along the routes to the marts, China engages to arrange effective police measures at the marts and along the routes to the marts. On due fulfilment of these arrangements, Great Britain undertakes to withdraw the Trade Agents' guards at the marts and to station no troops in Tibet so as to remove all cause for suspicion and disturbance among the inhabitants The Chinese Authorities will not prevent the British Trade Agents holding personal intercourse and correspondence with the Tibetan officers and people.

Tibetan subjects trading, travelling or residing in India shall receive equal advantages to those accorded by this Regulation to British subjects in Tibet

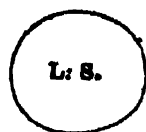

XIII.—The present Regulations shall be in force for a period of ten years reckoned from the date of signature by the two Plenipotentiaries as well as by the Tibetan Delegate, but if no demand for revision be made on either side within six months after the end of the first ten years, then the Regulations shall remain in force for another ten years, from the end of the first ten years, and so it shall be at the end of each successive ten years.

XIV.—The English, Chinese and Tibetan texts of the present Regulations have been carefully compared, and, in the event of any question arising as to the interpretation of these Regulations, the sense as expressed in the English text shall be held to be the correct sense.

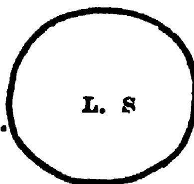

XV.—The Ratifications of the present Regulations under the hand of His Majesty the King of Great Britain and Ireland, and of His Majesty the Emperor of the Chinese Empire, respectively, shall be exchanged at London and Peking within six months from the date of signature

In witness whereof the two Plenipotentiaries and the Tibetan Delegate have signed and sealed the present Regulations.

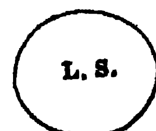

Done in quadruplicate at Calcutta, this twentieth day of April, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and eight, corresponding with the Chinese date, the twentieth day of the third moon of the thirty-fourth year of Kuang Hsu.

H A. STUART,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 14th May 1908, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

A shallow depression appeared over the Andaman Sea on the 8th and as it advanced northward it caused moderate to heavy rain in the coast districts in its neighbourhood and in the Andaman Islands, it had disappeared however by the morning of the 11th without crossing the coast On the 12th an area of low pressure which extended from the United Provinces across the north Madras coast into the Bay began to move eastward, it caused an increase of rainfall in Burma but in northeast India by preventing the inflow of moist air rainfall almost ceased on the last two days of the week. It is probable that the dust-storms accompanied in places with rain in the United Provinces were also caused by this low pressure area. The usual heat depression over upper Sind intensified on the 9th and moved into the Punjab hills initiating unsettled weather in upper India Duststorms and thunderstorms were in consequence numerous over the Punjab and Rajputana, while considerable rain fell along the Himalayas from Bahraich to Ludhiana and extended as far south as Delhi and Sirsa. There was also light rain in the southwest Punjab and Kashmir, but on the 14th the disturbance had completely disappeared It caused a very large fall in temperature which was in moderate to large defect over India during the latter half of the week.

Burma—During the first two days of the week rain fell locally over the whole province but during the remaining days it was confined chiefly to the coast districts Skies were lightly to moderately clouded Temperature was in defect from the 8th to the 10th, and normal or in excess from the 11th to the 14th

Northeast India, including Orissa—Rainfall occurred in all parts of the division except south Bihar, but it decreased towards the end of the week and on the 13th weather was almost dry Skies were clear or lightly to moderately clouded Temperature was normal or in defect, the deficiency being most marked on the 8th.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 9th May 1908.

Burma.—Showers of rain fell in almost all parts of the Province. In Upper Burma reaping of spring rice progressed and harvesting of other spring crops has been completed. Such standing crops as remain are in fair condition. Nurseries for the autumn rice crop are under preparation and ploughing for other autumn crops has commenced. The price of unhusked rice rose in three districts and fell in three districts including Rangoon.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Rain fell throughout the Province and in practically every part there has now been sufficient rain for the present Sowing of rice, jute and other autumn crops is actively continued and is now almost complete Rain has improved the prospects of the early summer rice, tea and all newly sown crops Price of rice has fallen at three stations and has risen at nineteen No scarcity is apprehended at present.

Bengal—Rain fell in all the districts of the Province except Palamau The fall was fairly heavy in Jessore and Balasore, moderate in the Burdwan division and also in the 24-Parganas, Khulna, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Cuttack, Puri and Cooch Behar, and light in other districts The recent rain has done much good to standing crops such as sugarcane and vegetables Ploughing of lands which was at a stand still in many districts has now been resumed and sowing of autumn crops has commenced Cheena and sugarcane are doing well in Bihar and prospects of the mango crop in Darbhanga are excellent The price of common rice is stationary in most districts; it has risen in Jessore, Khulna, Monghyr and Angul and has fallen in the 24-Parganas, Hazaribagh and Ranchi. Stocks of food-grains are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Cuttack, Balasore and Palamau. Scarcity is apprehended in Nadia and Palamau. The water-supply is scarce in most districts of the Burdwan and Presidency divisions and in parts of the Sonthal Parganas and Manbhum. The fodder supply is insufficient in Bankura, the Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack and Balasore The condition of cattle is reported to be bad in Balasore for want of fodder and water The recent rain has however improved the situation The number of persons on test works in Bankura, Hazaribagh and Ranchi was 2,494 and in the Orissa districts 15,132 Gratuitous relief was given to 22,155 persons of whom 17,173 were in Orissa

Opium weighments are still in progress. In the north-east of Gonda the mango crop was severely injured by violent hailstorm on the 10th Mangoes are coming on the market in parts of the Benares division, and the outturn is reported to be excellent. The condition of agricultural stock is generally satisfactory, but it is poor in Hardoi and is deteriorating in the Jumna tract of Fatehpur and in Banda Owing to want of fodder, forest hay is being utilized, elsewhere fodder is sufficient but dear.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows There is a decrease of nearly 30,000 in the total numbers on relief owing to a fall in the numbers both on works and on gratuitous relief Of the seriously distressed districts the number of workers has risen slightly in Bahraich and Basti, but elsewhere it is stationary or slightly falling. More persons are attending the test works in Dehra Dun. There is a small increase in the number in poorhouses The general health of the people continues satisfactory but small-pox is still prevalent and cholera is reported from nine districts. II.—PRINCIPLES GOVERNING LEGAL PROCEEDINGS BY, OR AGAINST, OR AFFECTING THE GOVERNMENT, OR A PUBLIC OFFICER IN HIS PUBLIC CAPACITY.

Suits by the Government only to be brought in the last resort No person having a just claim against the Government to be compelled to sue.

2. (1) No suit is to be brought on behalf of the Government except in the last resort, when all other means of obtaining satisfaction have failed

NOTE.—The institution of a suit on behalf of the Government is not to be recommended to, or authorised by, a controlling authority, until the proposed defendant has had ample opportunity given him of stating his view of the case, and of coming to some agreement for the settlement of the Government claim out of Court While it is the duty of officers of the Government to enforce the just rights of the Government and to protect its interest, the law should not be appealed to until all efforts have been made to effect an amicable adjustment, and the case for the Government has been inquired into departmentally and evidence secured on all points which are likely to be contested

(2) No person having a just claim against the Government should be compelled to resort to litigation to enforce it.

NOTE —When any person threatens to bring a suit against the Government, it is incumbent on the proper departmental officers and controlling authorities to satisfy themselves, without delay, of the justice or otherwise of the whole and every part of the claim made all reasonable efforts being made to bring about an amicable adjustment, without an appeal to the law, so far as this can be done without sacrificing the just rights of the Government

The object of the notice prescribed by section 424 of the Code of Civil Procedure is to allow ample time to the Government to inquire into the justice or otherwise of all claims and to effect a settlement of all just claims before a suit is brought, and the best use should be made of the opportunity thus given by the law towards equitably and amicably adjusting claims

III.—COMMUNICATIONS WITH THE OPPOSITE PARTY.

Communications to the opposite party to be made "without prejudice," Tender

3 All communications made to the opposite party, on the subject of matters in respect of which it is possible that a suit may ensue, shall be headed "without prejudice", and, if made orally, shall be stated to be made "without prejudice"

NOTE.—No admission is relevant, or can be proved in evidence, if it is made upon the express or implied condition that evidence of it is not to be given, but there must be no mistake as to the intention of the party making it

IV—RESTRICTIONS AS TO ACCESS TO, AND THE PRODUCTION AND SUPPLY OF, COPIES OF DOCUMENTS IN THE POSSESSION OF THE GOVERNMENT.

Restrictions as to supply of copies and production of confidential papers and necessary sanction before access is allowed to documents in the possession of the Government

4 (1) No person with whom any suit is pending or there is any likelihood of any suit arising, and no person acting for, or concerned with any such person, shall, without the express sanction of the controlling authority, be allowed access to, or be supplied with copies of, any document in the possession of the Government in any way connected with, or relating to, matters out of which such suit may arise or has arisen.

(2) When notice to produce documents in charge of a head of a department or public officer is received by him, he shall consider whether they include communications made in official confidence, the production of which would be injurious to the public interest To the production of such documents he shall make definite objection direct to the Court or through the officer in charge of the case

(3) All correspondence with, and resolutions and orders of, the Government are strictly confidential. No officers shall grant copies of any such documents, during the pendency of any dispute or suit to which they in any way relate, to any person other than to a proper officer of the Government or to the officer in charge of the case, and no such copies shall be granted at any time after the final decision of the suit without the previous sanction of the head of the department concerned

Report for defence of a suit on the ground that no valid notice has been given.

14. If no such notice of action, as is required by section 424 of the Code of Civil Procedure, has been received, the Deputy Commissioner, or the head of the department (not being a controlling authority) concerned (as the case may be), shall, immediately on the receipt of the summons, copies, etc, as aforesaid, forward the same, with a brief report to that effect, to the controlling authority, by whom arrangements will be made for the defence of the suit upon the ground of want of notice

Collection of information as to the facts of the case to be begun on receipt of notice of intended suit

15 If notice of suit (whether it appear to be an adequate notice or not) has been received, the Deputy Commissioner or the head of the department concerned shall proceed to collect, with the least practicable delay, all the information regarding the facts of the case which he can procure

Report recommending the defence of a suit.

16 (1) He shall then as soon as possible submit to the controlling authority the following documents, together with an exact list of the same —

(a) the notice of suit, the summons and a copy of the plaint,

(b) a second copy or translation of the plaint written in English, on half margin, each statement therein being marked with a letter (A, B, etc), and notes being added in the margin, stating whether each statement of fact made therein is correct or not, and if not, in what respect it is not so,

NOTE.—When the requisite explanation cannot be thus compressed, reference should be made to a paragraph of an accompanying statement, in which the matter should be fully discussed

(c) copies of documents and lists of documents, if any, filed with the plaint,

(d) copies of all other documents procurable, which are believed to bear on the case, either for the plaintiff or the defendant, together with as accurate a description as may be of other documents (if any) believed to be relevant, but of which the contents cannot be precisely ascertained except through the Court,

(e) all the correspondence and written proceedings, whether in English or in the Vernacular, connected with the subject of the suit.

These documents shall be accompanied by a clear and detailed report, stating—

(f) the circumstances which led to the suit, mentioning precisely when and where they each occurred, the course which it is proposed to adopt, namely, whether to admit, compromise or defend the suit, and the reasons for the same, and the steps (if any) which have already been taken to adjust the matter out of Court,

(g) if it is proposed to defend the suit, the proposed defence, written on half margin, showing clearly and fully how each of the allegations in the plaint is to be met, and the evidence which it is proposed to adduce for that purpose;

(h) whether the documents referred to in (c) and (d) are registered or not;

(i) the date fixed by the Court for the first hearing.

(2) An English translation of every document, which is not in that language, shall be supplied with the report, wherever this is reasonably possible

VIII.—PREPARATION AND SUBMISSION OF REPORTS AS TO THE BRINGING OR DEFENDING OF SUITS.

By whom report to be submitted to controlling authority and opinion of reporting officer.

17 (1) When the subject of the suit to be brought or defended is connected with district administration and belongs to no particular department, the report shall be prepared by the Deputy Commissioner, and shall be submitted by him to the Revenue Commissioner When the suit is connected with any particular department, the report shall be prepared by the proper officer of such department, and shall be submitted through the head of that department to the proper controlling authority

(2) In each case the officer submitting the report to the controlling authority shall (1) satisfy himself, before forwarding it, that these rules have been fully complied with; and (2) state his own opinion on the matter, with his reasons for that opinion.

Documents to be supplied with reports, and precautions in regard thereto

18 (1) All copies or translations submitted should be absolutely accurate and complete, reproducing every particular contained in the originals, whether of a formal nature or not

(2) When a map or plan would be calculated to elucidate any point reported on it should be supplied

Orders of Controlling Authorities.

Orders of controlling authorities

19. Upon the reports so received, controlling authorities will decide whether the particular suit is to be brought or defended, and will in all cases in which it is so decided, take steps to appoint a legal practitioner or other representative to conduct the proceedings in Court. The decision will be communicated to the Deputy Commissioner or head of the department concerned.

IX.—SUITS BY OR AGAINST PUBLIC OFFICERS

No suits to be instituted by public officers without the sanction of the Government Procedure in obtaining sanction

20 (1) The sanction of the Local Government shall be obtained before any public officer has recourse to the Courts for the vindication of his public acts or of his character as a public functionary.

(2) When a public officer considers that a suit should be instituted for the vindication of his public acts or of his character as a public functionary, he shall submit a report conformably to the directions contained in Rule 8

(3) The head of the department, after recording his opinion, will forward the report together with his opinion thereupon, to the Local Government for orders as to whether the suit (1) is or is not to be brought, and (2) if brought, is to be conducted at the public expense or at that of the officer concerned.

(4) If sanction be given by the Local Government to the conduct of the suit at the public expense, the controlling authority shall arrange therefor If such sanction be not given, the officer concerned shall be informed accordingly, when, if the institution of the suit has been sanctioned by the Local Government, he shall be at liberty to make his own arrangements in connection therewith

Procedure to be observed in regard to the defence of suits brought against public officers

21 (1) When any suit is threatened to be brought or is brought against a public officer, as such, or in regard to his acts as such, and such officer considers that the suit should be defended at the public expense, he shall submit a report conformably to the directions contained in Rule 17.

NOTE —In the case of a suit intended to be brought against a public officer, notice is required by section 424 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the procedure on receipt of such notice, or of a summons, will be similar to that prescribed for suits against the Government, except that the officer concerned will himself receive the notice, take action on the summons (section 423, Civil Procedure Code), and submit the necessary report

(2) The head of the department will forward the report, together with his opinion thereupon, to the Local Government for orders, as to whether the suit is to be defended at the public expense, or whether the officer concerned is to be left to take such measures in the case, at his own expense, as he thinks fit

NOTE.—All officers are reminded that as they must, primâ facie, be prepared personally to defend themselves in respect of their acts, when such acts are alleged to be illegal, it rests with them to satisfy the Local Government that they have used every effort to prevent litigation; also that the acts complained of were done (if done at all) with due care and attention and under circumstances justifying the defence of the suit at the public expense. In their own interests, therefore it is incumbent on them to observe the provisions of these rules, where applicable to their case, as accurately and promptly as possible.

(3) If the defence of the suit at the public expense is sanctioned by the Local Government, the controlling authority shall arrange therefor. If such sanction is not given, the officer concerned shall be informed accordingly, and will be at liberty to make his own arrangements in connection therewith.

NOTE—If a public officer, who is concerned in a case not falling under the rules, which affect either directly or indirectly his official character, wishes to retain the services of a legal practitioner, he should, in the first instance, apply to the Government for permission to do so, making a full report of the facts of the case The Government will then determine whether the case is one in which permission should be given, and if so, on what (if any) conditions. If permission to employ a legal practitioner at the public expense is refused, it is open to the officer concerned to obtain professional assistance at his own expense but no application to the Government for a contribution towards meeting such expenditure will be entertained unless previous sanction has been obtained

X—ACTION ON THE TERMINATION OF A SUIT

22. Immediately on the termination of any suit, a copy of the judgment and decree or other final order of the Court shall be procured, through the Deputy Commissioner, without delay by the officer in charge of the case

Results of suits, etc., by and to whom report to be submitted

23. Immediately on receipt of the copies specified in the last preceding rule, the officer in charge of the case shall submit a report of the result of the suit, for the information of the controlling authority.

When the result is adverse to the Government, and will involve a disbursement of public money, the report should state when the money will be required, so as to enable the controlling authority to make arrangements accordingly

XI.—APPEALS, ETC, BY OR AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT OR A PUBLIC OFFICER.

Appeals on behalf of the Government or a Public Officer

Report as to whether appeal should be made

24. When any suit has been decided wholly, or partially, against the Governmen or the officer concerned, and such officer, or the officer in charge of the case, is of opinion, on a perusal of the copies of the judgment and decree or other final order of the Court supplied to him as hereinfore provided, that an appeal (or in unappealable cases, an application for revision) should be preferred, or that a review of judgment be applied for, he shall, as soon as possible, prepare a report to that effect, stating the grounds of his opinion, and shall submit it to the controlling authority, together with the said copies, and (if he deem it necessary for a proper decision of the matter) with copies of the evidence and of all exhibits not previously submitted at an earlier stage, and also with a draft, on half margin, of the grounds on which he considers that the appeal or application should be based If the copies of the evidence and exhibits cannot be procured without considerable delay, the report should be submitted without them, and they should be forwarded as soon as possible afterwards. If the proper officer considers that no appeal or application should be made, he shall submit a report, accompanied as aforesaid, to that effect

NOTE.—As the period within which appeals and applications may be made is limited by law, there should be no delay in submitting reports and recommendations under this rule.

Appeal by opposite party

25 If an appeal or an application for revision or for review of judgment be preferred by the opposite party in any suit, the officer receiving notice thereof shall at once forward the notice to the proper controlling authority, who will decide whether the appeal or application shall be opposed or not; and if it is to be opposed, the person by whom it shall be undertaken

XII.—APPEALS TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

Appeals to His Majesty in Council

26. Appeals to His Majesty in Council will be dealt with under the special orders of the controlling authority and of the Local Administration

XIII.—EXECUTION OF DECREES

Settlement of decree adverse to Government

27. Whenever it has been determined not to contest further a decision which is either wholly or partly adverse to the Government, the controlling authority shall at once arrange with the Deputy Commissioner for the payment into the Court, whose duty it is to execute the decree, all monies payable under the decree, care being taken that the decree is fully satisfied within the time fixed for that purpose under section 429 of the Civil Procedure Code.

Where the decree is against a public officer, in respect of an act purporting to have been done by him in his official capacity, it will rest with him to satisfy the same within the time fixed.

Procedure when decree is in favour of Government.

28 Immediately on a decree being given in favour of the Government or of a public officer when the suit has been brought or defended at the public expense, the controlling authority shall proceed to move the Deputy Commissioner to take steps for the recovery of costs and of the amount, if any, decreed, unless for special reasons it is deemed undesirable that any such steps should be taken, or that they should be taken immediately

Measures to be taken to trace out property of judgment-debtor Action as to security

29. Deputy Commissioners and other officers concerned are required to take all possible measures to ascertain what property of the judgment-debtor exists and is available for attachment and sale in execution of decree, and that, where security is taken from the judgment-debtor on stay of execution, under section 545 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the security taken by the Court is substantial and sufficient, and that proper action for immediate execution is taken if the required security is not satisfactory

NOTE —The following instructions are to be observed —

(1) If an appeal is instituted, and the execution of the decree is stayed by order of the Court, the interval before the decision of the appeal should be made use of in making inquiries as to the property of the judgment-debtor

(2) When the officer concerned is not the Deputy Commissioner, or a subordinate of the Deputy Commissioner he may apply to the Deputy Commissioner to assist him in prosecuting the necessary inquiries as to the property of the judgment-debtor

(3) The provisions of section 545 of the Code of Civil Procedure are ordinarily sufficient to any fraudulent disposal of property by the judgment-debtor during the time gained by an appeal but the Deputy Commissioner, or other officer concerned, in consultation with the Deputy Commissioner, should satisfy himself that the security taken by the Court is sufficient, and should petition the Court to be allowed to execute the decree at once if he considers that the security offered is not good or sufficient

(4) If such application be refused, the Deputy Commissioner, or other officer in consultation as aforesaid shall endeavour to keep a watch on the property of the debtor, so as to prevent any fraudulent alienation or concealment of it

Costs in pauper suits.

30 The amount of stamp duty and other costs due to the Government in pauper suits is to be recovered by proceedings in execution of decree

NOTE —Pauper suits are instituted without payment of Court-fees, and sections 411 and 412 of the Code of Civil Procedure provide for the recovery of the amount of the fees which should have been paid if the plaintiff had not been allowed to sue as a pauper

In cases governed by section 411 it is not necessary for the Government to bring a separate suit, but the amount of the Court-fee can be realised from the property, the subject-matter of the suit, by proceeding in execution

Under paragraph 7 of Section XXII of the Chief Court's Instructions to Judicial Officers (Volume II) Civil Courts are required, wherever a decision is passed in a pauper suit, to inform the Collector of the amount payable to the Government as stamp dues, with such other particulars as will enable him to recover the same

The Superintendent of Stamps and his Personal Assistant should, in the ordinary course of inspection, examine the note-books and the files of cases and see that every effort is made to recover sums due to Government

When the Superintendent of Stamps either in the course of his own inspections, or on scrutinizing the reports of the inspections made by his Personal Assistant, finds amounts outstanding without the prospect of recovery, it will be his duty to move the Deputy Commissioner to apply to the Revenue Commissioner for sanction to the remission —(Punjab Government letter No 491, dated 4th February 1878) (Punjab Stamp Manual, 1900, paragraph 51, page 286)

Responsibility of controlling authority to recover monies due to Government

31 The controlling authority shall be responsible that proper action is taken to recover all monies due to the Government under decrees and orders of Civil Courts in all cases that have been conducted through it

NOTE.—The following instructions are to be observed —

(1) Any sum due to the Government under a decree may, if this course is feasible, be recovered otherwise than through the agency of the Court, but the Deputy Commissioner is required, under section 258 of the Code of Civil Procedure, to certify every such recovery to the Court

(2) The practice of deputing Government servants to bid on behalf of the Government at Court auctions, with a view to purchasing the property of judgment-debtors by whom money is due to the Government is, generally speaking objectionable, as it is likely to involve the Government in much litigation of a doubtful character, and it should never be resorted to except with the special sanction of the controlling authority

XIV —INTERVENTION

Procedure when intervention is deemed necessary

32. (1) If it appear advisable to a Deputy Commissioner, or to the head of any department, on the representation of any subordinate officer or otherwise, to intervene in any suit to which the Government has not been made a party, an application for a postponement of the case shall if necessary, be made to the Court, by or through the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the Court has jurisdiction The Deputy Commissioner or other officer concerned shall then submit a full report to the controlling authority, showing clearly his reasons for considering such intervention necessary and, in particular, stating how the decision of the suit is likely, in his opinion, to affect the interests of Government

(2) The controlling authority will decide whether the Government shall intervene or not; and, if so, will arrange as to the persons by whom the necessary action shall be taken.

(3) If the controlling authority decide that it is necessary to intervene and that the Government be made a party to the suit, all the rules for the conduct of Government suits, shall, so far as may be, be deemed applicable to the case.

XV—DISBURSEMENTS ON THE CONDUCT OF SUITS AND THEIR ADJUSTMENT.

33. (1) When sanction has been given to institute a suit at the public expense, the Deputy Commissioner will provide the necessary funds for stamps and other expenses in the same way as he provides for his ordinary contingencies.

Deputy Commissioners to provide necessary funds for suits instituted on behalf of the Government.

(2) Further items that may arise will be dealt with in the same way. All expenditure in excess of R500 in one suit will be referred to the controlling authority for sanction.

Expenditure in excess of R500 to be referred to controlling authority for sanction.

(3) All such items, whether sanctioned separately or included in contingent bills, will be denoted as on account of "Law charges" of the department concerned.

34. All recoveries made, whether on account of the principal sum sued for or costs, will be credited to the department concerned.

All recoveries to be credited to the department concerned

35 In urgent cases, where money may have been advanced from other sources, the earliest opportunity should be taken for adjusting such advances in accordance with these rules.

Earliest opportunity is to be taken to adjust advances.

Cases under the Land Acquisition Act

Land acquisition cases.

36. Rules 22 and 23 apply to cases which are referred to the Court under Part III of Act I of 1894 (Land Acquisition Act).

XVI.—GENERAL.

37. When legal advice, which cannot be obtained locally, is necessary, reference will be made to the Government of India in the Foreign Department In all such cases, a complete "statement of case" will be submitted to the Government of India along with the reference Such reference may be made at any stage, either before or after a suit is brought by, or against, the Secretary of State for India.

Letter—from W O DAVID, Esq., Acting Government Solicitor, Madras
To—the Secretary to Government, Public Works Department
Dated—the 29th November 1907.
No—1120

I have the honour to return herewith the document which accompanied your endorsement No. 5612-C., dated the 16th instant.

2 When sending the engrossment of the agreement to the Agents of the Corporation for execution, I instructed them to have the blank left in the "testimonium" or clause at the end beginning "In witness whereof" filled in showing by what officers under the Corporations Articles of Association the agreement would be executed and to have an attestation clause added to suit the circumstances. Instead of doing this the Corporation has added a fresh testimonium and no attestation clause but the document has been sealed and signed by two Directors and a Secretary presumably in accordance with the Corporations Articles of Association and the irregularities above mentioned are, I think, immaterial.

3 The document appears to be otherwise in order and should now be signed by a Secretary to Government on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council as provided by clause 3 of the Government Order the subject of the first recital in the document The date of execution by the Secretary to Government should be filled in at the beginning The name of the Secretary should be filled in in the blank in the testimonium and in the attestation clause and the document be signed as indicated in pencil in the presence of two witnesses who should sign wh

4. When the document has been completed the further orders mentioned in clause 4 of the Government Order can be issued.

1 The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in July The examination will be conducted either at the College, or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam, and Burma only The examination will be ipso facto vitiated, if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed, but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements, in regard to the place and hour of examination, with the candidates

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination, even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it, but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies, if such is pensionable by the British Government

2 The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts, not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned —

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth) not required, if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's hand-writing

NOTE —A candidate already in Government service should, in like manner, submit his application, through his immediate official superior, to an Examiner of Accounts qualified to hold the particular examination, and should state whether he desires to be examined at the office of the Examiner of Accounts concerned or at the College

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, to decide, on a consideration of the certificates submitted, whether the candidate should be allowed to appear for the examination, or whether his application should be rejected. The Examiner of Accounts will then forward to the Principal for registration the names of the accepted candidates The names of these candidates should be entered in a statement showing their ages and their addresses, and also showing where each candidate is to be examined, whether at the College or at the office of the Examiner of Accounts This statement, together with the fees, should be transmitted to the Principal not later than 15 days after the dates fixed in paragraph 2 for the submission of applications of candidates.

3 Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4 Each examination is complete in itself A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.

5 If from any cause a candidate fails to appear for the examination, the fee paid will not be refunded.

6. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts, in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed

7 It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments, preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department

8. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the 4th grade of Accountants, Public Works Department

9 Candidates for the 4th grade Accountantship examination, who are not Government servants and over 25 years of age, are allowed to appear at the examination, at the Sibpur College centre only, but, even if successful, they are debarred from employment in the service of Government, and their names will be excluded from the list of passed candidates which is furnished to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department

10 Candidates over 25 years of age should apply in writing to the Principal of the Civil Engineering College, not later than 30 days previous to the examination, the application to be accompanied by the fee of Rupees ten

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 21st May 1908, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

At the beginning of the week the trough of low pressure widened out into a large area of low pressure extending over Burma and the greater part of northern India with the greatest deficiency occurring in the former area; this condition was very favourable for Burma, and widespread rain fell there on the 15th and 16th, but it prevented an inflow of moist air into northeast India where weather was consequently dry. The trough of low pressure reformed over northern India on the 17th and rainfall gradually increased in the northern districts, and from the 19th to the 21st was fairly general in Assam and the north of Eastern Bengal. In south India several stations reported rain on the 15th, 18th, 20th and 21st, while on the latter date rain fell locally in Burma. A disturbance affected Kashmir from the 17th to the 20th, where light rain fell daily in parts of the state.

Burma.—Weather was dry on the 18th and 19th, but on the remaining days rain fell in parts of the province and was most widespread on the 15th, 16th and 21st. Skies were lightly to heavily clouded and temperature was normal.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—There was very little rain up to the 18th, but from the 19th to the 21st falls of rain were more numerous though they were confined almost entirely to Assam and the north of Eastern Bengal. Skies were clear or only lightly clouded except on the last three days of the week when they were moderately to heavily clouded in the area of rainfall. Temperature was normal or in excess.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Skies were almost free from cloud. Temperature was somewhat lower than usual on the 15th and 16th and generally normal or in excess during the rest of the week.

Northwest India.—Light rain fell in the extreme north, but elsewhere weather was dry and skies were generally clear except in Kashmir. Temperature was in excess over the greater part of the division on the 17th and in the east and north Punjab on the 18th; while it was in defect generally on the 15th, and in the western and southern districts from the 18th to the 21st.

The Peninsula.—There were a few falls of rain in south India, Mysore and the south Deccan. Skies were clear or lightly clouded except on the 18th when moderate to heavy cloud was reported from Mysore, the south Deccan and the central districts of the west coast.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day.—

May 15th. Mergui 2·46", Tavoy 2·40" and Moulmein 2·25".

" 16th. Moulmein 3·19", Thayetmyo 1·45", Minbu 1·15" and Yamethin 0·88".

" 17th. Salem 1·10".

" 18th. Skardu 0·95", Bangalore 1·20" and Belgaum 0·80"

" 19th. Jalpaiguri 1·60" and Gilgit 0·80"

" 20th. Bhamo 1·20", Chaibassa 0·81" and Ootacamund 1·03".

" 21st. Toungoo 2·39" and Silchar 3·50".

The rainfall of the past week was considerably above the average at the Bay stations and also in excess in Kashmir and Mysore. The rainfall of the period from the 1st to the 21st May is 20 per cent. or more in excess at the Bay stations, in the west of the United Provinces, the southwest Punjab, Kashmir, Mysore and the Madras Deccan, normal in Lower Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Chota Nagpur, the east and north Punjab, east Rajputana, the east of Central India, Berar, Malabar and southeast Madras, and 20 per cent. or more in defect over the remainder of the country.

Fields are being ploughed ready for transplanted winter rice and in many places jute fields are being weeded. Prospects of tea are generally favourable except in Cachar. There is still some scarcity of fodder and water. The price of rice has fallen at ten stations but has risen slightly at twenty others.

11 No spirit shall leave the warehouse excepting under a pass, in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Agent to the Governor-General, issued by the officer in charge of the warehouse (This pass will be the pass required by section 16 of the Mhow, Nimach and Nowgong Excise Law, 1898, for the transport of the spirit, and for its export in the case of spirit supplied to retail vendors licensed by the administration of Native States) The pass will be in triplicate One copy will remain in the book and two will be given to the person in charge of the consignment Each consignment shall be conveyed, with these two copies of the pass, direct to its destination, and bulk shall not be broken, or the seals or other fastenings of the receptacles removed in transit The pass will protect the consignment only so long as these conditions are complied with, and only up to the time specified in it in this behalf One copy of the pass shall, on the arrival of the consignment, be at once returned by post or otherwise to the officer in charge of the warehouse and the other shall be filed by the retail vendor at his shop and produced by him on the demand of any officer authorised to inspect his shop or accounts The officer in charge of the warehouse may, with the sanction of the Cantonment Magistrate, refuse to sanction the issue of spirit to any retail vendor until the passes covering previous consignments to his shop have been returned or the failure to return them satisfactorily explained, or until such fine not exceeding R5 as may be imposed by the Cantonment Magistrate has been paid Pass books will be kept in a place of safety in the Cantonment Magistrate's office, and issued to the officer in charge of the warehouse one or two at a time, as required. At warehouses at which duty is leviable at rates differing according to the areas for the supply of which spirit is issued, a separate pass book will be used for spirit issued at each of such rates Spirits shall be issued from the warehouse only at one of the following strengths, viz, 25° U P. and 60° U.P.

12 No spirits shall be removed from the warehouse until they have been gauged and proved by the officer in charge

13. The gauging of spirits for issue shall be effected by actual measurement in standard vessels provided for the purpose, and no other method of gauging spirits for issue shall under any circumstances be adopted without the previous sanction of the Agent to the Governor-General.

The standard vessels shall at least once a quarter be tested by the officer in charge against a measure to be specially set apart for this purpose, and the result recorded in a book to be kept for this purpose

On no account is a measuring vessel to be locally repaired or adjusted without the previous sanction of the Commissioner of Excise, and every vessel so repaired or adjusted under the Excise Commissioner's sanction shall thereafter be tested against the measure set apart for the purpose before it is again taken into use.

14 Before spirits are proved for issue they must be well stirred, so that the true average temperature and gravity may be obtained If the casks or other receptacles in which removal is to be made are to be filled from a larger cask, vat, or tank, it will suffice to prove the spirits in such larger cask, vat or tank once for all before any of the smaller receptacles are filled But in this case the officer in charge must be careful to see that no addition is made to the contents of the larger cask, vat or tank while the filling of the smaller ones is in progress. If such larger cask, tank or vat is ordinarily in communication with the outer air or with any other receptacle by a pipe or by other means by which fluid can be passed into it, such pipe or other means of communication must, during the filling of vessels for issue, be securely closed by a cock or valve secured by an Excise lock If these conditions are not complied with, the spirit in each receptacle must be separately proved before issue. Provided that if spirits are issued in bottles it will suffice (in the absence of cause to suspect irregular practices) to prove the contents of one bottle taken at random out of every dozen. It will suffice for the proving officer to satisfy himself that the spirit is within 1° under or above the strength prescribed for issue, and when the spirit is within 1° of such strength no further reduction or blending in order to bring it to the exact strength will be required or permitted

15 Spirits shall not be issued in quantities of less than one gallon at a time of each strength or colour. The issue of spirits is permitted in the following —

(1) Imperial quart or pint bottles

(2) Reputed do. do six or twelve of which, as the case may be, shall be held to be equal to one gallon

(3) Metal drums or tanks

(4) Casks or kegs

The receptacles in which spirit is to be issued shall be provided by the purchaser No such receptacle other than a bottle shall be taken into use until it has been gauged by the officer in charge of the distillery and marked at the cost of the owner with the following particulars —

(a) Name of warehouse.

(b) Number of receptacle.

(c) Capacity of receptacle

A register of receptacles for issue shall be maintained by the officer in charge of the warehouse and each such receptacle in use shall be gauged by him at least once in twelve months, the date of gauging and any alteration in the capacity of the receptacle being entered by him in the register. There is no objection to a registered receptacle being used (with the owner's permission) for the transport of spirit to the premises of another retail vendor The officer in charge of the warehouse may refuse to permit the issue of spirit in any receptacle which is in his opinion insecure or otherwise unfit (for reasons to be recorded by him) for the transport of spirit.

16 All receptacles in which spirits are removed from the warehouse shall before removal be sealed by the officer in charge It is the duty of the contractor to prepare the receptacles, to the satisfaction of the warehouse officer, for sealing The seal used should be the officer's private seal, which should be of sufficiently intricate design to render its reproduction difficult

17 The retail vendor desiring to obtain spirits from the warehouse shall, personally or by his agent, tender to such officer as may be specified by the Agent to the Governor-General in that behalf an application in duplicate in such form as may be prescribed by the Agent to the Governor-General, together with the price of, and duty on, the spirits that he desires to obtain.

NOTE —The Agent to the Governor-General has been pleased to specify the officer in charge of the Military Treasure Chest at Mhow as the officer to receive applications for payment of duty on spirit removed from the warehouse established in the Mhow Cantonment

The said officer, after ascertaining that the amount tendered is correct, shall cause the figures in the endorsement in both copies of the application to be filled up, and shall sign both copies of the application in token of the receipt of the amount tendered, and shall stamp both copies with his official seal He shall return one copy to the applicant, retaining the second copy for record This latter copy shall be defaced by impressing on it with a stamp the words "Office Copy," and shall then be filed in a guard book

18. The purchaser shall then tender the receipted copy of the application to the contractor's agent, who shall initial the application, and hand it over to the moharrir for the preparation of the necessary pass The moharrir, after checking the particulars and after, in the case of warehouses where distinctive colours have been prescribed for spirit issued to retail vendors of different areas, noting on it the colour of the spirit to be issued, shall prepare the pass, leaving blank the spaces for the entry of the period of validity and for the seal of the officer issuing the pass, and shall record on the reverse of the receipted application the quantity of spirits to be issued and the number and date of the pass prepared, and shall sign the entry. He shall also make the necessary entry in the warehouse registers

19. As soon as all applications for the issue of spirit have been dealt with as provided in the preceding rule, the officer in charge of the warehouse shall compare the passes with the receipted applications for payment of duty and with the entries in the warehouse registers, and, after filling in the duration of the pass, shall sign all three copies of the same. He shall then remove the parts of each pass that are to accompany the consignment and retain the same until the spirits are ready for removal

20. The officer in charge shall then proceed, with the contractor's agent, to prove, gauge and issue the spirits, to colour such spirits, if any, as require to be coloured at the time of issue, and to seal the receptacles in which spirits are to be removed, affixing a distinct impression of his seal to one of the two copies of the pass that are to accompany each consignment. He shall then make over to the person in charge of each consignment the copies of the pass that are to accompany it, and the spirit shall thereupon be removed from the warehouse

21 In cases where spirits are supplied to retail vendors licensed by the authorities of Native States, each consignment of spirit issued to retail vendors so licensed shall, if the Agent to the Governor-General so directs, be accompanied to the boundary of the area to which the Mhow, Nimach and Nowgong Excise Law applies by a peon, who shall retain the two copies of the pass until the spirit has crossed the boundary, and shall then make them over to the person in charge of the consignment, noting on it the hour at which the consignment crossed the boundary

22. The officer in charge of the warehouse and the contractor respectively shall maintain, in such manner as may be directed by the Agent to the Governor-General, such registers and accounts relating to the storage, reduction, blending and issue of spirit, to the receptacles, vessels, apparatus, utensils and furniture in use at the warehouse, and to the persons employed at the warehouse, as may from time to time be prescribed by the Agent to the Governor General, and shall submit such copies or extracts therefrom at such intervals and to such officers as may be prescribed by him Such registers, accounts, copies and extracts shall also, at any time during the hours when the warehouse is open for the transaction of business, be available for the inspection of the Cantonment Magistrate, of the Excise Commissioner, and of such other officers or persons as many be specified by the Agent to the Governor-General in this behalf

NOTE —The Agent to the Governor-General is pleased to specify the Resident at Indore, the Minister of the Indore State, the Revenue Member of the Council of Regency of the Indore State, and the Nazim Sayer Deshdan of the Indore State as persons for whose inspection all registers, accounts, copies and extracts shall be available at the warehouse established in the Mhow Cantonment.

23 An account of stock will be taken at such intervals, not being greater than three months, as the Excise Commissioner may from time to time prescribe, and in such manner as he may direct and the contractor shall pay to the administration at the end of each year of the contract duty at the highest rate for the time being in force in the area for which the warehouse is established on all spirit which may not be forthcoming, and for which he shall be unable to account to the satisfaction of the Excise Commissioner, in excess of an allowance of 1½ per cent. which will be made for wastage Wastage for the purpose of collection of duty on the excess as aforesaid shall be calculated annually at the end of each year of the currency of the contract Provided that if it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Excise Commissioner that the whole or any portion of such deficiency in excess of 1½ per cent has been caused by accident or other unavoidable cause, the payment of duty on the deficiency or on the portion of it caused by such accident or other unavoidable cause shall not be required. The allowance of 1½ per cent will be calculated on the balance in hand on the date of the previous stock taking, plus the quantity since received

In warehouses where coloured spirits are stored for issue on payment of a rate of duty lower than that payable in respect of uncoloured spirits, the accounts of stock of uncoloured and of coloured spirits shall be taken separately In such case the allowance of 1½ per cent will be calculated, in the case of uncoloured spirit, on the balance in hand at the commencement of the year plus the quantity since received less the quantity transferred to coloured stock. In the case of coloured spirit it shall be calculated on the balance in hand plus the quantity transferred from uncoloured stock If the total wastage on uncoloured stock exceeds the allowance of 1¼ per cent calculated as above, the contractor shall be liable to pay duty on the excess at the highest rate leviable on spirit issued from the warehouse, notwithstanding that the wastage of coloured stock may be less than the allowance of 1¼ per cent But if the wastage on coloured stock exceeds and that on uncoloured stock is less than the allowanace of 1¼ per cent, the contractor shall be liable to pay duty, at the highest rate leviable on coloured spirits issued from the warehouse, only on the net excess, i e., on the number of gallons by which the total wastage of coloured and uncoloured spirits exceeds the total allowance of 1¼ per cent on the quantity in hand at the beginning of the year plus the quantity since received.

In the calculations required for the purposes of this rule, all spirits received, transferred or in store shall be reduced to their equivalent in terms of London Proof.

The allowance of 1¼ per cent mentioned in this rule may, under the orders of the Agent to the Governor General be increased to not more than 3 per cent, in the case of any warehouse at which he considers that the allowance of 1¼ per cent would, owing to special circumstances, be insufficient.

Government will not be responsible for the destruction, loss or damage of spirit by fire or theft or by gauging, proof, or by any other cause whatever In case of fire or other accident the officer in charge of the warehouse shall attend the warehouse with the least possible delay

24 The guard maintained at the warehouse shall ordinarily consist of at least two peons, who will be required to reside on the premises and one of whom will be on duty at the door of the warehouse whenever the warehouse is open for transaction of business. The strength of the guard may be increased by the Agent to the Governor General at the request of the contractor on payment by the latter of the extra expenditure involved. Or the guard may be dispensed with if the situation of the warehouse is such as in the opinion of the Agent to the Governor General to render the maintenance of a special guard unnecessary.

25 The hours of attendance of the officer in charge of the warehouse shall be prescribed from time to time by the Excise Commissioner The convenience of the contractor will in this matter be consulted as for as possible No operation shall, except under special sanction, be permitted after 6 P M Transactions will, as far as possible, be conducted during fixed hours duly notified. The Cantonment Magistrate or the Excise Commissioner may, for reasons recorded in writing, direct that the name of any person be struck off the register and that he be excluded from the warehouse

All persons, other than the Cantonment Magistrate, the Excise Commissioner, and the Agent to the Governor General, entering a warehouse shall, in respect of their conduct and proceedings while in the warehouse, be under the orders of the officer in charge, and shall, unless they are persons who have been specified by the Agent to the Governor General under rule 22, be liable to search, on quitting the premises at the discretion of that officer. Smoking and the use of matches or of naked lights in the warehouse are strictly prohibited. If lights are necessary, closed lanterns (to be supplied by the contractor) of a make approved by the Excise Commissioner shall be used

29 If it comes to the knowledge of a contractor or his agent that any person employed by such contractor in the storage, receipt, blending or issue of spirits, has committed any breach of the Excise Laws or of the engagements entered into by such contractor, it shall be his duty to report the matter through the officer in charge of the warehouse to the

Cantonment Magistrate and to comply with the directions of that officer respecting the continued employment of such person

30. In case of any breach of these rules or of the conditions of the license, or in case of any attempt, by altering the capacities of receptacles or otherwise, to deceive the officer in charge in gauging or proving, either by a contractor or his agent, or with his connivance and privity, by any person in his employment, it shall be competent to the Excise Commissioner to impose upon him a fine not exceeding the sum of Rs. 50 for every such breach of such rules or conditions or at the option of the Excise Commissioner, to declare the money deposited by the contractor forfeited, and to cancel the license.

31. The imposition of a fine or the forfeiture of deposit or the cancellation of the license under the last preceding rule shall not be held to prevent the prosecution of any person for any offence which may have been committed against the provisions of the Mhow, Nimacah and Nowgong Excise Law, 1898, or other law for the time being in force relating to the Excise revenue.

32 If a contractor or his agent shall be convicted on prosecution before a Magistrate of any offence against the Mhow, Nimach and Nowgong Excise Law, 1898, or other law for the time being in force and relating to the Excise revenue, it shall be lawful for the Excise Commissioner to declare his license forfeited

33. All sums payable to Government by a contractor and all fines imposed under rule 30 may be deducted from the amount of his deposit or from any sum due to him by Government, or realised by sale of the securities deposited by him, or may be recovered by attachment and sale of his property under section 17 of the Mhow, Nimach and Nowgong Excise Law, 1898.

34. DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 28th May 1908, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

There was fairly widespread rain in Burma up to the 26th but from that date until the close of the week it gradually decreased in the interior districts and on the 27th and 28th was confined almost entirely to Lower Burma. In South India rain fell at a few stations from the 22nd to the 24th, and on the latter date in the south Deccan also. The position of the trough of low pressure in northern India permitted an extension of rainfall into Bengal and Chota Nagpur on the 24th and next day into Bihar, but on the 26th rainfall retreated eastward and was chiefly confined for the rest of the week to Eastern Bengal and Assam.

Burma.—Rainfall occurred in all parts of the province being nearly general on the 22nd, 24th and 25th. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded and temperature was approximately normal.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell every day in Eastern Bengal and Assam and a few falls occurred in other parts of northeast India. Skies were clear or lightly clouded in Bihar and Chota Nagpur, and moderately to heavily overcast elsewhere. Temperature was normal on most days of the week.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Skies were clear or only lightly clouded and temperature was normal or in excess.

Northwest India.—Udaipur reported a thunderstorm with hail on the 25th and on the 27th and 28th light rain fell in parts of Kashmir. Skies were generally free from cloud except in Kashmir during the last three days of the week. Temperature was normal or in excess up to the 27th, on which day the excess was most marked, being considerable to large over the greater part of Upper India.

The Peninsula.—Falls of rain occurred in south India on the first three days of the week, and were most numerous on the 24th. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded on the days of rainfall but were clear or only lightly clouded during the rest of the week. Temperature was nearly normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

May 22nd. Tavoy 1·90", Toungoo 1·38", Thayetmyo 2·18", Chittagong 1·76", Bogra 1·97", Jalpaiguri 1·44" and Mysore 1·51".

" 28th. Tavoy 3·25", Akyab 1·77", Narayanganj 2·40", Bogra 1·84" and Purnea 1·22".

The rainfall of the past week has been above the average in Upper Burma and Mysore and practically equal to it in Lower Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam and Chota Nagpur. For the whole period from the 1st to the 28th May rainfall is 20 per cent. or more in defect in most of the rainfall divisions, the only exceptions being Kashmir, the southwest Punjab and Mysore, where it is 20 per cent or more in excess, and Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Chota Nagpur, the west of the United Provinces, the Madras Deccan and southeast Madras, where it is within 20 per cent of the normal.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 23rd May 1908.

Burma.—The rainfall was light to moderate and practically general. Hill-side cultivation and reaping of spring rice in Upper Burma continues. Ploughing for early autumn rice has commenced in places. Ploughing and sowing of early sesamum and cotton are progressing. The condition of standing crops in Upper Burma is fair on the whole. The price of unhusked rice rose considerably in one district and fell largely in Mandalay. The change is slight in three other districts.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—With renewed falls of rain in every part of the Province the agricultural situation continues to improve. Sowing of jute and some varieties of autumn crops are practically complete. Weeding of jute is in progress. For other varieties of autumn and winter rice, fields are being prepared and in some places sowing has commenced. Prospects of autumn crops have improved but more rain is still wanted in Faridpur, Backarganj, Malda, Manipur, the Surma Valley and the Chittagong division. Prospects of tea are good in Lakhimpur, poor in Cachar and fair in other districts. Prices of common rice have risen at sixteen stations, have fallen at eight and are stationary at others. There is no reason to apprehend scarcity.

Bengal.—During the week under report the rainfall was fairly general in Lower Bengal and in the Bhagalpur and Chota Nagpur divisions and North Bihar. The fall was heavy in Cooch Behar and in parts of Midnapore, Darjeeling and Burdwan, where the rain recorded amounted to 10·38, 5·48, 4·20 and 3·13 inches respectively. In Birbhum, Bankura, Muzaffarpur and Manbhum the rain received was between 1 and 2 inches. In Orissa and South Bihar and also in Murshidabad, Saran and Palamau little or no rain fell. The recent rain has been beneficial, facilitating the cultivation of lands and the sowing of autumn crops. More rain is still needed, especially in Lower Bengal, for jute sowings which are in progress. Cheena and sugarcane are doing well in Bihar. Prospects of summer paddy and other standing crops are unfavourable in Murshidabad for want of rain. The mango crop has been damaged to a large extent by storms in Purnea and by hail in Angul. The price of common rice is stationary in most districts, it has risen in Midnapore, the 24-Parganas, Patna, Balasore, Palamau and Hazaribagh and has fallen in Gaya. Stocks of food-grains continue to be reported insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Balasore and Palamau. Scarcity is still apprehended in Nadia and Palamau. The water-supply is scarce in most districts of the Burdwan, Presidency and Orissa divisions and also in parts of the Sonthal Parganas and Manbhum. Fodder is insufficient in Burdwan, Bankura, Cuttack and Balasore. The condition of cattle is bad in the last named district, where in some tracts they are dying for want of fodder and water. Cattle disease is prevalent in Khulna, Patna, Champaran, Darbhanga, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau. The number of persons on test works in Bankura, Murshidabad, Jessore, Hazaribagh and Ranchi was 6,085, and in the Orissa districts 8,823. Gratuitous relief was given to 25,396 persons, of whom 19,178 belong to Orissa.

United Provinces.—No rain fell during the week. Autumn sowings continue in the hills where more rain is needed but prospects are now favourable in the plains. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops continue in a few districts. Land is being prepared for autumn crops and some early sowings have been made. Irrigation of sugarcane continues. Extra crops are being harvested in several districts. Elsewhere irrigation of extra crops is proceeding. Opium weighments are nearing completion, the amount of opium bought is very short in Bara Banki. Reports on the mango crop are favourable. Much of the unirrigated sugarcane has been lost in Gorakhpur. Prices continue very high and are generally stationary. The prices of some food-grains have risen in three and have fallen in five districts. Markets are well supplied and grain continues to be imported into the hills. Condition of agricultural stock is generally satisfactory. Fodder is scarce in part of Banda and the Jumna tracts of Fatehpur and in the south of Allahabad, elsewhere it is available but dear. Government hay is being utilized in several districts.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—There has been a further decrease in the numbers on relief of 41,670 of whom 9,751 are workers and the remainder dependants. The numbers on gratuitous relief have been much reduced in many districts but the figures have been raised in others by the addition of dependants from works, the real reduction in the numbers on gratuitous relief is larger than the figures indicate. The numbers in poor houses show little change. Large public works are being everywhere converted into civil and aided works, dependants being brought on to gratuitous relief. In Muttra, Jaunpur, Hardoi, Bara Banki and in the hills the experiment is to be introduced of paying workers a fixed wage somewhat above Famine Code rates without relief to dependants save in exceptional cases. The spring harvest has relieved the situation and reduced relief operations largely in all except the most seriously affected districts In the Etah district all relief has been stopped and in Rohilkhand it is unlikely that gratuitous relief will be required after the middle of June Even in Bundelkhand there is no considerable rise since the harvest and the figures of the middle of April and the middle of May are almost identical This contrasts strongly with the course of the famine of 1897 in which owing to previous hard times and a deficient spring crop there was an increase of 240,000 in that period in Bundelkhand The present condition of that area, owing to the two good harvests of 1906 and 1907, is vastly different from its condition in 1897 and the absence of increase in the relief figures is natural In submontane Oudh including Bara Banki and the west of Basti and in Mirzapur the numbers on relief have risen by over 100,000 on completion of the spring harvest, but there is a considerable decrease reported this week in Gonda and Bahraich and a small decrease in Basti and Kheri The change to civil and aided works partly accounts for this decrease and the rainfall of the 10th May has led to employment becoming available on agricultural operations for autumn sowings The general health of the people continues satisfactory though small-pox continues Cases of cholera are reported from eleven districts. Cholera broke out on two works in Mirzapur which were broken up, and there were two deaths in a poor-house in Banda No wandering is reported but 1,431 persons from Bengal are on the Mirzapur relief works The number on relief in the Balrampur estates is 17,896 and on other private works 9,405. The numbers on Government relief are :—on relief works 446,475, on aided works 162,125, on test works 1,517, dependants 184,524, on gratuitous relief 282,791, in poor-houses 2,862, total 1,080,294. The largest total figures are —Bahraich 228,957, Mirzapur, with Family Domains, 147,316, Gonda, excluding the Balrampur estates, 103,749, Kheri 103,636, Banda, figures which are incomplete, 74,557; Jalaun 63,964, Basti 43,583, Bara Banki 42,704 Prices —Garhwal 6 to 11, Almora 8¼; Mirzapur 7½ to 10, Banda 9½, Kheri 9 7/16, Fatehpur 9 to 10, Etah 14½, elsewhere 10 to 14 seers per rupee.

Punjab.—Slight rain fell in parts of Rawal Pindi. Prices of food grains are rising in nine and are falling in five districts, but are still generally at or above scarcity rates, except in Lyallpur and Multan, where wheat is selling between warning and scarcity rates. Harvesting of spring crops is nearly over and sowing of autumn crops is in progress. The condition of extra spring crops is generally good to average Some damage by hailstones is reported from Shahpur Fodder is scarce in Rohtak, Delhi, Ferozepore, Gujranwala, Mianwali and parts of Gurgaon and Sialkot The condition of cattle is generally good The water-supply canal was closed during the week in Delhi. 1,758 persons attended the famine test works in the Gurgaon tahsil against 1,728 last week

North-West Frontier Province—No rain fell during the week The condition of standing crops is average Harvesting of spring crops is in progress and the outturn is nearly average Sowings of autumn crops still continue The water-supply and fodder are sufficient Cattle are in good condition. Prices, except bajra, are falling. Prices — wheat 9¼ to 15¾, gram 10 9/16 to 16½, maize 11 15/16 to 18¼ and bajra 11 to 13¾ seers per rupee.

Jammu—No rain fell during the week Prices are stationary. Wheat is selling from 8 to 11 and maize from 9 to 18 seers per rupee The condition of standing crops is fair Fodder is insufficient nearly all over the Province Harvesting and threshing of spring crops are in progress and lands are being prepared for autumn sowings.

Kashmir—The weather is generally bright. Prices are almost stationary.

Rajputana.—There was slight rainfall in Jhalawar. Harvesting of spring crop continues in a few places Ploughing for autumn sowings is in progress in Mewar, Haraoti, Tonk, Kotah, Jhalawar and Ajmer-Merwara The condition of cattle is good Prices continue much above the normal, they have fallen by one seer in Banswara, but have risen by an equal amount in Sirohi and Tonk and to a less extent in Shahpura, Jaipur and Jodhpur The numbers on special public works are 4,[illegible]6 which include 437 from Ajmer-Merwara. The situation in these districts has improved owing to the recent harvest.

Central India—Light showers fell in Gwalior There was no rain elsewhere. Land is being prepared for autumn sowings Extra crops are being watered in Gwalior, Bhopal and Bhopawar Agricultural stock is fair to good There is cattle-disease in parts of Gwalior, Indore, Bhopal, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar Fodder and water are becoming scarce in a few parganas of Gwalior, fodder is scanty in Bundelkhand and in part of Indore, indifferent in Bhopal and sufficient elsewhere Prices are rising in Rutlam and are high but steady elsewhere.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows —The general situation is unaltered Prices —Indore 9 to 9½, Bundelkhand 8¾ to 10 and Bhopawar 9 to 13 seers per rupee The numbers on relief are —Rewa—on works 75,500; on gratuitous relief 13,000 In the rest of Baghelkhand—on works 3,500, on gratuitous relief 500. Central Provinces.—The weather continues to be very hot with occasional clouds. 23 cents of rain fell in Yeotmal only accompanied by high winds. Preparation of land for sowings of autumn crops is in progress everywhere. Sowing of rice in dry fields has been started in parts of Raipur. Some dearness or insufficiency of fodder and water is reported from all districts except Jubbulpore, Mandla, Narsinghpur, Balaghat, Drug, Bilaspur and the districts of Berar. The spring harvest has checked the tendency to raise prices. They remained stationary during the week. Staple food-grains fell in price in Nimar, Drug and Buldana and became dearer in Amraoti by ½ seer per rupee. Cattle are generally reported to be in good condition

Feudatory States—Jashpur had 95 cents of rain during the week. Preparation of land for next autumn sowings is in rapid progress. Sowing of rice has commenced in places in Raigarh Sugarcane plants are doing well in Sarangarh. Some insufficiency of fodder and water is felt in Kawardha, Raigarh, Sarangarh, Sakti and Jashpur Wheat and gram in Chhuikhadan, wheat, rice and kodon in Khairagarh and rice in Kanker rose by 1 seer Kodon sells dearer in Chhuikhadan by ½ seer and rice cheaper in Raj-Nandgaon by ½ seer, prices are steady elsewhere

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows —The districts under relief remain the same except for the extension of relief operations to new circles in two districts. There is an increase in the numbers on village works and also on ordinary works due to the decrease of other employment. Some improvements are still being carried out with the aid of loans which are still being distributed Preparation of land for autumn cultivation is going on. The public health is generally fair The condition of the labouring classes is good and employment is procurable except in parts of Ganjam. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—The distress in the Ganjam division is not perceptibly increasing. The condition of Haddis has improved by employment in watching mango topes. Peddakimedi Khonds and Savaras and Oriyas in the Ganjam division are mostly affected. Relief measures started for Khonds and Savaras have put heart into them. Oriyas are not resorting to the test work or poor-house. There is not much wandering. No general emaciation is apparent, but individual cases are not uncommon owing to influx of foreigners. The condition of the poor-house inmates is good. Khonds are weak. The water-supply works are progressing. The public health is generally good. Cholera is prevalent in parts. Private charitable relief is being given in most towns. Committees are being formed in other places in the district. Loans are being advanced for the purchase of fodder and the construction of wells. Prices of food-grains are high but stationary. Prices are between 6 4 to 10 7 seers per rupee. The test work at Ganjam was closed on the 19th May. One was opened at Sobolia near Rambha on 21st May and the daily average number was 36. The attendance at the Rambha poor-house was 44, Peddakimedi Khonds relieved by doles average 20.

The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in July The examination will be conducted either at the College, or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam, and Burma only. The examination will be ipso facto vitiated, if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed, but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements, in regard to the place and hour of examination, with the candidates.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination, even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it, but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies, if such is pensionable by the British Government.

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts, not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompani ed by a fee of Rs 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned —

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth) not required, if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's hand-writing

NOTE —A candidate already in Government service should, in like manner, submit his application, through his immediate official superior, to an Examiner of Accounts qualified to hold the particular examination, and should state whether he desires to be examined at the office of the Examiner of Accounts concerned or at the College

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, to decide, on a consideration of the certificates submitted, whether the candidate should be allowed to appear for the examination, or whether his application should be rejected. The Examiner of Accounts will then forward to the Principal for registration the names of the accepted candidates The names of these candidates should be entered in a statement showing their ages and their addresses, and also showing where each candidate is to be examined, whether at the College or at the office of the Examiner of Accounts This statement, together with the fees, should be transmitted to the Principal not later than 15 days after the dates fixed in paragraph 2 for the submission of applications of candidates.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4 Each examination is complete in itself A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the ull examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates

5 If from any cause a candidate fails to appear for the examination, the fee paid will not be refunded.

6. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts, in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

7 It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments, preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department

8. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the 4th grade of Accountants, Public Works Department

9. Candidates for the 4th grade Accountantship examination, who are not Government servants and over 25 years of age, are allowed to appear at the examination, at the Sibpur College centre only, but, even if successful, they are debarred from employment in the service of Government, and their names will be excluded from the list of passed candidates which is furnished to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department

(a) Excluding Native States which report a total area of 1,081,200 acres and an outturn of 272,600 tons for the current year

(b) Including Native States within provincial boundaries

(c) Excluding Gwalior and Baghelkhand

The provinces to which this memorandum relates commonly contain 99.75 per cent of the reported area under wheat in India.

Reports on the wheat crop are disappointing. At the end of February when the previous reports were received, the condition of the crop was said to be generally from fair to good although the acreage was much restricted; but since then the crop has suffered through absence or deficiency of rain in some of the most important wheat growing tracts. Damage has also been caused by cold, high winds in the Panjab and the United Provinces, and by frost in the Central Provinces and Sind

The total area comes to 20,963,400 acres which is 7,572,600 acres or 26·5 per cent below the figure for 1906-07. The total outturn is estimated at 5,703,800 tons as compared with 8,185,900 tons for 1906-07—a decrease of 2,482,100 tons or 30·3 per cent

The area sown in British India is 17,908,800 acres, which falls short of the previous year by 6,541,600 acres or nearly 27 per cent and the outturn is computed at 5,150,900 tons which is less by 2,298,500 tons or 31 per cent than in 1906-07.

In the Native States the area has decreased by 1,031,000 acres or 25 per cent to a total of 3,054,600 acres, and the outturn by 183,600 tons or 25 per cent to a total of 552,900 tons

The following is a summary of the provincial reports The figures in brackets, following the name of each province, indicate what percentage of the total area under wheat in India is ordinarily cultivated in that province; the ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage in the province is also stated.

Panjab (29·3%, ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 52%).—The total area sown in British districts is reported to be 7,171,200 acres (4,313,500 irrigated) as compared with 9,100,100 acres (4,402,200 irrigated) last year—a decrease of 21 per cent The climatic conditions have been most unsatisfactory The monsoon closed early. September, October and November were dry months, and the winter rains were delayed until January 10th The excellent rain then received and the light local showers, which continued till the beginning of February, materially improved the prospects of the crop. But from this point onward, adverse conditions again re-asserted themselves strongly The almost complete absence of rain during the remainder of February and throughout March was most unfavourable to the unirrigated wheat. The irrigated crop has also been affected as regards outturn both in grain and in straw. The rain that fell in April was too late to benefit the crop except in a few localities. Damage by cold, high winds in March, and by floods and hailstorms in April has also been reported from several districts The total outturn is estimated to be 2,198,100 tons, which is nearly 33 per cent less than last year (3,266,900 tons) and 21 per cent below the quinquennial average. The quality of the grain is good The Native States report for the first time a total area of 1,081,200 acres and an outturn of 272,600 tons

United Provinces (27 1%, ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 52%) —The total area sown amounts to 4,406,500 acres compared with 7,044,000 acres last year—a decrease of 37 per cent, attributed to dryness of the soil at sowing time. In most districts the crop promised well until nearly the end of February, when strong westerly winds commenced to blow. The crop, which was sown in time and sufficiently irrigated, escaped injury but the crop which was sown late or which was insufficiently irrigated was greatly damaged, the outturn being poor and the grain shrivelled The total yield is estimated at 1,675,000 tons compared with 2,165,000 tons last year—a decrease of 22 per cent.

Central Provinces and Berar (12 1%, ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 1%).—The total area sown is reported to be 2,757,500 acres (2,470,600 in the Central Provinces and 286,900 in Berar) as compared with 3,714,400 acres (3,274,100 in the Central Provinces and 440,300 in Berar) last year—a decrease of nearly 26 per cent, attributed mainly to the sudden cessation of the monsoon The cold weather showers, though scanty, were most opportune and greatly benefited the crop But the soil was dry, the heat above normal, and the usual dews did not fall. Frost and hail also caused damage in some districts The total yield is estimated at 499,800 tons (466,300 in the Central Provinces and 33,500 in Berar) as against 904,100 tons (831,500 in the Central Provinces and 72,600 in Berar) last year, representing a decrease of nearly 45 per cent Two Native States (Khairagarh and Rajnandgaon) have for the first time reported a total area of 86,800 acres and an outturn of 18,400 tons.

Bombay (6·9%, ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 11%) —The British districts report a total area of 1,094,200 acres as compared with 1,275,500 acres last year—a decrease of 14 per cent. The Native States (including Baroda) report 411,300 acres against 387,400 acres last year—an increase of 6 per cent. Rainfall was generally deficient after August In Gujarat rain in January improved prospects and the dry crop has on the whole done fairly well. In the Deccan the dry crop, except in Khandesh and Satara, has more or less suffered through want of moisture The irrigated crop has suffered owing to deficiency of water-supply in many places. The total yield is estimated at 315,600 tons (143,500 in British districts and 172,100 in Native States) as compared with 338,200 tons (214,700 in British districts and 123,500 in Native States) last year— this representing a decrease of 6·6 per cent

Bengal (4 8%).—The total area sown is reported to be 1,003,100 acres compared with 1,402,600 acres last year—a decrease of 28 per cent Owing to want of moisture sowings were short and the continued drought adversely affected the crop, but the slight falls of rain in December, January and February improved prospects a little. The yield is estimated at 299,200 tons as against 388,700 tons last year—a decrease of 23 per cent.

North-West Frontier (3·5%; ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 27%).—The total area sown amounts to 977,700 acres against 1,146,400 acres in the preceding year—a decrease of nearly 15 per cent, owing to the absence of moisture in the soil at sowing time, consequent on the failure of the monsoon. The winter rains came late about the second week of January, when the fall was excellent. Rain in February and March proved beneficial, and the heavy and well distributed fall in April greatly improved the condition of the unirrigated crop, though it caused some damage in places The total yield is estimated at 213,200 tons against 305,200 tons last year—a decrease of 30 per cent

Sind (2°/₀; ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 88°/₀) —The total area is reported to be 431,500 acres (25,600 in Native States) compared with 672,300 acres (40,800 in Native States) last year—a decrease of nearly 36 per cent, attributed to low inundation The crop suffered in places owing to deficiency of water-supply and through frost The total yield is estimated at 108,200 tons against 186,300 tons last year—decrease of 42 per cent.

Eastern Bengal (0·7°/₀) —The total area is reported to be 92,700 acres compared with 135,900 acres last year—a decrease of 32 per cent The early part of the season was characterised by extreme drought. The crop consequently made only poor growth till rain fell in early February in most of the wheat growing districts. The yield is estimated at 21,400 tons against 31,900 tons last year—a decrease of 33 per cent

Central India (6 6°/₀) —The report received is incomplete in the absence of information for the Gwalior State and the Baghelkhand agency. The total area reported is 1,078,500 acres and the outturn 187,300 tons compared with 1,771,000 acres and 308,800 tons last year—the decrease being 39 per cent in both area and yield

Hyderabad (3·4°/₀) reports 932,900 acres compared with 1,039,500 acres last year—a decrease of 10 per cent Rainfall was not sufficient for wheat, and the yield is estimated at 67,200 tons against 109,000 tons last year—a decrease of 38 per cent

Rajputana (3 2°/₀) reports a total area of 603,800 acres and an outturn of 118,500 tons compared with 842,400 acres and 181,600 tons last year—the decrease being 28 per cent in area and 35 per cent in outturn, attributed to want of moisture at the time of sowing and the lateness of the winter rains

Mysore (0 02°/₀) reports 2,500 acres and 600 tons compared with 4,500 acres and 700 tons last year

Exports.—The exports of wheat from India to foreign countries by sea during the last five years have been :—

TELEGRAPH ESTABLISHMENT

No. 5251—5252—87.

The 4th June, 1908

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

In a resolution No 3869-3873, dated the 22nd April 1908, the Government of India appointed a Committee to examine and report on the working of the new arrangement of the hours of duty in the Indian Telegraph Department, which was introduced on the 1st April 1908.

2 The Report of the Committee has now been received and is appended to this Resolution The Committee have satisfied themselves that while modifications in detail are necessary, owing to the trying character of night work in India, the principle on which the new arrangement of hours is based is sound and workable, and the arrangement itself is a great improvement on the former system The revised scheme of duties therefore, which the Committee recommend, retains the 50 hours week as the basis of the system, but provides that six hours of night work shall be treated as eight hours and that, in the case of a period of duty performed partly by night and partly by day, seven hours shall count as eight hours.

3 The Government of India accept the recommendations of the Committee In the case of the offices visited by them detailed proposals for the arrangements of the hours of work have been made and these will be brought into force at once. In the case of other first-class offices, the Director-General of Telegraphs will take immediate steps to have duty-charts drawn up on the same principles.

4. The inquiries of the Committee were conducted in close communication with the members of the signalling establishment of seven of the principal telegraph offices of India and Burma, and the Government of India notice with pleasure that the staff has in every instance accepted the conclusions unanimously arrived at by the Committee They desire to acknowledge the thorough and careful manner in which the work of the Committee has been done, and they believe that the new system, as modified by the Committee, will be found to be a great improvement on the former system both as regards the comfort of the staff and the prompt disposal of traffic.

ORDERED, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director-General of Telegraphs for necessary action, and that it be published in the Gazette of India.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY RESOLUTION NO. 3869-3873, DATED THE 22ND APRIL 1908, TO ENQUIRE INTO HOURS OF DUTY IN THE TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

Introduction—In compliance with the instructions conveyed in the Resolution of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 3869 3873, dated the 22nd April 1908, we have examined the working of the new arrangement of the hours of duty in the Telegraph Department and beg to submit the following report.

2. Tours of Committee and method of enquiry—We commenced the enquiry on the 24th April and completed it on the 28th May, and during this period we visited the principal telegraph offices of the country in the order in which they are shown in the margin. As directed in the Government Resolution, a member of the local staff selected by the Superintendent in consultation with the men, was associated with us at each centre and these officials were of the greatest assistance to us in our enquiries Full opportunity was given to the staff to submit any representations, written or verbal, which they desired to make, and about 70 of the men appeared before us at the several places and in a reasonable spirit acquainted us with their views, in addition to which printed statements of their case were handed to us by the staff at Madras, Allahabad, Rangoon and Lahore The results of our enquiries at the different centres visited are embodied in separate memoranda, signed in each case by the local official who served on the Committee as well as by ourselves.

3. Brief description of scheme under enquiry.—The scheme of duties under examination is based on the principle of dividing the staff of an office into small sets with equal periods of duty and arranging their hours of attendance with the object of ensuring that the number of men at work shall, at all times of the day and night, be proportionate to the actual amount of traffic. With proper supervision, therefore, it makes for the utmost efficiency and expedition in the disposal of traffic, while it has the important result of reducing to a minimum the proportion of the staff required for duty at night, when work is lightest. The duties of the several sets can readily be re-adjusted to suit variations in the traffic without disorganising the arrangements in the office, and a salient feature of this system is its elasticity and adaptability to any conditions. It thus enables the establishment of an office to be utilised to the best advantage, so that with the same staff a much larger outturn of work may be secured than was possible under the old system. Moreover, not the least favourable effect of the new system is that it introduces as much regularity as it is found possible to provide in the times for duty and rest for the staff by giving all the men a turn of each period of duty for 6 days in succession, instead of the constant harassing changes to which the men were subject formerly.

4. Short account of watch system.—Under the old system, the staff of an office was divided into 3 sets or watches, approximately of equal strength, which worked in rotation. In some offices "special", or fixed daily duties were assigned to a small proportion of the staff, but the three main duties, in the order in which they rotated for each set of men, were as follows.—

1st day	8 A.M.	to 4 P.M	... 8 hours
2nd day	... 9 P.M.	to 8 A M	11 „
3rd day	.. 4 P.M.	to 9 P M	„

and so on every day in succession including Sundays. In addition, therefore, to the hours of attendance changing daily, the periods of duty and rest were very unequal. A term of attendance extending to 11 hours, during which the signallers were ordinarily permitted to sleep for 3 or 4 hours, occurred every third night and was succeeded by an interval of only 8 hours' relief, from 8 A.M. to 4 P.M., during which it was difficult for the men to get proper rest. The system, moreover, was not well adapted to the conditions of traffic, which, though fairly constant in volume at the same hours from day to day, fluctuates greatly during the different hours of the same day. It thus happened that the force on night duty was in excess of actual requirements, while that on duty during the busiest portion of the day was usually inadequate to cope with the traffic, with the result that much of it was delayed and left over for disposal at night.

5 Recommendation for permanent retention of new system.—For these reasons, we are unanimously of opinion that the new system of arranging the hours of duty is thoroughly sound in principle, is undoubtedly superior to the old system of watches, and should be maintained permanently, with the modifications which will shortly be explained

6. Objections of staff to new system.—Turning now to the objections on the part of the staff to the scheme recently introduced we found that they were at root the same everywhere and related chiefly to the uniform period of 8 hours which had been fixed for all duties, whether by night or by day It was urged that 8 hours' continuous duty, rendered wholly or in great part by night, is excessive, especially when performed on 6 consecutive nights, and it was also represented that the duties from 14 to 22 and 15 to 23 hours are very exacting, including as they do, the busiest and most exhausting time of the day, viz, the afternoon and evening, and extending well into the night In connection with the latter term of duty it appeared further that the men relieved at 23 hours find it difficult to get to their homes particularly in the large cities. The officers of the Telegraph Department, whom we consulted, confirmed the statements of the staff on these points, and we may say at once that we are fully satisfied that substantial grounds exist for the representations made

7 Suggestions of staff—While these objections were consistently brought to our notice at every stage of our enquiry, the staff of the different offices were by no means of one opinion as to the remedy that should be adopted We need not refer to all the various suggestions which we received, as many of them were obviously impracticable and few were seriously pressed. We may mention, however, that at Bombay, we were asked to recommend the adoption of the 6 hours' watch system which is in force in the office of the Eastern Telegraph Cable Company there, but, as will be seen from the memorandum of our proceedings at that place, the system is wholly unsuited for Government Telegraph Offices, where the conditions of traffic are entirely different from those in the Eastern Telegraph Cable Company's Office A feeling also existed at some offices in favour of a daily, instead of a weekly, rotation of duties, but this practically involved a reversion to the old system and the idea was abandoned, when we pointed out the intrinsic advantages of a weekly system of regular periods of duty and rest and explained how the new duties could be modified to meet the special difficulties in connection with night work which the staff are experiencing

8 Modifications in new scheme proposed by Committee.—As already observed, we are convinced of the necessity for introducing some modifications in the terms of duty now fixed and the question of the actual changes to be made has received our careful consideration Regarding continuous night duty, we have made enquiries from many officers of the Telegraph Department, and, privately, from various other persons unconnected with that Department who were qualified to speak on the subject, and the almost unanimous opinion of these consulted is that 6 hours would be a reasonable term for such duty. We fully share this view and recommend that the period of continuous night duty should be fixed at 6 hours. As regards duties which are performed to any considerable extent by night, the conclusion at which we have arrived is that 7 hours would be a suitable term to fix. Our complete proposals for regulating the periods of duty are:—

(1) that 8 hours should be the duration of all duties which commence at or after 5 hours and cease before 21 hours,

(2) that 7 hours should be the duration of all duties which begin before 19 and also terminate at or after 21 hours or which begin before and end after 5 hours, and

(3) that 6 hours should be the duration of all duties which commence at or after 19 hours and terminate before 5 hours.

9. Effect on weekly term of duty.—These proposals directly raise the question as to the total number of hours which should be considered a week's duty for a signaller. It appears, from a notice, dated the 23rd March 1908, issued by the Director-General of Telegraphs that the number is at present fixed at 50 hours, being 8 hours for each week day and 2 hours on Sundays, and we propose to retain this figure as the number of hours of work to be required weekly of each signaller, on the understanding that, in calculating the total, the periods of the 7 and 6 hours' duties shall be reckoned as equivalent to 8 hours, and subject also to our remarks below regarding the period of Sunday duty. The amount of actual duty done per week works out, in the case of the offices embraced in our enquiry, approximately to 46 hours, and as this figure will increase as the proportion of men on night duty is reduced, it may fairly be estimated that the average number of hours of duty required under the scheme thus modified will, before long, amount to about 47 hours

10 Period of Sunday duty—With regard to the amount of Sunday duty to be rendered before overtime becomes admissible, we may observe that, while we propose to retain the existing period of 2 hours, we are entirely in favour of requiring an average attendance of 2 hours per Sunday, calculated over every 4 consecutive Sundays. Thus, if a signaller works for 8 hours on one Sunday, he should be exempted from duty on the following 3 Sundays, unless his services are absolutely required in which case he should be paid for overtime. This arrangement involves no increase in the amount payable for overtime and is preferable to a compulsory attendance by the whole staff for 2 hours every Sunday, which has proved inconvenient to the men It is clearly desirable that as much relaxation as possible should be given to the men on Sunday, and if the proposals for the reduction of Sunday work, which are now under the consideration of Government, are carried into effect, an average attendance of 2 hours by the entire staff will probably suffice to deal with the traffic in most offices, so that overtime should rarely be required on that day. In this connection, it may be added that the 4 chief holidays, viz, Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Good Friday, and the King's Birthday, should be treated as Sundays and that the term of duty on those days should be fixed at 2 hours

11 Duty charts—Proceeding on the basis of our proposals, we have prepared duty charts for the offices to which our enquiries extended, with the object of showing how the staff in these offices can be arranged to meet the present requirements of the traffic We propose to refer to two points connected with these charts, which are of course subject to alteration in the event of a change in the conditions of the traffic—

(1) Split duties—No split duties have been proposed, as we consider it undesirable to require any portion of the signalling staff of the larger offices to attend more than once on the same day In some of the smaller offices, however, where the work is light, it will probably be found advantageous, in the interests both of the staff and of the traffic to allow split duties

(2) Night duty—If the term of night duty is fixed at 6 hours, as we have proposed, it will be necessary to arrange two duties for the night, one up to, and the other from, about 2 A M. and some of the men comprising both those sets will thus be obliged to sleep on the office premises. The men themselves like this arrangement, and we consider it unobjectionable and even advantageous Where signallers have to sleep on the premises, proper sleeping accommodation should of course be provided and this will involve little expenditure or trouble, as the number of men who will be on night duty will not be large and accommodation already exists at many offices. Our duty charts show that the number of men in the two night sets for the offices concerned is 22 per cent of the total staff and that each signaller will have to perform night duty about two weeks in nine. It will be seen that the second of these duties is in reality a day duty in large part but we have treated it for practical purposes as a night duty. The means which the new system provides for preventing accumulations on working wires by day should keep down at the lowest limit the volume of traffic for disposal by night and with the material reduction in the amount of night work which may be expected to result from the closing of 2nd class offices at 20 hours, instead of 21 hours, it will no doubt be possible to reduce still more appreciably the number of men on night duty and, as a consequence, the frequency with which each man's turn of such duty will recur.

12. Recommendations applicable to all large offices—All our recommendations have been agreed to unanimously by the members of the staff who served on the Committee and by the men who appeared before us at the different centres which we visited We are satisfied that they will adequately meet the difficulties experienced by the staff at those places in connection with the new arrangement of hours of duty and that they accord with the wishes of the general body of the men, a large number of whom have, in fact, signified their acceptance of these proposals in writing and applied to have them introduced as early as possible. The offices visited by us include the largest and most important in India, representing nearly two-fifths of the total signalling establishment, and in the circumstances we feel that we can confidently recommend the general adoption throughout the larger telegraph offices in the country of the principles which we have proposed for regulating the periods of duty. These principles, though also applicable in the main to the smaller offices, will probably require some modification to suit the special local circumstances of such offices.

13 Military telegraphists—We should mention that we considered also the effect of the new duties on military telegraphists, who are largely employed by the Telegraph Department. We had the opportunity of examining representatives of this class of the signalling establishment at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Agra, and we enquired into their case at the Lahore Office, where military telegraphists constitute a considerable proportion of the staff. As the result of our investigations, we found that, in so far as their circumstances are different from those of civil signallers, military telegraphists are not affected in any special way by the recent change in the arrangement of duties. The breakfast and dinner times of these men sometimes fall in one period of duty and when this occurs it will be necessary at some offices to allow them two meal reliefs of 20 minutes each in one turn of 8 hours' duty, as was the practice under the watch system instead of one of 30 minutes as now authorised. We may note that as a body military telegraphists appear to be decidedly in favour of the weekly rotation of duties.

14 Conclusion—Finally, we desire to point out that our recommendations involve no departure from the essential principles of the scheme regarding which we have been appointed to enquire We anticipate the complete realisation of the advantages inherent in that scheme and this expectation is confirmed by the fact that our conclusions have been agreed to by the several officers of the Telegraph Department with whom we discussed the subject, as well as by Mr. Newlands As the duty charts which we have prepared show, our proposals can be given effect to at once without difficulty, and it only remains for us to add that their adoption will necessitate no increase in the existing signalling establishment

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 4th June 1908, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

An area of low pressure appeared over the southeast of the Bay at the beginning of the week and was accompanied by an advance of monsoon winds into Burma, as the low pressure conditions moved up the Bay rainfall in Burma extended rapidly inland and by the 1st June was reported from all parts of the province In northeast India, however, the low pressure in the Bay prevented the usual inflow of moist southerly winds and rainfall was scanty, especially on the 1st and 2nd, and skies were clear or only lightly clouded. By the morning of the 3rd the area of low pressure had disappeared from the Bay and rainfall had commenced to increase in northeast India and decrease in Burma, so that by the 4th it was widespread in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal, but was only local in the interior of Burma. In south India no rain of any importance fell.

Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general over the whole province except on the 29th and 30th May and 4th June, and on these days it was nearly general in Lower Burma Skies were moderately to heavily overcast. Temperature was normal or in defect

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell locally in most parts of the division and was most widespread on the 4th Skies were clear or lightly to moderately clouded and temperature was normal or in excess

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Skies were clear or lightly clouded and temperature was normal or in excess, the excess occurring chiefly in day temperature in the United Provinces

Northwest India.—Skies were clear except in Kashmir, Gujrat and lower Sind Temperature was in defect during the greater part of the week in Baluchistan and Kashmir but was generally normal or in excess elsewhere.

The Peninsula.—A few light falls of rain were reported Skies were clear or lightly clouded. Weather was hotter than usual on the Madras coast and in parts of the Deccan, and temperature was normal over the remainder of the peninsula

4th. Bhamo 1 08", Myitkyina 1 11" and Dibrugarh 3 03".

Burma and the Bay stations were the only areas where the rainfall of the week was above the average The rainfall of the whole period from the 1st May to the 4th June is within 20 per cent of the normal in Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Kashmir, the southwest Punjab, the Madras Deccan and southeast Madras, it is 38 per cent in excess in Mysore and 20 per cent or more in defect elsewhere The deficiency is actually greatest on the West Coast, on the Konkan coast only 0 1" has been received instead of 4·3" and in Malabar 4 6" instead of 11 9".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 30th May 1908.

Burma.—The rainfall of the week was general, being light in some districts; moderate in most and heavy in a few. Ploughing for early autumn rice has extended. In Upper Burma hill-side cultivation and reaping of spring rice has progressed. Cultivation of ground-nuts, early sesamum and cotton is in progress. The condition of standing crops is fair on the whole. The price of unhusked rice rose in two and fell in two districts.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—During the week there was rain again over every part of the Province. In parts of Dacca, Backarganj Tippera, Noakhali, Rangpur and Kamrup the fall was quite heavy. Many stations report unusually hot weather. Weeding of jute and summer rice is everywhere in full progress. Sowing of winter rice continues. Fields are being ploughed ready for transplantation. Harvesting of spring rice continues and that of millet has commenced. Planting of sugarcane is in progress in Assam. Prospects of all crops are improving in most districts but more rain is wanted in Faridpur, Noakhali, Malda, Manipur, the Chittagong Hill Tracts and the Surma Valley. Prospects of tea in Cachar have somewhat improved but red spider and green fly are doing damage in Lakhimpur. Cattle disease is still prevalent in Lower Assam, the Surma Valley, the Jaintia Hills, Backarganj and Dinajpur. Prices of common rice have risen at eleven stations and have fallen at twelve.

Bengal.—Rain fell in all districts, Patna, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh and Palamau excepted. The fall was moderate in the districts of Lower Bengal and in Purnea, Singhbhum and Cooch Behar, and in other districts it was very light. The recent rain has been of benefit in several districts in facilitating the ploughing of lands. Preparation of lands for autumn crops and sowing of jute and some autumn crops are going on. More rain is however still needed for sowing. Prospects of the sugarcane crop and of vegetables are fair. Stocks of food-grains are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Balasore and Palamau. The price of common rice is stationary in most districts, it has risen in Burdwan, Midnapore and Howrah, and has fallen in Gaya, Ranchi and Palamau. The fodder supply is insufficient in Birbhum, Bankura, the Sonthal Parganas, Angul and Balasore, and water scarcity is reported from several districts of the Burdwan and Presidency divisions as well as from the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore, Angul and Manbhum. The condition of cattle is bad in Balasore and deaths are reported from that district due to want of sufficient water and fodder. Ordinary cattle diseases prevail also in Patna, Champaran, Bhagalpur, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau. Test-works have been opened in Bankura, Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore, Cuttack, Balasore, Angul, Puri, Hazaribagh and Ranchi and have been attended by 19,259 persons, of whom 8,174 were in Orissa. 26,742 persons were given gratuitous relief, of whom 20,254 were in Orissa.

United Provinces.—Light rain fell in portions of seven districts nowhere exceeding a few cents. Autumn sowings are well advanced in the hills. Germination is good but more rain is wanted in the plains. Operations for spring crops are completed. Land is being prepared everywhere for autumn crops and early sowings have been made in some places either by canal irrigation or by aid of the recent rain. Sugarcane is being irrigated. Extra crops are being harvested in a number of districts and are being irrigated elsewhere. The outturn of mangoes and melons is good. Markets are well stocked and importation of grain into the hills continues. Prices are generally stationary and continue very high. They have risen slightly in three, and have fallen in two districts. The condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory though shortage of fodder is being felt in parts of Banda, Allahabad, Fatehpur and Jaunsar Bawar. Fodder is sufficient generally but dear. Government hay is being utilized in several districts. The water-supply is short in the uplands of Mirzapur and parts of Banda, Fatehpur, Bara Banki and in the hills.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—There has been a further decrease in the numbers on relief of 18,000, of whom one-half are workers. The change from public to civil works is in general operation and the transference of dependants to gratuitous relief has caused a decrease of 43,000 in the number of dependants and an increase of 34,000 on gratuitous relief. In the less seriously affected districts gratuitous relief is being reduced and in many will shortly terminate. There is a small increase in the number in poor-houses. The marked decrease noted last week in Gonda and Bahraich continues and there is a small decrease in the other seriously affected submontane districts and in Mirzapur. There is an increase in several of the Bundelkhand districts and in Allahabad. The distribution of takavi for seed and cattle has commenced and money has been allotted also for these objects from the Charitable Relief Fund. The condition of the people continues satisfactory, though the mortality is increased by small pox and cholera.

Cholera is reported from fifteen districts and outbreaks have occurred on works in Kheri, Bahraich and Mirzapur. In Mirzapur a special staff has been disinfecting all wells in the infected area. Very little emaciation is reported and there is no noticeable wandering. GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of the Governor General on the 8th June, 1908, and is hereby promulgated for general information —

ACT No. VI OF 1908

An Act further to amend the law relating to explosive substances

WHEREAS it is necessary further to amend the law relating to explosive substances, It is hereby enacted as follows —

Short title, extent and application

1. (1) This Act may be called the Explosive Substances Act, 1908.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India and applies also to—

(a) all native Indian subjects of His Majesty in any place without and beyond British India,

(b) all other British subjects within the territories of any native prince or chief in India

Definition of "explosive substance"

2. In this Act the expression "explosive substance" shall be deemed to include any materials for making any explosive substance, also any apparatus, machine, implement, or material used, or intended to be used, or adapted for causing, or aiding in causing, any explosion in or with any explosive substance, also any part of any such apparatus, machine, or implement.

Punishment for causing explosion likely to endanger life or property

3. Any person who unlawfully and maliciously causes by any explosive substance an explosion of a nature likely to endanger life or to cause serious injury to property shall, whether any injury to person or property has been actually caused or not, be punished with transportation for life or any shorter term, to which fine may be added, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to ten years, to which fine may be added.

Punishment for attempt to cause explosion, or for making or keeping explosive with intent to endanger life or property

4. Any person who unlawfully and maliciously-

(a) does any act with intent to cause by an explosive substance, or conspires to cause by an explosive substance, an explosion in British India of a nature likely to endanger life or to cause serious injury to property, or shall, whether any explosion does or does not take place and whether any injury to person or property has been actually caused or not, be punished with transportation for a term which may extend to twenty years, to which fine may be added, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, to which fine may be added.

(b) makes or has in his possession or under his control any explosive substance with intent by means thereof to endanger life, or cause serious injury to property in British India, or to enable any other person by means thereof to endanger life or cause serious injury to property in British India,

Punishment for making or possessing explosives under suspicious circumstances.

5 Any person who makes or knowingly has in his possession or under his control any explosive substance, under such circumstances as to give rise to a reasonable suspicion that he is not making it or does not have it in his possession or under his control for a lawful object, shall, unless he can show that he made it or had it in his possession or under his control for a lawful object, be punishable with transportation for a term which may extend to fourteen years, to which fine may be added, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years, to which fine may be added

Punishment of abettors.

6. Any person who by the supply of or solicitation for money, the providing of premises, the supply of materials, or in any manner whatsoever, procures, counsels, aids, abets, or is accessory to, the commission of any offence under this Act shall be punished with the punishment provided for the offence.

Restriction on trial of offences.

7. No Court shall proceed to the trial of any person for an offence against this Act except with the consent of the Local Government or the Governor General in Council.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

Recent events have brought prominently to notice the inadequacy of the existing law to deal with crimes committed by means of explosive substances The Indian Explosives Act, 1884, was framed to prevent accidents rather than to prevent crime and its provisions are clearly inadequate to meet the present emergency. No sentence of imprisonment can be imposed under that Act and the maximum penalty is only a fine of three thousand rupees The Indian Arms Act, 1878, though it applies to the possession of explosives as well as arms, is also inadequate in respect both of the penalties it allows and the scope of its provisions for dealing promptly with preparations to manufacture bombs and other explosives The Penal Code provides for the punishment of persons who cause hurt or mischief by means of explosive substances and it also deals with attempts to cause hurt or mischief but only when any act towards the commission of the offence is actually done. But it does not provide any penalty for making or possessing explosive substances with unlawful intent and it does not in other cases always provide such severe penalties as are requisite. The Governor-General in Council therefore considers it necessary to supplement the existing law by an Act on the lines of the English Explosive Substances Act, 1883, which was enacted for the express purpose of dealing with anarchist crimes. The Bill which has been drafted to give effect to this decision provides for the punishment of any person who causes an explosion likely to endanger life or property, or who attempts to cause such an explosion, or makes or has in his possession any explosive substance with intent to endanger life or property. It further makes the manufacture or possession of explosive substances for any other than a lawful object a substantive offence and throws on the person who makes or is in possession of any explosive substance the onus of proving that the making or possession was lawful It also provides adequately for the punishment both of principals and accessories.

Power to annul declaration under Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867

7 Where an order of forfeiture has been made absolute in relation to any newspaper the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, annul any declaration made by the printer or publisher of such newspaper under the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867, and may by such notification prohibit any further declaration being made or subscribed under the said Act in respect of the said newspaper, or of any newspaper which is the same in substance as the said newspaper, until such prohibition be withdrawn.

Penalty.

8. Any person who prints or publishes any newspaper specified in any prohibition notified under section 7 during the continuance of that prohibition shall be liable, on conviction, to the penalties prescribed by section 15 of the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867.

Application of Code of Criminal Procedure.

9. All proceedings under this Act shall be conducted so far as may be in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

Operation of other laws not barred

10 No proceedings taken under this Act shall operate to prevent any person from being prosecuted for any act which constitutes an offence under any other law.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

The circumstances of the recent outrages by means of explosive substances have disclosed a close connexion between the perpetrators of such outrages and certain newspapers which have from time to time published criminal incitements. Experience has shown that prosecution under the existing law is inadequate to prevent the publication of these incitements. In the case of one newspaper, persons registered as printer and publisher have been within a comparatively short period prosecuted and convicted several times, while the real authors of the incitements have concealed their identity This newspaper notwithstanding these prosecutions continues to exist and to pursue its criminal course. Nor is it a solitary instance of the kind

It has therefore become necessary to make better provision for the prevention of such incitements in newspapers. The scope of the present Bill is confined to incitements to murder, to offences under the Explosive Substances Act, 1908, and to acts of violence It gives power in such cases to confiscate the printing press used in the production of the newspaper, and to stop the lawful issue of the newspaper.

The procedure adopted in the Bill follows the general lines of that provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure for dealing with public nuisances, with the important addition that the final order of the Magistrate directing the forfeiture of the press is appealable to the High Court within fifteen days It is further provided that no action can be taken against a press save on the application of a Local Government.

When an order of forfeiture has been made by the Magistrate, but only in that case, the local Government is empowered to annul the declaration made by the printer and publisher of the newspaper under the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867, and thereafter neither that newspaper nor any other which is the same in substance can be published without a breach of the law.

It is also provided that no proceedings taken under the Bill shall bar the prosecution of any person for any act which constitutes an offence under any other law.

TELEGRAPH ESTABLISHMENT.

No. 5251—5252—87.

The 4th June, 1908.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

In a resolution No 3859-3873, dated the 22nd April 1908, the Government of India appointed a Committee to examine and report on the working of the new arrangement of the hours of duty in the Indian Telegraph Department, which was introduced on the 1st April 1908.

2 The Report of the Committee has now been received and is appended to this Resolution The Committee have satisfied themselves that while modifications in detail are necessary, owing to the trying character of night work in India, the principle on which the new arrangement of hours is based is sound and workable, and the arrangement itself is a great improvement on the former system The revised scheme of duties therefore, which the Committee recommend, retains the 50 hours week as the basis of the system, but provides that six hours of night work shall be treated as eight hours and that, in the case of a period of duty performed partly by night and partly by day, seven hours shall count as eight hours.

3 The Government of India accept the recommendations of the Committee In the case of the offices visited by them detailed proposals for the arrangements of the hours of work have been made and these will be brought into force at once In the case of other first-class offices, the Director-General of Telegraphs will take immediate steps to have duty-charts drawn up on the same principles.

4 The inquiries of the Committee were conducted in close communication with the members of the signalling establishment of seven of the principal telegraph offices of India and Burma, and the Government of India notice with pleasure that the staff has in every instance accepted the conclusions unanimously arrived at by the Committee. They desire to acknowledge the thorough and careful manner in which the work of the Committee has been done, and they believe that the new system, as modified by the Committee, will be found to be a great improvement on the former system both as regards the comfort of the staff and the prompt disposal of traffic.

ORDERED, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director-General of Telegraphs for necessary action, and that it be published in the Gazette of India.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY RESOLUTION No. 3869-3873, DATED THE 22ND APRIL 1908, TO ENQUIRE INTO HOURS OF DUTY IN THE TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT.

Introduction.—In compliance with the instructions conveyed in the Resolution of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 3869-3873, dated the 22nd April 1908, we have examined the working of the new arrangement of the hours of duty in the Telegraph Department and beg to submit the following report.

2. Tours of Committee and method of enquiry.—We commenced the enquiry on the 24th April and completed it on the 28th May, and during this period we visited the principal telegraph offices of the country in the order in which they are shown in the margin. As directed in the Government Resolution, a member of the local staff selected by the Superintendent in consultation with the men, was associated with us at each centre and these officials were of the greatest assistance to us in our enquiries. Full opportunity was given to the staff to submit any representations, written or verbal, which they desired to make, and about 70 of the men appeared before us at the several places and in a reasonable spirit acquainted us with their views, in addition to which printed statements of their case were handed to us by the staff at Madras, Allahabad, Rangoon and Lahore. The results of our enquiries at the different centres visited are embodied in separate memoranda, signed in each case by the local official who served on the Committee as well as by ourselves.

3. Brief description of scheme under enquiry.—The scheme of duties under examination is based on the principle of dividing the staff of an office into small sets with equal periods of duty and arranging their hours of attendance with the object of ensuring that the number of men at work shall, at all times of the day and night, be proportionate to the actual amount of traffic. With proper supervision, therefore, it makes for the utmost efficiency and expedition in the disposal of traffic, while it has the important result of reducing to a minimum the proportion of the staff required for duty at night, when work is lightest. The duties of the several sets can readily be re-adjusted to suit variations in the traffic without disorganising the arrangements in the office, and a salient feature of this system is its elasticity and adaptability to any conditions. It thus enables the establishment of an office to be utilised to the best advantage, so that with the same staff a much larger outturn of work may be secured than was possible under the old system. Moreover, not the least favourable effect of the new system is that it introduces as much regularity as it is found possible to provide in the times for duty and rest for the staff by giving all the men a turn of each period of duty for 6 days in succession, instead of the constant harassing changes to which the men were subject formerly.

4. Short account of watch system.—Under the old system, the staff of an office was divided into 3 sets or watches, approximately of equal strength, which worked in rotation. In some offices "special" or fixed daily duties were assigned to a small proportion of the staff, but the three main duties, in the order in which they rotated for each set of men, were as follows:

1st day	8 A.M.	to 4 P.M.	.. 8 hours.
2nd day	... 9 P.M.	to 8 A.M.	... 11 "
3rd day	. 4 P.M.	to 9 P.M.	.. 5 "

and so on every day in succession including Sundays. In addition, therefore, to the hours of attendance changing daily, the periods of duty and rest were very unequal. A term of attendance extending to 11 hours, during which the signallers were ordinarily permitted to sleep for 3 or 4 hours, occurred every third night and was succeeded by an interval of only 8 hours' relief, from 8 A.M. to 4 P.M., during which it was difficult for the men to get proper rest. The system, moreover, was not well adapted to the conditions of traffic, which, though fairly constant in volume at the same hours from day to day, fluctuates greatly during the different hours of the same day. It thus happened that the force on night duty was in excess of actual requirements, while that on duty during the busiest portion of the day was usually inadequate to cope with the traffic, with the result that much of it was delayed and left over for disposal at night.

5. Recommendation for permanent retention of new system.—For these reasons, we are unanimously of opinion that the new system of arranging the hours of duty is thoroughly sound in principle, is undoubtedly superior to the old system of watches and should be maintained permanently, with the modifications which will shortly be explained.

6. Objections of staff to new system.—Turning now to the objections on the part of the staff to the scheme recently introduced, we found that they were at root the same everywhere and related chiefly to the uniform period of 8 hours which had been fixed for all duties, whether by night or by day. It was urged that 8 hours' continuous duty, rendered wholly or in great part by night, is excessive, especially when performed on 6 consecutive nights, and it was also represented that the duties from 14 to 22 and 15 to 23 hours are very exacting, including as they do, the busiest and most exhausting time of the day, viz., the afternoon and evening, and extending well into the night. In connection with the latter term of duty it appeared further that the men relieved at 23 hours find it difficult to get to their homes, particularly in the large cities. The officers of the Telegraph Department, whom we consulted, confirmed the statements of the staff on these points, and we may say at once that we are fully satisfied that substantial grounds exist for the representations made.

7. Suggestions of staff.—While these objections were consistently brought to our notice at every stage of our enquiry, the staff of the different offices were by no means of one opinion as to the remedy that should be adopted. We need not refer to all the various suggestions which we received, as many of them were obviously impracticable and few were seriously pressed. We may mention, however, that at Bombay, we were asked to recommend the adoption of the 6 hours' watch system which is in force in the office of the Eastern Telegraph Cable Company there, but, as will be seen from the memorandum of our proceedings at that place, the system is wholly unsuited for Government Telegraph Offices, where the conditions of traffic are entirely different from those in the Eastern Telegraph Cable Company's Office. A feeling also existed at some offices in favour of a daily, instead of a weekly, rotation of duties, but this practically involved a reversion to the old system and the idea was abandoned, when we pointed out the intrinsic advantages of a weekly system of regular periods of duty and rest and explained how the new duties could be modified to meet the special difficulties in connection with night work which the staff are experiencing.

8. Modifications in new scheme proposed by Committee.—As already observed, we are convinced of the necessity for introducing some modifications in the terms of duty now fixed and the question of the actual changes to be made has received our careful consideration. Regarding continuous night duty, we have made enquiries from many officers of the Telegraph Department, and, privately, from various other persons unconnected with that Department who were qualified to speak on the subject, and the almost unanimous opinion of these consulted is that 6 hours would be a reasonable term for such duty. We fully share this view and recommend that the period of continuous night duty should be fixed at 6 hours. As regards duties which are performed to any considerable extent by night, the conclusion at which we have arrived is that 7 hours would be a suitable term to fix. Our complete proposals for regulating the periods of duty are:—

(1) that 8 hours should be the duration of all duties which commence at or after 5 hours and cease before 21 hours;

(2) that 7 hours should be the duration of all duties which begin before 19 and also terminate at or after 21 hours or which begin before and end after 5 hours; and

(3) that 6 hours should be the duration of all duties which commence at or after 19 hours and terminate before 5 hours.

9. Effect on weekly term of duty.—These proposals directly raise the question as to the total number of hours which should be considered a week's duty for a signaller. It appears, from a notice, dated the 23rd March 1908, issued by the Director-General of Telegraphs that the number is at present fixed at 50 hours, being 8 hours for each week day and 2 hours on Sundays, and we propose to retain this figure as the number of hours of work to be required weekly of each signaller, on the understanding that, in calculating the total, the periods of the 7 and 6 hours' duties shall be reckoned as equivalent to 8 hours, and subject also to our remarks below regarding the period of Sunday duty. The amount of actual duty done per week works out, in the case of the offices embraced in our enquiry, approximately to 46 hours, and as this figure will increase as the proportion of men on night duty is reduced, it may fairly be estimated that the average number of hours of duty required under the scheme thus modified will, before long, amount to about 47 hours.

10 Period of Sunday duty —With regard to the amount of Sunday duty to be rendered before overtime becomes admissible, we may observe that, while we propose to retain the existing period of 2 hours, we are entirely in favour of requiring an average attendance of 2 hours per Sunday, calculated over every 4 consecutive Sundays. Thus, if a signaller works for 8 hours on one Sunday, he should be exempted from duty on the following 3 Sundays, unless his services are absolutely required, in which case he should be paid for overtime. This arrangement involves no increase in the amount payable for overtime and is preferable to a compulsory attendance by the whole staff for 2 hours every Sunday, which has proved inconvenient to the men It is clearly desirable that as much relaxation as possible should be given to the men on Sunday, and if the proposals for the reduction of Sunday work, which are now under the consideration of Government, are carried into effect, an average attendance of 2 hours by the entire staff will probably suffice to deal with the traffic in most offices, so that overtime should rarely be required on that day. In this connection, it may be added that the 4 chief holidays, viz, Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Good Friday, and the King's Birthday, should be treated as Sundays and that the term of duty on those days should be fixed at 2 hours.

11 Duty charts —Proceeding on the basis of our proposals, we have prepared duty charts for the offices to which our enquiries extended, with the object of showing how the staff in these offices can be arranged to meet the present requirements of the traffic We propose to refer to two points connected with these charts, which are of course subject to alteration in the event of a change in the conditions of the traffic—

(1) Split duties.—No split duties have been proposed, as we consider it undesirable to require any portion of the signalling staff of the larger offices to attend more than once on the same day. In some of the smaller offices, however, where the work is light, it will probably be found advantageous, in the interests both of the staff and of the traffic to allow split duties

(2) Night duty —If the term of night duty is fixed at 6 hours, as we have proposed, it will be necessary to arrange two duties for the night, one up to, and the other from, about 2 A M. and some of the men comprising both those sets will thus be obliged to sleep on the office premises. The men themselves like this arrangement, and we consider it unobjectionable and even advantageous Where signallers have to sleep on the premises, proper sleeping accommodation should of course be provided and this will involve little expenditure or trouble, as the number of men who will be on night duty will not be large and accommodation already exists at many offices. Our duty charts show that the number of men in the two night sets for the offices concerned is 22 per cent. of the total staff and that each signaller will have to perform night duty about two weeks in nine It will be seen that the second of these duties is in reality a day duty in large part, but we have treated it for practical purposes as a night duty. The means which the new system provides for preventing accumulations on working wires by day should keep down at the lowest limit the volume of traffic for disposal by night and with the material reduction in the amount of night work which may be expected to result from the closing of 2nd class offices at 20 hours instead of 21 hours, it will no doubt be possible to reduce still more appreciably the number of men on night duty and, as a consequence, the frequency with which each man's turn of such duty will recur.

12 Recommendations applicable to all large offices—All our recommendations have been agreed to unanimously by the members of the staff who served on the Committee and by the men who appeared before us at the different centres which we visited We are satisfied that they will adequately meet the difficulties experienced by the staff at those places in connection with the new arrangement of hours of duty and that they accord with the wishes of the general body of the men, a large number of whom have, in fact, signified their acceptance of these proposals in writing and applied to have them introduced as early as possible. The offices visited by us include the largest and most important in India, representing nearly two-fifths of the total signalling establishment, and in the circumstances we feel that we can confidently recommend the general adoption throughout the larger telegraph offices in the country of the principles which we have proposed for regulating the periods of duty These principles, though also applicable in the main to the smaller offices, will probably require some modification to suit the special local circumstances of such offices

13 Military telegraphists—We should mention that we considered also the effect of the new duties on military telegraphists, who are largely employed by the Telegraph Department. We had the opportunity of examining representatives of this class of the signalling establishment at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Agra, and we enquired into their case at the Lahore Office, where military telegraphists constitute a considerable proportion of the staff. As the result of our investigations, we found that, in so far as their circumstances are different from those of civil signallers, military telegraphists are not affected in any special way by the recent change in the arrangement of duties The breakfast and dinner times of these men sometimes fall in one period of duty and when this occurs it will be necessary at some offices to allow them two meal reliefs of 20 minutes each in one turn of 8 hours' duty, as was the practice under the watch system, instead of one of 30 minutes as now authorised. We may note that as a body military telegraphists appear to be decidedly in favour of the weekly rotation of duties.

14 Conclusion—Finally, we desire to point out that our recommendations involve no departure from the essential principles of the scheme regarding which we have been appointed to enquire. We anticipate the complete realisation of the advantages inherent in that scheme and this expectation is confirmed by the fact that our conclusions have been agreed to by the several officers of the Telegraph Department with whom we discussed the subject, as well as by Mr Newlands As the duty charts which we have prepared show, our proposals can be given effect to at once without difficulty, and it only remains for us to add that their adoption will necessitate no increase in the existing signalling establishment

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 4th June 1908, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

An area of low pressure appeared over the southeast of the Bay at the beginning of the week and was accompanied by an advance of monsoon winds into Burma, as the low pressure conditions moved up the Bay rainfall in Burma extended rapidly inland and by the 1st June was reported from all parts of the province. In northeast India, however, the low pressure in the Bay prevented the usual inflow of moist southerly winds and rainfall was scanty, especially on the 1st and 2nd, and skies were clear or only lightly clouded. By the morning of the 3rd the area of low pressure had disappeared from the Bay and rainfall had commenced to increase in northeast India and decrease in Burma, so that by the 4th it was widespread in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal, but was only local in the interior of Burma. In south India no rain of any importance fell.

Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general over the whole province except on the 29th and 30th May and 4th June, and on these days it was nearly general in Lower Burma Skies were moderately to heavily overcast. Temperature was normal or in defect

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell locally in most parts of the division and was most widespread on the 4th Skies were clear or lightly to moderately clouded and temperature was normal or in excess.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Skies were clear or lightly clouded and temperature was normal or in excess, the excess occurring chiefly in day temperature in the United Provinces

Northwest India.—Skies were clear except in Kashmir, Gujarat and lower Sind Temperature was in defect during the greater part of the week in Baluchistan and Kashmir but was generally normal or in excess elsewhere.

The Peninsula.—A few light falls of rain were reported. Skies were clear or lightly clouded. Weather was hotter than usual on the Madras coast and in parts of the Deccan, and temperature was normal over the remainder of the peninsula

May 29th Monywa 1·3?" and Calcutta 1·03".

„ 30th Tavoy 2·56" and Rangoon 3·19".

„ 31st. Mergui 4·50", Tavoy 2·35", Mandalay 2·10" and Jalpaiguri 1·68".

June 1st. Thayetmyo 2·58", Minbu 1·65" and Yamethin 1·22".

„ 2nd. Mergui 3·10", Toungoo 1·64", Yamethin 2·15" and Mandalay 1·15".

„ 3rd. Mergui 2·58", Moulmein 1·79", Akyab 1·74", Lashio 2·04" and Gauhati 1·92".

„ 4th. Bhamo 1·08", Myitkyina 1·11" and Dibrugarh 3·03".

Burma and the Bay stations were the only areas where the rainfall of the week was above the average The rainfall of the whole period from the 1st May to the 4th June is within 20 per cent of the normal in Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Kashmir, the southwest Punjab, the Madras Deccan and southeast Madras, it is 38 per cent. in excess in Mysore and 20 per cent or more in defect elsewhere The deficiency is actually greatest on the West Coast, on the Konkan coast only 0·1" has been received instead of 4·3" and in Malabar 4·6" instead of 11·9".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 30th May 1908.

Burma.—The rainfall of the week was general, being light in some districts; moderate in most and heavy in a few Ploughing for early autumn rice has extended In Upper Burma hill-side cultivation and reaping of spring rice has progressed. Cultivation of groundnuts, early sesamum and cotton is in progress. The condition of standing crops is fair on the whole. The price of unhusked rice rose in two and fell in two districts.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—During the week there was rain again over every part of the Province In parts of Dacca, Backarganj, Tippera, Noakhali, Rangpur and Kamrup the fall was quite heavy Many stations report unusually hot weather. Weeding of jute and summer rice is everywhere in full progress Sowing of winter rice continues Fields are being ploughed ready for transplantation Harvesting of spring rice continues and that of millet has commenced Planting of sugarcane is in progress in Assam Prospects of all crops are improving in most districts but more rain is wanted in Faridpur, Noakhali, Malda, Manipur, the Chittagong Hill Tracts and the Surma Valley Prospects of tea in Cachar have somewhat improved but red spider and green fly are doing damage in Lakhimpur Cattle disease is still prevalent in Lower Assam, the Surma Valley, the Jaintia Hills, Backarganj and Dinajpur. Prices of common rice have risen at eleven stations and have fallen at twelve.

Bengal.—Rain fell in all districts, Patna, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh and Palamau excepted. The fall was moderate in the districts of Lower Bengal and in Purnea, Singhbhum and Cooch Behar, and in other districts it was very light. The recent rain has been of benefit in several districts in facilitating the ploughing of lands Preparation of lands for autumn crops and sowing of jute and some autumn crops are going on. More rain is however still needed for sowing Prospects of the sugarcane crop and of vegetables are fair Stocks of food-grains are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Balasore and Palamau The price of common rice is stationary in most districts, it has risen in Burdwan, Midnapore and Howrah, and has fallen in Gaya, Ranchi and Palamau. TELEGRAPHS.

The 11th June, 1908

No 5527—5529—160.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry

In December 1907 a system of deposit accounts was introduced for the convenience of firms and individuals, who in the course of their business frequently find it necessary to ask for the repetition of telegraphic messages The Government of India have had under their consideration the question whether the same system should not be applied to the despatch of telegrams of all classes by members of the public, and from the enquiries which have been made they believe that the system would, if introduced, be largely used by those persons who despatch a large number of telegrams during the year

2 It has therefore been decided that the deposit system for the despatch of telegrams shall be introduced with effect from the 1st July 1908 The Director General of Telegraphs will before that date announce the detailed arrangements that have been made and the minimum deposit that will be required

3 A commission of one per cent. will be levied on the value of the telegrams despatched under this system in order to cover the cost of maintaining the accounts.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be communicated to the Director General of Telegraphs and the Examiner of Telegraph Accounts Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India, for general information.

PART IV

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of the Governor General on the 8th June, 1908, and is hereby promulgated for general information

ACT NO VI OF 1908

An Act further to amend the law relating to explosive substances

WHEREAS it is necessary further to amend the law relating to explosive substances, It is hereby enacted as follows

Short title, extent and application

1\. (1) This Act may be called the Explosive Substances Act, 1908.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India and applies also to—

(a) all native Indian subjects of His Majesty in any place without and beyond British India,

(b) all other British subjects within the territories of any native prince or chief in India.

Definition of "explosive substance"

2 In this Act the expression "explosive substance" shall be deemed to include any materials for making any explosive substance, also any apparatus, machine, implement, or material used, or intended to be used, or adapted for causing, or aiding in causing, any explosion in or with any explosive substance, also any part of any such apparatus, machine, or implement.

Punishment for causing explosion likely to endanger life or property

3 Any person who unlawfully and maliciously causes by any explosive substance an explosion of a nature likely to endanger life or to cause serious injury to property shall, whether any injury to person or property has been actually caused or not, be punished with transportation for life or any shorter term, to which fine may be added, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to ten years, to which fine may be added.

Punishment for attempt to cause explosion or for making or keeping explosive with intent to endanger life or property

4 Any person who unlawfully and maliciously—

(a) does any act with intent to cause by an explosive substance, or conspires to cause by an explosive substance, an explosion in British India of a nature likely to endanger life or to cause serious injury to property, or shall, whether any explosion does or does not take place and whether any injury to person or property has been actually caused or not, be punished with transportation for a term which may extend to twenty years, to which fine may be added, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, to which fine may be added.

(b) makes or has in his possession or under his control any explosive substance with intent by means thereof to endanger life, or cause serious injury to property in British India, or to enable any other person by means thereof to endanger life or cause serious injury to property in British India,

Punishment for making or possessing explosives under suspicious circumstances

5. Any person who makes or knowingly has in his possession or under his control any explosive substance, under such circumstances as to give rise to a reasonable suspicion that he is not making it or does not have it in his possession or under his control for a lawful object, shall, unless he can show that he made it or had it in his possession or under his control for a lawful object, be punishable with transportation for a term which may extend to fourteen years, to which fine may be added, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years, to which fine may be added

Punishment of abettors

6 Any person who by the supply of or solicitation for money, the providing of premises, the supply of materials, or in any manner whatsoever, procures, counsels, aids, abets, or is accessory to, the commission of any offence under this Act shall be punished with the punishment provided for the offence.

Restriction on trial of offences.

7. No Court shall proceed to the trial of any person for an offence against this Act except with the consent of the Local Government or the Governor General in Council.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

Recent events have brought prominently to notice the inadequacy of the existing law to deal with crimes committed by means of explosive substances The Indian Explosives Act, 1884, was framed to prevent accidents rather than to prevent crime and its provisions are clearly inadequate to meet the present emergency No sentence of imprisonment can be imposed under that Act and the maximum penalty is only a fine of three thousand rupees The Indian Arms Act, 1878, though it applies to the possession of explosives as well as arms, is also inadequate in respect both of the penalties it allows and the scope of its provisions for dealing promptly with preparations to manufacture bombs and other explosives The Penal Code provides for the punishment of persons who cause hurt or mischief by means of explosive substances and it also deals with attempts to cause hurt or mischief but only when any act towards the commission of the offence is actually done. But it does not provide any penalty for making or possessing explosive substances with unlawful intent and it does not in other cases always provide such severe penalties as are requisite. The Governor-General in Council therefore considers it necessary to supplement the existing law by an Act on the lines of the English Explosive Substances Act, 1883, which was enacted for the express purpose of dealing with anarchist crimes The Bill which has been drafted to give effect to this decision provides for the punishment of any person who causes an explosion likely to endanger life or property, or who attempts to cause such an explosion, or makes or has in his possession any explosive substance with intent to endanger life or property It further makes the manufacture or possession of explosive substances for any other than a lawful object a substantive offence and throws on the person who makes or is in possession of any explosive substance the onus of proving that the making or possession was lawful. It also provides adequately for the punishment both of principals and accessories.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of the Governor General on the 8th June, 1908, and is hereby promulgated for general information

Penalty

8 Any person who prints or publishes any newspaper specified in any prohibition notified under section 7 during the continuance of that prohibition shall be liable, on conviction, to the penalties prescribed by section 15 of the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867

Application of Code of Criminal Procedure.

9. All proceedings under this Act shall be conducted so far as may be in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898

Operation of other laws not barred

10 No proceedings taken under this Act shall operate to prevent any person from being prosecuted for any act which constitutes an offence under any other law.

Statement of Objects and Reasons

The circumstances of the recent outrages by means of explosive substances have disclosed a close connexion between the perpetrators of such outrages and certain newspapers which have from time to time published criminal incitements Experience has shown that prosecution under the existing law is inadequate to prevent the publication of these incitements In the case of one newspaper, persons registered as printer and publisher have been within a comparatively short period prosecuted and convicted several times, while the real authors of the incitements have concealed their identity This newspaper notwithstanding these prosecutions continues to exist and to pursue its criminal course Nor is it a solitary instance of the kind

It has therefore become necessary to make better provision for the prevention of such incitements in newspapers The scope of the present Bill is confined to incitements to murder, to offences under the Explosive Substances Act, 1908, and to acts of violence It gives power in such cases to confiscate the printing press used in the production of the newspaper, and to stop the lawful issue of the newspaper

The procedure adopted in the Bill follows the general lines of that provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure for dealing with public nuisances, with the important addition that the final order of the Magistrate directing the forfeiture of the press is appealable to the High Court within fifteen days It is further provided that no action can be taken against a press save on the application of a Local Government

When an order of forfeiture has been made by the Magistrate, but only in that case, the Local Government is empowered to annul the declaration made by the printer and publisher of the newspaper under the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867, and thereafter neither that newspaper nor any other which is the same in substance can be published without a breach of the law.

It is also provided that no proceedings taken under the Bill shall bar the prosecution of any person for any act which constitutes an offence under any other law

Payment of duty in certain cases

2 Where by any enactment any duty is imposed on any salt manufactured in or imported into or transported within British India, the Governor General in Council or the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, make rules providing for the payment of such duty within a period not exceeding six months from the date on which payment is due, and for the furnishing of security for such payment, and salt may be manufactured, imported or transported in accordance with rules so made as if the duty payable thereon had been paid.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

UNDER the credit system for the payment of duty on salt which prevails in Madras and Bombay, salt is issued to merchants without requiring them to make immediate payment of the duty, the procedure being that they execute a bond and deposit securities and that their accounts are made up and settled periodically The Salt Committee of 1904 recommended that a similar system should be adopted in the areas of Bengal in which there is no water communication, and the Governments of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam have expressed themselves in favour of its introduction.

2 In Madras and Bombay the system has been found of value in facilitating the distribution of salt and in reducing its price to the consumer The Government of India consider therefore that its extension to other part of India is desirable They do not propose to restrict it to the areas contemplated by the Salt Committee, but would allow any Local Government to adopt the credit system within its territories, and to make the necessary rules and conditions The present Bill has been framed to permit of this

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 8th June, 1908

NO 6 OF 1908

A Bill to amend the Local Authorities Loan Act, 1904

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Local Authorities Loan Act, 1904, It is hereby enacted as follows — III of 1904.

1 This Act may be called the Local Authorities Loan (Amendment) Act, 1908 Short title

2 In section 2 of the Local Authorities Loan Act, 1904, for the words "bills repayable" the words "bills or promissory notes payable" shall be substituted, and in the proviso to the same section, after the word "bills" the words "or promissory notes" shall be inserted Amendment of section 2 Act III, 1904

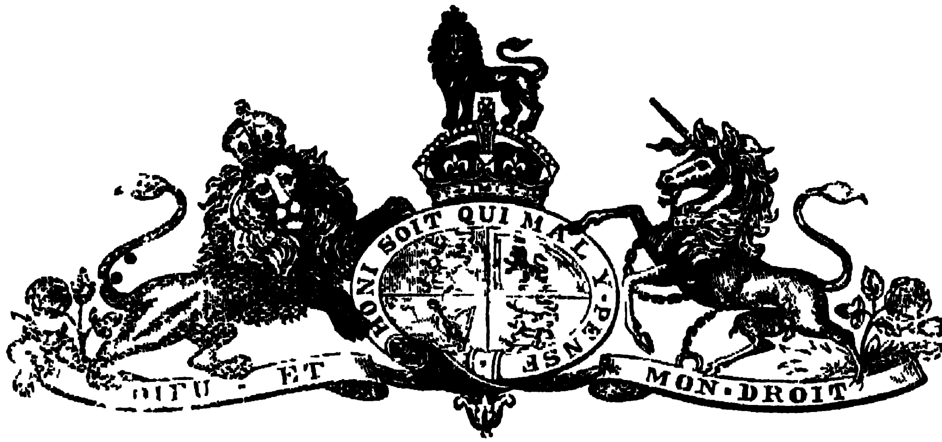

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Local Authorities Loan Act, 1904 (III of 1904), enables certain local authorities to borrow money by means of the issue of short-term bills In practice it has been found that the documents on which local authorities raise such loans are promissory notes in form, and it is doubtful whether the bodies concerned are in a position to give "bills" in the ordinary banking and mercantile sense of the term It is accordingly proposed to remove all ambiguity by providing that the local authorities to whom the Act applies may give promissory notes as security for short loans

INDIAN SALT-DUTIES BILL.

The Hon'ble MR BAKER moved for leave to introduce a Bill to make special provision for the payment of duty on salt in certain cases He said — "My Lord, under an arrangement which is at present confined to the Madras and Bombay Presidencies, merchants who buy salt from Government sources are allowed credit for payment of the duty; they deposit adequate security, and their accounts are cleared every six months, or at shorter intervals if so arranged. The system has worked well and smoothly, it tends to cheapen salt to the consumer and to facilitate its distribution. The Bill now presented is intended to allow of the extension of the same system to other parts of India."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR BAKER moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The motion was put and agreed to

LOCAL AUTHORITIES' LOAN (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR BAKER moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Local Authorities' Loan Act, 1904 He said —" My Lord, that Act was passed to enable certain local authorities to borrow money by means of the issue of short-term bills In practice it has been found that in some cases the documents on which the loans are sought to be raised are promissory notes in form, rather than bills in the ordinary banking and commercial sense. Doubts have been expressed whether the word 'bills' is strictly sufficient to include promissory notes, and though no practical difficulty has arisen, it seems expedient to amend the Act so as to place the matter beyond doubt "

The motion was put and agreed to

The Hon'ble MR BAKER introduced the Bill

The Hon'ble MR BAKER moved that the Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, be published in English in the Gazette of India and in the Fort St George Gazette, the Bombay Government Gazette, the Calcutta Gazette and the Burma Gazette.

The motion was put and agreed to

EXPLOSIVE SUBSTANCES BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON moved for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the law relating to explosive substances He said —" My Lord, I do not think that I need explain to the Council at any length the reasons why the Government of India have thought it necessary to introduce a Bill to deal with explosive substances

" The nature of the danger which we have to meet has been revealed in the recent attempts to derail by explosive bombs the train of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, in the attempt on the life of the Maire of Chandernagore, in the terrible murders of two ladies at Muzaffarpur, in the discovery of a bomb factory in Calcutta, in the subsequent attempt to destroy a tramway car, and in the deposit of a bomb of great power in the precincts of a church, and last but not least in the revelations as to the objects of certain newspapers whose aim is to incite to assassination The nature of the dangers which we have to meet is known to everybody in and out of this Council The present Bill deals with the danger in respect of explosive substances I propose subsequently to introduce a Bill dealing with dangerous newspapers We have to cope with an organised band consisting unhappily not of the men of the lower criminal classes, but educated men who are banded together against all the interests that keep society alive, men who like pirates are the enemies of the human race Knowing the danger before us—a danger which in India is new—we must meet it by new remedies, not in the spirit of panic, but in a cool and resolute spirit and with a determination to strangle those plans and put down the authors of them The first line of defence we have against these dangers is to be found in the police, and I desire in the first place to pay my tribute to the splendid services which the police of Bengal have within the last few weeks rendered to the cause of society. The next line of defence which we have is to be found in the penalties of the law. First we have the Explosives Act of 1884. But that Act is not directed against persons possessing explosives with a criminal object. It is intended to defend life and property against the reckless or careless use of a dangerous commodity. The highest penalty in the Act is a fine of three thousand rupees. Next we have the Arms Act of 1878. The penalties in it are directed against the unlicensed manufacture or possession of arms, ammunition or military stores, and the maximum punishment is imprisonment for three years, except where the criminal act is done in such a manner as to indicate an intention that such act may not be known to a public servant, in which case the maximum punishment is imprisonment for seven years. These punishments are obviously insufficient for the making or possession of explosives with the intent to endanger life or to cause serious injury to property, even if the act itself could always be brought within the provisions of the Arms Act. Finally, we have the Indian Penal Code which provides only for the actual committing of hurt or mischief by an explosive substance, and in which the punishment has various ranges up to transportation for life, dependent on the extent of hurt or damage which it is intended to commit. Here again the remedy is inoperative, because no offence has been committed until an attempt has been made to commit hurt or mischief, and in that attempt some overt act has been done. It must therefore be perfectly obvious to any one that the existing law is not sufficient to meet the new emergency which has arisen, and I think it unnecessary to enlarge on this aspect of the case. The defects of the existing law it is the object of this Bill to amend, and I think I shall best do what is useful by simply going through the Bill. Where an explosion takes place which leads to the loss of life, that is not dealt with in the Bill. It is not necessary to do so because if a man produces an explosion by which life is lost he is guilty of murder, and would be dealt with for murder without the Bill. The third clause of the Bill deals with an explosion which has not caused loss of life, but with the case where an explosion has actually taken place. It is wide enough to include any serious explosion, because no explosion of a serious character could fail to be described as one likely to endanger life or to cause serious injury to property. It provides a penalty which may extend to transportation for life or to imprisonment for ten years, and I am sure that no one will think that this is a penalty which is too severe for the offence. The fourth clause of the Bill deals with the case where there has not been an explosion, but where there has been an intent and an attempt to cause an explosion. It also includes the making or possession of explosives with intent to endanger life or property. That is a degree lower because the explosion has not actually taken place. In either case the intent has to be proved, and when such an intent has been proved, no one will say that the maximum penalty, which is transportation for twenty years or imprisonment for seven years, is too high. The fifth clause relates to the making or possession of explosives under suspicious circumstances. I will read it—

'Any person who makes or knowingly has in his possession or under his control any explosive substance under such circumstances as to give rise to a reasonable suspicion that he is not making or does not have it in his possession or under his control for a lawful object, shall unless he can show that he made it or had it in his possession or under his control for a lawful object, be punishable.'

"In the first place, the prosecution must raise a reasonable suspicion as to the conduct of the man who makes an explosive or has it in his possession and having raised that suspicion then it is thrown on the prisoner to show that he made or had it in his possession for a lawful object. It is perfectly justifiable when reasonable suspicion has been shown to exist with reference to the conduct of people who cannot or else will not give any account of themselves, or why they are in possession of a commodity which even by mere carelessness may be destructive of thousands of lives and of an unlimited amount of property, that they should be called upon to show the reason why they are possessed of these things. This legislation is not of an unexampled character. It is part of the permanent law of this country. In the presidency-towns, if a man is found in the night armed with a dangerous and offensive weapon or having in his possession without lawful excuse—proof of which excuse lies upon him—any implement of house-breaking, then he shall be convicted. If a man may be called upon to show the reason why he has a picklock in his possession, I think he may be called upon to show also by what right he possesses a hundred weight of nitro-glycerine, and therefore I say this legislation is founded on exactly the same principle as that of our existing and permanent law, and no objection whatever can be taken to this clause on that ground In consideration of the fact that the onus of proof is thrown on the accused we have followed the English law and put a lower penalty upon the offence in this clause, the maximum being transportation for 14 years or imprisonment for five years.

"The sixth clause is one which is perhaps partly covered by the permanent law of abetment. But it is desirable that public attention should be called to the fact that it is not only the man who makes an explosive or the man who places it where an explosion takes place, who is guilty of a crime, but that every man who supplies money or solicits money for the purpose or in any way procures, counsels, aids, abets or is accessory to the commission of an offence under this Act is liable to suffer exactly the same penalty as if he had been guilty as a principal

"I now come to clause 7 where there is a protection against innocent people being vexed under this Bill, and that is, that no Court shall proceed to trial of any offender without the sanction of the Local Government, and therefore if through the police or otherwise an innocent man is arrested and gives an account of himself, the whole matter will if necessary go before the Local Government and the proceedings will come to an end.

"There remains the definition clause, which is a clause of great importance. The expression 'explosive substance' applies not merely to explosives themselves, but, what is absolutely essential, it applies to all their materials. If you do not do that, you do nothing If you allow a man to have in one room sulphuric acid, in another room nitric acid, and in another room glycerine and you are to await till he combines the three, he will defy your law It is absolutely necessary that all the materials which may be used in the composition of explosives should be brought within the scope of the law I am well aware that there are many materials of explosives, like saltpetre or sawdust, which may be perfectly innocent in themselves, but no man will be punished unless he has those materials in his possession in such a way as to raise a suspicion that they are intended to be used for an improper purpose And it is necessary also not only to deal with the materials for making any explosive substance but also with the apparatus and machinery that are intended to set the explosive materials at work The definition therefore makes mention of—

> "any apparatus, machine, implement or material used or intended to be used or adapted for causing or aiding in causing any explosion in or with any explosive substance, also any part of such apparatus, machine or implement"

"That will deal with detonators, with chlorate of potash, with sulphuric acid, and with all the means employed for exploding the commodity

"I think I have called attention to all the material parts of the Bill, and now for a word as to the haste with which we propose to pass it It is not my business to increase excitement, it is rather to allay than to excite panic But I cannot conceal from the Council my conviction that the danger is great and imminent, and that it ought to be dealt with at once and with a strong hand. A new crime has arisen in India, a crime of a terrible nature, and the existing law is absolutely insufficient to cope with it I will not say more than that. But I may tell you what occurred in England when the same danger first showed its face Early on the morning of the 5th April 188., a man was arrested in a house in London and found to be in possession of a box which contained 1¾ cwt. of nitro-glycerine There was also discovered a manufactory on a large scale of explosive matter. This was communicated to the House of Commons on the same evening by Sir William Harcourt in answer to a question. He also said that he was not satisfied with the state of the law on the subject and that it required early amendment On 6th April Sir William Harcourt gave notice that on Monday next, the 9th April, he would ask leave to introduce a Bill to amend the law with reference to the possession of explosives, and that in order to expedite the passing of the measure he would move that the orders of the day be postponed. On the 9th April the Explosive Substances Bill was introduced The Bill was read a first and second time, considered in Committee and read a third time It was sent to the House of Lords on the same day, where it was read a first, second and third time and passed by 11-30 P M. There is the same necessity for haste here as there was in England I may add that the present Bill is almost identical in terms with the English Explosive Substances Act, and that in explaining its provisions I have indented largely on Parliamentary reports."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON introduced the Bill

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON moved His Excellency the President to suspend the Rules of Business to admit of the Bill being taken into consideration.

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT declared the Rules suspended

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON moved that the Bill be taken into consideration.

The Hon'ble NAWAB SAIYID MUHAMMAD SAHIB BAHADUR said — "My Lord, I deeply regret the dire necessity which has induced the Government of India to convene this meeting of the Council. The terrible tragedy at Muzaffarpur has brought home a sense of shame and humiliation to every loyal and patriotic Indian It is with a universal feeling of horror and indignation that the news of the barbarous outrage carrying off two innocent English ladies was received throughout India by men of all classes, creeds and communities. To the bereaved husband and father, Mr. Kennedy, who has suffered simultaneously two of the greatest of domestic misfortunes, spontaneous sympathy and sorrow have gone forth from innumerable hearts in the country. The disclosures which have subsequently been made at Calcutta reveal the existence of a dangerous and widespread organisation for promoting anarchism whose ends are as is well known, the destruction of all property, law and government. The birth of this monster in the present political and social conditions of the country has filled all thinking men with genuine alarm and anguish. I may be permitted to assure Your Excellency that popular forces and popular opinion will unreservedly co-operate with the Government in weeding out this noxious growth It is an evil which is quite alien to the ancient civilisation of this land, which is in violent contrast with the religious beliefs and traditions of the various peoples inhabiting this country. It is the common interest of every intelligent citizen to see that the evil is not allowed to grow and that it is stamped out of the country before it develops into dangerous proportions I have no doubt that the heart of the people is with the Government at the present trying time in their efforts to overcome the forces of anarchy and disorder I have also every confidence that the Government in successfully stemming the elements of disorder and violence in the country will give no heed to the counsels of reaction, of panic and of ignorance of the actual conditions The British Government has always been noted for its humanity and justice. Its moral purpose and power have always been higher than its material strength. At the present juncture wise statesmanship requires that Your Excellency's Government should act with decision, justice and lenity, which will be in accordance with the best traditions of the British rule."

The Hon'ble TIKKA SAHIB RIPUDAMAN SINGH of Nabha said —"My Lord, the events of the past few weeks—events which every sensible and right-thinking man will condemn—have naturally compelled the Government to take some sort of action. The recent bomb outrages are most deplorable, and I may remark that this sort of crime was unknown in this country till recently. It is every day happening in European countries, because, for good or evil, 'democracy' is in the air, and India could not have escaped the infection. Under rule 20 of the rules of the conduct of the business in this Council, Members are entitled to have a copy of a Bill which is to be taken into consideration, at least seven days beforehand, but I got my copy only last evening, so I have not had sufficient time to fully think over the matter. Things done in haste are not often well done; and in this connection I would beg to point out that the Bill which is now before the Council seems to be vaguely drafted For instance, it does not mention two very important matters, viz, the grade of Judicial officer who will have jurisdiction to try offences under this Act, and to whom an appeal will lie from his orders. I therefore beg to suggest to Your Excellency that these and other such defects should be remedied before the Bill is passed.

"It seems a pity that the Hon'ble the Maharaja of Darbhanga, who was reported in the papers a few days ago to have said, at a meeting recently held, that he as a Member of Your Excellency's Council would support any measure brought forward by the Government in this connection, is not here today among us to take part in these deliberations!"

The Hon'ble MUNSHI MADHO LAL said:—"My Lord, I think no sensible loyal subject of Government will hesitate to support this important Bill. I do not think the objection raised by my Hon'ble friend the Tikka Sahib is applicable at the present time. The situation is very serious and much mischief may arise, and the sooner we deal with it the better. I do not think there is any necessity to declare in the Bill the grades of the officers who are to take action under the provisions of the Bill, it depends upon the Local Governments to take action if they think necessary. This small detail is of minor importance."

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON said—"I have only one word to say with reference to the statement made by the Hon'ble the Tikka Sahib of Nabha that the Bill does not provide for the grade of the Judicial officer, and for the tribunal of appeal. It was not necessary to insert any provisions of this kind in the Bill because they are already provided for by the Code of Criminal Procedure, the procedure of which applies not only to offences under the Indian Penal Code but also to offences under other laws."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said.—"I intend to reserve any remarks which I wish to make till after we have considered the Newspaper Bill. I will now put the motion to the Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON moved that the Bill be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

NEWSPAPERS (INCITEMENTS TO OFFENCES) BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON moved for leave to introduce a Bill for the prevention of incitements to murder and other offences in newspapers. He said—"My Lord, the Bill which I ask for leave to introduce is a sequel to the Explosive Substances Bill and is intended to meet the same emergency. There are two factors in this emergency, neither of which it is possible to ignore if the evil is to be adequately dealt with. The first is the actual making and using of bombs, which has been met by the Bill which has just been passed into law. The second is the public incitement to murder and acts of violence carried on through the medium of an infamous section of the Press. These two factors are as inseparable as cause and effect. If you legislate for the effect without legislating for the cause, you do nothing. The present Bill is therefore as urgent as the one with which we have just been dealing. In the opinion of the Government of India it is absolutely necessary for the public safety that it should be passed into law with the utmost possible despatch. The circumstances which have led to this legislation are fresh in the minds of all of us.

"It is therefore not necessary for me to give a history of the events of the bomb outrages, and I am the more disinclined to do so because certain persons accused in connection with these transactions are still under trial. There is one point and only one in connection with the proceedings that I am compelled to mention in order to support and justify the legislation in which we are engaged. It is the close connection between the Manicktollah conspirators and a certain section of the Press. Barendra Kumar Ghose, who declares himself to be the leader of the conspirators, is the man who created the Yugantar newspaper. Many of those who are under arrest and have confessed to participation in the crimes have been connected with the Yugantar. Some have been connected with another newspaper which it is not necessary for me to name. Some have confessed that they drew their inspiration from newspaper writings Among others the young man who threw the bomb at Muzaffarpur has admitted that he was incited by writings in the Yugantar. I will make no further comments on events which are now sub judice. What I have stated is taken from proceedings in Courts of Justice and is already public property.

"Now turning to the class of newspaper against which this Bill is directed, I find that the Yugantar has been on five occasions during the past year the subject of prosecution for the offence of sedition On four occasions the printer and publisher has been convicted and one case is still pending The authors of the offending articles have never come forth into the light. So far from being deterred by prosecution, a fresh printer and publisher has been registered on each occasion of conviction, and the tone of the newspaper has continued unimproved In spite of five prosecutions the Yugantar still exists and is as violent as ever The type of sedition has been incitement to subversion of British rule by deeds of violence The policy of the newspaper has been to court prosecution in order to create pseudo-martyrs and thus to enlist sympathy on the side of anarchy, and it may be presumed that a further inducement was to increase the circulation of the newspaper by pandering to the tastes of the depraved. I quote the following extract from the official translation of an article in the Yugantar which appeared a few days after the attempt on an officer's life in Muzaffarpur resulted in the terrible death of two ladies :—

'Hard heartedness is necessary to trample the enemy under foot An independent-spirited youth, arrested in connection with the Calcutta incident, is said to have said "The work of the revolutionists, though progressing slowly, was very satisfactory, but two innocent women having met with violent death, all their attempts have been foiled by a curse of God" If any youth aspiring to freedom has really said so, then he has not yet become fit to obtain freedom Hard-heartedness is necessary to trample the enemy under foot When during the Treta Yugu the Rakshasas were perpetrating frightful oppression in the Dandaka forest Rama extirpated the whole race of the Rakshasas Laksman Thakur cut off the nose and the ears of Surpanakha, the beautiful sister of Ravana, and then let her go It is not necessary to give illustrations If in the attempt to destroy the enemy a woman is accidentally killed, then God can have no cause of displeasure like the English Many a female demon must be killed in the course of time, in order to extirpate the race of Asuras from the breast of the earth. There is no sin in this—no mercy, no affection'

"Two days ago I saw a telegram from Calcutta stating that the Yugantar which usually appears on Saturday had unexpectedly appeared on Friday, that thousands of copies had been struck, and that they were selling at a rupee a copy. The telegram gave some description of the contents, which in violence outvied any previous issue. I have not yet received the full translations.

"I have up to this point confined myself to the Yugantar because it has already obtained so great notoriety that nothing that I can say can make it more notorious But writings of a similar type abound in other newspapers, not only in Calcutta but throughout India. I will not give any of these disreputable papers an advertisement by mentioning their names I will content myself with stating the substance of articles which I have culled from them. One article referring to the partition of Bengal states that the ruthless knife of the butcher has severed in twain the throbbing body of the motherland, and makes frantic appeals to all sons of the soil to combine and avenge the atrocity. Another makes insidious attempts to propagate the cult of Ramdas who instigated Shivaji to revolt against Moslem rule. Another instigates Indians to sacrifice their lives and to teach the rulers a bitter lesson. Another urges the Bengalis and the Gurkhas to join hands and rebel against the oppression of the bureaucracy. Another advises the Bengalis to resort to red as the colour of revenge and to sing the hymn of retaliation 'A hundred heads for one head to avenge the murder of the motherland' Another states that a huge sacrificial fire should be lit up and fed not with ghee, but with blood. Another advocates that Indians should make use of blacksmith's tools, lathies and slings and stones to overmatch the enemies of their country Another says that if by resorting to boycott we can gain our desires we can only be said to postpone for the present our resolve to shed blood. Another says that if we desire independence we should be ready to be massacred by our rulers so that their sword may become blunt. Another exhorts to die after killing, as therein the glory of dying will be enhanced. Another urges the sacrifice of life for liberty, for is it not a fact that Kali will not be propitiated without blood. Another advocates the methods of nihilists and the use of bombs. I might go on for hours in quoting such types as these. To an Englishman, who knows not India, they would appear to be little more than ridiculous bombast. But to impressionable and immature minds in the East they present an entirely different significance. We have already seen the terrible effect that they produce on the youthful student, and they must be judged by Eastern and not by Western standards We have striking examples of how they have converted the timid Bengali into the fanatical ghazi, and they are not to be ignored. The difference between the East and the West in this respect is the difference between dropping a lighted match on a stone floor and dropping it in a powder magazine.

" Now, my Lord, I have quoted some of the dangerous incitements that are published by unscrupulous newspapers I have given facts showing the effects which such writings have produced on misguided young men, and I have shown that prosecution has been tried and tried again and has completely failed to put a stop to this incitement to outrage. Under these circumstances what is the duty of a responsible Government? Its bounden duty surely is not only to make adequate provisions to punish the perpetrators of outrages that actually occur, but also to close the fountain head, and to insure that colleges of anarchy, assassination, rebellion and violence are not openly maintained under the guise of newspapers circulated among the public.

" I will now explain the legislation which we are undertaking for this purpose. The first and most important point that I desire to impress is that this Bill is not a general Press law directed against sedition as defined in section 124A of the Indian Penal Code Sedition means an attempt to bring into hatred or contempt or to excite disaffection towards the Government established by law in India. I have no sympathy with sedition and do not in any way palliate that serious offence But this Bill is not directed against sedition In respect of sedition we leave the existing criminal law to take its course The present Bill is confined entirely to the emergency which is now facing us. It is intended to provide a more effective way than prosecution for attempts through newspapers to incite to murder and acts of violence It is not meant as a substitute for but as a supplement to prosecution. It is directed against newspapers which persistently defy the law, which court prosecution, which set up dummies for punishment while the real authors lie concealed, and which establish themselves as schools of anarchy and outrage with the object of debauching young and immature minds, and inciting men to murder, armed revolt, and secret and diabolical schemes of general assassination. The only way to deal with such newspapers is to put an end to their existence, and this we propose to do in the Bill by giving power to confiscate the printing press and to extinguish the newspaper. This is the object of the present Bill, and these two powers are all the powers that it contains. Next as regards the means for effecting these ends. There are two ways in which they can be effected, by executive action or by judicial action. The former would be more prompt, and there are many who have urged us to adopt it The latter, however, is more in accordance with the principles of modern administration, and at the sacrifice, it may be, of some efficiency, we have chosen it. The Bill empowers the Magistrate on application made on behalf of the Local Government to take action in respect of the printing press concerned, when he is of opinion that a newspaper contains any incitement to murder or to an offence under the Explosive Substances Act or to an act of violence. The first step is a notice to all concerned affixed on the place where the printing press is. The next is the hearing of the case, which will be in the nature of a criminal miscellaneous proceeding Evidence will be given on behalf of the Local Government, and evidence may be tendered by any one who opposes the action The Magistrate will then record a finding, and if the finding is that the newspaper contained the incitement alleged, he will proceed to order forfeiture of the printing press He will have the discretion of keeping the printing-press under attachment during the hearing of the case. Against an order of forfeiture an appeal will lie to the High Court, the period of limitation being fifteen days A further power is given to the Local Government. When an order of forfeiture has been passed the Local Government may annul the declaration made by the printer and publisher under the Press and Registration of Books Act, the effect of which annulment is that the newspaper will cease to lawfully exist

"There is one other point that I think I should explain. Action can be taken under this Bill only when a newspaper contains an incitement to murder or to any offence under the Explosives Substances Act, or to any act of violence. It may be thought that the last words 'any act of violence' are too wide and that they admit of action being taken on account of a trivial deviation towards censurable journalism If these words were omitted, if no words of the kind were inserted, the Bill would in practice be inoperative, for it would be easy for any one to write round the clause, to evade its intention, and to publish the most dangerous incitements while keeping within the letter of the law The position is familiar in criminal law If you consider every possible particular in which almost any penal clause may be abused, you may throw it out altogether Take for instance the Indian Penal Code If you give your neighbour a tap on the shoulder, you may come within the terms of the offence of using criminal force No Bill could ever be drawn which would prevent extreme cases from arising It would be impossible to draw any Bill which would stop the offences that are aimed at, if it were insisted that under no conceivable circumstances it could be applied to others than those whose punishment it provides for If you mean to have a Bill that will effect the purpose that you have in view you must admit these consequences and rely on the safeguards which will prevent injustice from being done Now the safeguards under this Bill are far greater than those afforded under the ordinary penal law A private person can take no action under it The police can take no action under it Not even the Magistrate can initiate action. The Bill cannot be applied to extreme cases because no action will be taken except on the initiative of a responsible Local Government. It is inconceivable that a Local Government should take action in an extreme case, or in any case that did not present a serious aspect There is therefore no danger to be apprehended by the public from the wideness of the clause.

"In conclusion, I say that this Bill is not directed against the liberty of the Press If a repressive measure is a measure which curtails the legitimate liberties of the people, this Bill is in no sense a repressive measure. It curtails no liberty that is legitimate It is strictly confined to incitements to murder, and acts of violence No newspaper in the civilized world has liberty to make such incitements It is impossible that the Bill can ever affect any newspaper that is properly and decently conducted Even when it is applied in respect of a newspaper which has degenerated from liberty into lawless license, its application can only be by means of constitutional judicial methods in which the parties concerned will have the advantage of the complete judicial trial to which they would have been entitled if they had been prosecuted for committing an offence"

The motion was put and agreed to

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON introduced the Bill

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON moved His Excellency the President to suspend the Rules of Business to admit of the Bill being taken into consideration.

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT declared the Rules suspended.

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON moved that the Bill be taken into consideration.

The Hon'ble NAWAB SAIYID MUHAMMAD SAHIB BAHADUR said —"My Lord, though I agree with the principle, yet I regret I cannot support all the details of the Bill relating to the Press we have now before us. The object of the Bill is laudable, but whether the provisions of the Bill will attain that object is, I think, open to doubt. I would not plead for a moment that all our newspapers are perfect or near it, but, on the contrary, some of them are run on eccentric lines. The Bill has been hastily got up, and I regret to say we have been afforded no opportunity to consider the measure carefully and express any decided opinion. The Bill appears to me to be too wide in its scope in that it covers not only offences for incitement to murder or offences under the Explosives Act, but any act of violence, this, I am bound to say, is vague and indefinite. Coming to the details of the Bill, some of the sections are open to criticism. The conditional forfeiture provided in section 3, sub-section (1), arms the executive with extensive powers. My Lord, I yield to none in my respect for the executive officers of the service, but after all they are not infallible. I am strongly of opinion that the Magistrate under no circumstances should be allowed to attach a printing press by an ex parte order as provided for in section 3, sub-section (3), of the Bill, and I would respectfully ask the Hon'ble Member in charge to show a more judicial attitude in the matter. The right of appeal has been unduly curtailed and the time limit is too short.

"My Lord, although I think that incitement of every kind should be dealt with severely, legislation of this kind, in my humble opinion, cannot help us in the long run. This is also the view taken by thoughtful men in England. Writing on 'The ethics of dynamite' in the Contemporary Review in 1894, the Hon'ble Auberon Herbert admirably summed up the situation in the following words:—

'If the only effect upon us of the presence of the dynamiter in our midst is to make us multiply punishments, invent restrictions, increase the number of our official spies, forbid public meetings, interfere with the Press, put up gratings—as in one country they propose to do—in our House of Commons, scrutinise visitors under official microscopes, request them, as at Vienna, and I think now at Paris also, to be good enough to leave their great-coats in the vestibules—if we are, in a word, to trust to machinery, to harden our hearts, and simply to meet force with force, always irritating, always clumsy, and in the end fruitless, then I venture to prophesy that there lies before us a bitter and an evil time. We may be quite sure that force-users will be force-begetters. The passions of men will rise higher and higher, and the authorised and unauthorised governments—the government of the majority and of written laws, the government of the minority and of dynamite—will enter upon their desperate struggle, of which no living man can read the end. In one way and only one way can the dynamiter be permanently disarmed—by abandoning in almost all directions our force-machinery, and accustoming the people to believe in the blessed weapons of reason, persuasion, and voluntary service.'

"My Lord, these are words of wisdom which I respectfully submit for the consideration of Your Excellency's Government. As I believe that the Bill when passed into law will have a wholesome effect on those who write at random without themselves knowing what they write about, I support the motion before the Council."

The Hon'ble TIKKA SAHIB RIPUDAMAN SINGH of Nabha said:—"My Lord, it is rather hard on the Members of this Council to give their opinions offhand on important subjects without having an opportunity of considering facts and examining references. If it was thought that the present situation demanded immediate action on the part of the Government, the proper thing to do would have been to issue an Ordinance under the exceptional powers given by the Indian Councils Act to meet such emergencies, and to reserve legislation for the next Calcutta session, because additional Members are generally not expected to attend the meetings of the Council at Simla, and many of them are not present here today. I remember that the Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson said in this Council last year that the objections to legislation at Simla are not so strong now when there is a railway, as they were many years ago when there were no such facilities of travel, but I apprehend that the Hon'ble Member overlooked another inconvenience when he spoke. If an Hon'ble Member intends to come either from Madras or Burma to Simla, to attend the meeting of the Council in the month of June or July, can the journey be described as a pleasant and 'short railway journey'? It was perhaps for such reasons that Lord Salisbury, then Secretary of State, wrote to the Government of India many years ago that no important legislation should be undertaken in Simla. Let the Government suppress crime with a strong hand, but at the same time let not its action appear arbitrary or precipitate. If there is any real and general unrest in the country as is alleged, let us try to find out its causes and remove them. Let us also think and decide whether coercion or conciliation would be the better remedy. I have not had sufficient time to give full consideration to the Bill which is now before the Council, because I received a copy of it only last evening. I do not therefore find myself in a position to criticise the Bill in detail, yet I beg to offer a few observations on its provisions. Section 3, sub section (3), appears to be unnecessary and might be omitted Section 3, sub-section (5), does not specify the period after which the Magistrate is to make the conditional order absolute, or how long he has to wait for the appearance of the person or persons concerned. This should be made clear and not left to the discretion of the Magistrate In section 5, which provides for an appeal, thirty days may be substituted for fifteen. Section 6 appears to be superfluous and might be left out. In section 7 the words 'or of any newspaper which is the same in substance as the said newspaper' are ambiguous, and should be either made clearer or struck out of the Bill These are a few defects which have occurred to me in the hurried reading of the Bill, and there may be some other defects also The present Bill does not seem to be such an urgent one as that which has just been passed, and moreover it would affect a larger number of people, therefore ample opportunity should be given to discuss its provisions, and it should not be passed in such hot haste today Apart from this I feel that non-official Members have a right to expect that they should be given sufficient time for consideration before tendering their opinions on such important subjects, therefore I pray Your Excellency to postpone the consideration of the Bill to some future date"

The Hon'ble MUNSHI MADHO LAL said —"My Lord, the present situation is no doubt very serious I do not, however, think that the necessity of passing this Bill is as urgent as that of the other Act which has just been passed. A month's consideration would have been sufficient, and I think that by the postponement of a month no harm would have been done The Bill might have been introduced, a Select Committee appointed and the Bill passed into law in a month The Bill ought to have gone to the Press and the public, and they might have been given an opportunity of expressing their opinion on its details As far as I can see at present, the whole heart of the country is with the Government to put an end to such writing as may incite to murder and other crimes. I have no patience with writings of this sort, and with those men who employ our sacred literature for their purposes, but still with all that, if we had postponed this legislation for two weeks or a month, no great harm would have been done. It may however be that the Government is in possession of facts necessitating the passing of this Bill at such short notice under a sense of great and heavy responsibility. As regards the present legislation, I agree with the Government and believe that the heart of the people is on their side."

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON said —"I sympathize with Hon'ble Members in their complaints that they have had little time to consider the details of the Bill. Copies of the Bill with Statements of the Objects and Reasons for which it was framed were in the hands of Hon'ble Members more than sixteen hours before the Council met. The time is short, I admit, but it is longer than was given to members of the British Houses of Parliament when legislation for a similar crisis was undertaken. I am sorry that Hon'ble Members have been inconvenienced. I should have been glad to have avoided causing inconvenience to Hon'ble Members by passing the Bill through its various stages in the ordinary way; but I hope that Hon'ble Members will accept my statement that such a course was impossible If ever there was reasonable ground for alarm, the events that are known to us surely furnish that ground We are brought face to face with a great and imminent public danger, and it was absolutely necessary to make such haste as the rules of our legislative business allow.

"As regards the suggestion that we should have proceeded first by way of Ordinance, and that, having thus provided for the immediate emergency, we should have proceeded to permanent legislation in a more deliberate way, I admit that the course suggested has some advantages. But it has this disadvantage, that it commits the Governor General to taking legislative action without the advice of his Legislative Council. It is further to be remembered that an Ordinance is an act of the Governor General in person and not of the Governor General in Council. On the whole, we considered that in a matter of such importance, and in a matter in which an entirely new line of legislation is being taken, it was well to call in the aid of the Legislative Council.

"With reference to the Hon'ble the Tikka Sahib's remarks, I am afraid that it is impossible for me to consent to an adjournment. In fact, as events have shaped themselves, the present Bill is much more urgent than the Explosive Substances Bill I have told Hon'ble Members how the Yugantar brought out secretly on Friday an issue reeking with incitements to murder, and how the issue sold for one rupee a copy In the face of these tactics it would be criminal folly to delay the passing of this Bill by a single day The evil that one issue of a paper of this kind may do is incalculable, and though I sympathize entirely with the Hon'ble Member in his plea that there has been but little time for him to consider the substance of the Bill, I feel that it would be impossible, with a due sense of responsibility for the safety of the public, to recommend to the Council the postponement of this legislation for a single day

"With reference to the Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Muhammad's objection to the ex parte action of the Magistrate, it is in my view quite necessary to give to the Magistrate the power of making an order of attachment ex parte The power is given in cases of emergency or in cases where the application might be defeated by delay. The tactics of the Yugantar have shown that it is necessary when once action has been taken to have power to stop further issues of the newspaper If the Magistrate had not this power a newspaper like the Yugantar would employ the whole time between notice and hearing of the case in publishing fresh incitements to assassination, the harm resulting from which might be incalculable. There is nothing new or foreign to existing law in the provision The Magistrate has a similar power in the procedure relating to prevention of nuisances which is contained in the Criminal Procedure Code"

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON moved that the Bill be passed. He said —"My Lord, it is a source of much satisfaction to me, and I am sure that it will be the same to Your Excellency and to all the official Members of this Council, that we have received the support of the non-official Members of Council to the two Bills in which we have been engaged today It is to be regretted that the urgency of our action has rendered it impossible for the other non-official Members of Council to be present We know from the public utterances of the Hon'ble the Maharaja of Durbhanga that he would have supported us, and I am sanguine enough to believe that if there had been a full attendance of non-official Members we would have had an unanimous vote I cannot doubt that every non-official Member would have supported the Government in measures directed against the common enemies of mankind, in measures which the Government of India believe to be absolutely necessary for the safety of the public We have received telegrams and memorials from representative bodies of all races and all religions in India expressing abhorrence of the terrible outrages that have been committed, and offering their support to Government in the crisis. Therefore, I fear not that what we have done in this Council to-day will commend itself to every right-thinking man in India. It often happens in the wise dispensation of Providence that good comes out of evil. May I venture to hope that, united as the Government and the people of India are against a common enemy, these terrible incidents, which we all deplore, may have the effect of drawing together the Government and the people and bringing about a better understanding between Englishmen and Indians."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said —"Before I put the motion I would venture to make a few remarks.

"My Hon'ble Colleague, Sir Harvey Adamson, has clearly and ably explained the nature of the measures we have before us today. He has recapitulated the powers we have hitherto possessed under the law, and has shown how utterly insufficient they have proved to enable us to deal with existing circumstances.

" The lamentable incidents at Muzaffarpur have sent a thrill of horror throughout India, and have too clearly warned us that we must be prepared to deal immediately with an iniquitous conspiracy and with murderous methods hitherto unknown to India.

" I know that my Hon'ble Colleagues will join with me in expressing the sincerest sympathy for Mr Pringle Kennedy in his terrible bereavement. His attachment to India and his many years of good work have earned him the respect and affection of English and Indian society alike, in which his wife and daughter very fully shared. There have been other atrocious deeds besides that at Muzaffarpur—one cannot forget the sufferers from the explosion in Grey Street in Calcutta, or the deliberate attempts to assassinate Sir Andrew Fraser, the Maire of Chandernagore and Mr. Kingsford. As to Mr. Kingsford, the public have been told in India and at home that the attempts on his life were due to the infliction by him of sentences of flogging for political offences—an unwarrantable accusation, which I am glad to have this opportunity of denying, against one who has fearlessly and straightforwardly done his duty. In not a single case has Mr. Kingsford awarded flogging as punishment for political offences

" My Hon'ble Colleague has dealt so fully with the details of the legislation we propose to pass today that I need only refer to the general position with which we are confronted It is very necessary that no preconceived prejudice should blind our judgment It was, I believe, the Duke of Wellington who said that he had spent the best part of his life in trying to know what was going on on the other side of the hill on his front—and for us the purdah of the East unfortunately hides much from view It would be better for us and for the many races of this country if we knew how to lift it—at present we have failed to do so We cannot but speculate as to much that it conceals, yet it is all-important that our guesswork should not be hasty or unjust.

" All India has been shocked by a cruel crime Expressions of abhorrence and condemnation have reached us from public meetings, associations, and Indian gentlemen throughout the country, and the great mass of the people have loyally shared with the British Raj in detestation of its contemptible brutality What we, the Government of India, have had to consider is the nature of these crimes, the influences which originated them, and the best means for protecting the populations, with whose safety we are charged, against the perpetration of similar outrages

" We all know—at least every one who watches the daily story of Indian political life knows—that the lines of Indian thought are changing, and that embryo national aspirations are beginning to take shape, and it will be a bad day for the British Raj and a bad day for the people of this country if we ever allow the belief to spread that the doctrines of murderous anarchy are even indirectly associated with the growth of those ambitions which British education has done so much to encourage. Nothing to my mind has been more unfortunate and despicable than the readiness with which in certain quarters endeavours have been heedlessly made to further a belief that assassination is merely the effort of a down-trodden people struggling to free itself from a foreign oppressor. The conspiracy with which we have to deal represents nothing of the sort. To the best of my belief it has largely emanated from sources beyond the confines of India. Its anarchical aims and the outrageous doctrines it inculcates are entirely new to this country. But unfortunately the seeds of its wickedness have been sown amongst a strangely impressionable and imitative people—seeds that have been daily nurtured by a system of seditious writing and seditious speaking of unparalleled virulence vociferating to beguiled youth that outrage is the evidence of patriotism and its reward a martyr's crown.

" I have no desire to minimise the dangers of the present time—they are evident enough. I know well the anxieties that the suspicions of subterranean plots must bring to all loyal men and women of whatever race or creed. No one can say how far the poison has spread. I only ask that the nature of it should not be misunderstood, that the canker we have discovered should be localised, and that we should not jump to the conclusion that it has spread beyond the control of legitimate remedies. What those remedies should be have been for some weeks under the careful consideration of the Government of India. The two Bills which we are about to pass are the results of our deliberations. My Colleagues will support me when I say that we have had no lack of advice. The public has been told that we are weak, that we have failed to maintain order, that the glory of England has departed, that strong measures have been neglected I am no believer in compliance with hysterical demands in the hour of danger. I maintain that the strength of the British Raj has been built up upon the justice of its administration. Heaven knows it has been no weak rule, but it has been a just one—and it will continue to be so

"It has been with a heavy sense of responsibility that the Government of India has recognised that the law of the land has not been strong enough to enable us to cope with the present emergency We have felt that we must have further powers. We have had two main points before us—How best to deal with bomb outrages and the conspiracies connected with them; and how to annihilate the evil influence which has done so much to inspire them. The machinery we have decided to adopt is before you in the two Bills which the Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson has introduced In them we have, after careful consideration, empowered judicial rather than executive procedure. We have preferred to act by legislation. But another course was open to us—We might have proceeded by the issue of an Ordinance, we should have saved time by doing so, and the condition of affairs demanded prompt and decided action. And now, if we are asked why, when we decided to proceed by legislation, we did not let that legislation follow the normal course of publication, reference to Select Committee, report and final discussion, I unhesitatingly answer that the urgency of the case would not allow of it. As it is, we have incurred delay, but in doing so we have secured an opportunity of explaining our position, which we should have lost in procedure by Ordinance It is my firm belief that the Government of India occupies an infinitely stronger position in legislating, as it has done today, in open court, than if it had attempted to act summarily during the first shock of the tragedy of Muzaffarpur.

"There is one point which during our discussions in Executive Council I have impressed upon my Colleagues and which I will venture to repeat Sir Harvey Adamson has already alluded to it I look upon today's legislation as exceptional, as framed to meet dangerous emergencies, and as regards the Newspaper Bill, to give powers to deal with a particular class of criminal printed matter. It is quite possible our Bills may not be strong enough, and in that case we shall not fail to amend them. But the Newspaper Bill in no way takes the place of a general Press Act, and it in no way ties our hands as to the future introduction of such an Act. In my opinion a further general control of the Press in India is imperatively necessary. I believe it would be welcomed by the best Indian newspapers The Indian Nation and The Indian Mirror have reviewed the present crisis in a tone which would do credit to the Press of any country They have recognised the evil of unbridled journalistic freedom under Indian conditions—conditions entirely different from those existing at home, where public opinion based on the teachings of centuries of constitutional government would be ever ready to refuse or to ridicule such unwholesome vapourings as are daily furnished to the people of India. India is not ripe for complete freedom of the Press. It is unfair upon her people that, for daily information, such as it is, they should be dependent upon unscrupulous caterers of literary poison. We are called upon to regulate its sale. No exaggerated respect for principles of English freedom, totally unadapted to Indian surroundings, can justify us in allowing the poison to work its will.

"By some irony of fate, the outrages for which that poison is already so largely answerable have been sprung upon us almost upon the eve of the introduction of constitutional changes. I am determined that no anarchical crimes will for an instant deter me from endeavouring to meet as best I can the political aspirations of honest reformers, and I ask the people of India and all who have the future welfare of this country at heart to unite in the support of law and order, and to join in one common effort to eradicate a cowardly conspiracy from our midst."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 10th July, 1908.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 11th June 1908, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The important feature of the weather during the past week has been the setting in of the monsoon on the Malabar coast on the 11th The preliminary indications of its advance appeared on the 8th when an area of relatively low pressure which usually precedes the monsoon began to show itself off the coast, and skies gradually clouded over until by the 11th they were heavily overcast over the southern half of the Peninsula Rainfall also slowly increased from the 8th, on which date there were only scattered falls in south India and the Deccan but on the 10th it had become nearly general in south India and local in the west Deccan, when the monsoon broke, however, there was moderately heavy rain and rough seas on the Malabar coast, and comparatively light rain in other parts of south India, in the west Deccan and on the south Konkan coast In Lower Burma and Eastern Bengal and Assam rainfall was of daily occurrence in some parts of these areas and on the 8th it extended into Bihar, but in the rest of northeast India there was very little rain and that occurred chiefly in Bengal. Pressure was abnormally low in upper India at the beginning of the week and there was in consequence an inflow of comparatively moist winds from the Arabian Sea into this area, causing a large increase in humidity, and on reaching the hills they gave rise to thundershowers in Kashmir and parts of the Punjab.

Burma—Rainfall was generally light and confined chiefly to the coast districts of Lower Burma It was most widespread on the 10th Skies were lightly to heavily clouded and temperature was normal.

Northeast India and Orissa—Rain fell chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam but some falls also occurred in the province of Bengal, especially in Bihar on the 8th. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded except in the western districts and from the 6th to the end of the week temperature was normal or in defect

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces—Thunderstorms and duststorms gave a few scattered showers of rain Skies were cloudy in the Central Provinces and Central India and were generally clear in the United Provinces. Weather was warmer than usual except in the northeast of the latter area on the 8th and 9th

Northwest India—Rain fell in the upper India hills from the 8th to the 10th and a few falls occurred in the plains of the Punjab Cloud appeared during the period of rainfall in parts of upper India but during the rest of the week skies were clear except in lower Sind and Gujarat Temperature was in excess in upper India till the 9th when the rainfall reduced it to below normal at several stations.

The Peninsula—Only a few scattered falls of rain occurred and skies were clear or lightly clouded during the greater part of the week, but from the 9th cloud spread over the whole Peninsula and rainfall increased, being most widespread on the 10th and 11th Temperature was generally in excess

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs each day—

June 5th. Toungoo 1 56" and Jalpaiguri 2 55"

" 6th Chittagong 1·42", Jessore 1 62" and Jalpaiguri 2 01".

" 7th. Bhamo 1 67" and Mymensingh 1 32"

" 8th. Shillong 2·78", Dinajpur 1 90", Purnea 2·14", Darbhanga 1 46", Patna 1·78" and Mysore 1·48"

" 9th. Gulmarg 0·92" and Chitaldroog 1 68".

" 10th Dibrugarh 2 22", Sirsa 1·42", Bijapur 0 98", Salem 1 86" and Negapatam 2 57".

" 11th. Tavoy 2·30", Cherra Poonjee 4 71", Belgaum 1 20", Hyderabad (Deccan) 3 71", Trichinopoly 1 39" and Cochin 1·94"

The week's rainfall was above the average in Bihar, the east and north Punjab, Mysore and southeast Madras. It has not made much change in the seasonal departures from normal of rainfall which is still in defect over the greater part of the country, the deficiency being largest on the west coast of the Peninsula due to the delay in the setting in of the monsoon.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 6th June 1908.

Burma.—The rainfall during the week was general and mostly sufficient and well distributed. Cultivation of hill-side rice continues Ploughing for autumn rice is in progress nearly everywhere In Upper Burma reaping of spring rice approaches completion Sowing of ground-nut, cotton and early sesamum is advancing Standing crops for the most part are in good condition The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably in one district, slightly in eight and has fallen slightly in one district.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The hot showery weather experienced in all parts of the Province was beneficial to all growing crops Reports however indicate that more rain is still required to facilitate agricultural operations in the Surma Valley, Sibsagar, Nowgong, the Chittagong Hill Tracts and Manipur. Weeding of jute and summer rice, sowing of winter rice, ploughing of fields for transplanted rice and harvesting of spring rice and kaon millet continue. Prospects are generally improving Immediate prospects of tea are generally favourable but mosquito blight is reported from Cachar and Lakhimpur The price of rice is generally stationary, but it has risen slightly at thirteen and has fallen at nine stations.

Bengal—During the week under report Lower Bengal and Bihar received light and moderate rain, but in Orissa and Chota Nagpur there was little rain. The showers that have lately fallen have been beneficial to standing crops in the Province and have been of much use in the preparation of lands and the sowing of autumn crops Sowings of jute, summer paddy and other autumn crops are in progress. GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs on Thursday, the 18th June 1908, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The Arabian Sea monsoon advanced rather rapidly northward along the west coast at the beginning of the week, and was preceded by an area of low pressure which as it approached the northeast of the Arabian Sea developed into a cyclonic storm, probably of only slight intensity the storm had completely disappeared by the 18th and the monsoon, which gave heavy rain at many stations on the west coast of the Peninsula at the beginning of the week was only giving light rain at the end An important change has also taken place over the Bay where the first definite depression of the season began to form on the 16th and by the 18th it was of considerable intensity, having moved in the meantime to the vicinity of Jessore It occasioned widespread rain in Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal and Orissa and on the 18th Calcutta received a deluge of over 12 inches in 24 hours. Cloud slowly extended northward and on the 18th there were only a few stations in the Punjab and the northwest of the United Provinces where skies were free from cloud

Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general throughout the week in Lower Burma and local in Upper Burma Skies were heavily overcast and temperature was normal

Northeast India including Orissa—Very little rain fell during the first four days of the week but on the appearance of the depression on the head of the Bay rainfall increased and by the 18th when the depression was in south Bengal it was nearly general, except in Bihar, and an unusually heavy fall of 12 inches was reported from Calcutta Skies were lightly to heavily clouded and temperature was generally in excess, especially in Chota Nagpur, till the 16th when rainfall caused a fall of temperature in the southwestern districts

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces—A few scattered falls of rain occurred chiefly in the southern districts, and these became more numerous on the 17th, while rainfall appeared in the eastern submontane districts of the United Provinces on the same day Cloud gradually extended northwards and by the end of the week clear skies were reported from only a few stations in the northwest of the United Provinces. Weather was considerably hotter than usual, especially in the United Provinces and the east of Central India, but the rainfall and heavy cloud caused a rapid fall in temperature at the end of the week in those areas.

Northwest India—A few light falls of rain occurred, principally in south Gujarat under the influence of the storm in the Arabian Sea and on the 17th light rain fell in parts of Rajputana. Skies were clear over almost the whole division at the beginning of the week but cloud appeared under the combined influence of the storm in the Arabian Sea and the northward movement of the heat depression in Sind, and by the 18th there was cloud everywhere except at a few stations in the Punjab. With the exception of Baluchistan and Kashmir temperature was normal or in excess, the excess occurring chiefly in the east and north Punjab.

The Peninsula—Monsoon rainfall was confined almost entirely to the west coast districts and very little rain fell in other parts of the Peninsula. Skies were moderately to heavily overcast, and temperature was approximately normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week as reported at 8 hrs. each day.—

More than the usual amount of rain fell during the week in Bengal and the Konkan, the excess in the former being chiefly due to the very heavy fall at Calcutta. The rainfall for the period from the 1st May is now normal in Bengal and is in smaller defect than it was last week in Orissa, the east of the United Provinces, Gujarat, the west of Central India, the east of the Central Provinces and on the west coast. It is still, however, more than 20 per cent. in defect over the greater part of the country.

R. W. CARLYLE,
Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

1. In considering the prospects of the monsoon season in India, it is necessary to take into account recent and contemporary meteorological conditions over a wide area. This area includes—

(a) Australia.

(b) The Indian Ocean area, as represented by Mauritius, Zanzibar, Seychelles and the logs of vessels.

(c) Africa.

(d) Siberia.

(e) South America, as represented by Santiago, Buenos Aires and Cordoba

(f) India

(g) The region of snowfall to the north and north-west of India.

Regarding these regions the following information is available

(a) AUSTRALIA.

2. Pressure was ·01" above normal in April and low to the same extent in May. Temperature in April was normal and 1° F low in May Temperature in December was low in South Australia, and very high in January. Conditions in February were normal and in March phenomenal floods occurred in Central Australia.

(b) THE INDIAN OCEAN

3. Mauritius —Mean pressure was in very slight excess, and during the last fortnight tended to become low. Winds were normal in direction and inclined to be strong Rainfall was barely one-third of the normal quantity.

4. Zanzibar.—Pressure was 026" above normal Winds were slightly more westerly and stronger than usual. Rainfall appears to have been about 37 per cent. in excess.

5. Seychelles —Pressure was very slightly in excess. Winds were more easterly than usual, and somewhat below normal in strength. Rainfall was about 3 per cent. above normal

6. Logs of vessels —In the equatorial region the information is as usual very limited, but the available logs of ships shew that during the first three weeks of May the air movement was abnormal in character in the west of the ocean belt and probably normal in the east. Vessels bound from Mauritius to Bombay, and crossing the equator between 58° and 66° E. experienced light and very variable winds usually with a northerly component between south latitude 12° and the equator.

In the southern half of the Arabian Sea also winds showed the same unsteady characters as the air movement to the south. In the Bay of Bengal a temporary and not very strong advance of monsoon winds occurred during the second week of May.

(c) AFRICA.

7. Natal.—Rainfall began on the normal date ; it was in great excess in April, and in moderate defect in May. Barometric pressure on the coast was ·06" in defect in April and ·10" in excess for the following month.

8. German East Africa —Rainfall was normal in the south and in excess in the north in both April and May

9. Uganda Protectorate.—At Entebbe the rainfall was largely above normal in April and in slight defect in May.

10. North-east Africa.—In March the equatorial rains were distinctly below normal in Uganda and British East Africa, and in excess on the upper Bahr-el-Jabel. At the beginning of June the Abyssinian rains were reported to have begun late and been weak. The Blue Nile was then below normal and not shewing any rapid rise. Barometric pressure was in excess.

(d) SIBERIA.

11. The data obtained are fairly representative of this region; they are based upon observations from Orenburg, Tashkent, Omsk, Barnoul, Tomsk and Irkutsk. In April and May respectively the barometer stood 2·1 m.m. high and 0·9 m.m. low, and temperature was 2·2° C. low and 2·2° C. high

(e) THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC AND CHILI.

12. For the Argentine Republic mean values are taken of observations at Buenos Aires and Cordoba and for Chili the data come from Santiago The pressure departures in the former area were for March + 0 4 m m , for April —0 6 m.m. and for May —0·5 m m., while for Chili the departures were +0 6 m.m., —0·2 m.m. for March and April respectively.

(f) INDIA —DATA OF THE YEAR 1907.

13. Pressure in India was practically normal on the average of the year, and the departure of Monsoon rainfall was —3·12".

(g) SNOWFALL DATA.

14. (1) Winter began considerably later than usual in Baluchistan and was on the whole mild. The precipitation exceeded the average in March and April, but the excess was neither large in amount nor common to the whole region.

(2) In Afghanistan, as represented by Kabul, the precipitation was in marked excess from December to February and much below normal in March. No definite information is available regarding the next two months, but the character of the meteorological conditions in upper India is suggestive of the occurrenee of much snowfall in the Afghan region, particularly in April Similar weather appears to have prevailed in parts of the mountainous region of the North-West Frontier Province.

(3) In the valley of Kashmir precipitation was below normal up to March. Snow fell heavily in April and lightly in May. In Ladak the weather was of the usual character, while in Gilgit it was very disturbed in April and May.

(4) In the Punjab Himalayas weather was much drier than usual from December to March. April, on the other hand, was unusually disturbed in some parts, but notwithstanding the excessive snowfall which occurred, the accumulations in the beginning of May were below the average depth. Snow fell occasionally in May also. A severe snowstorm occurred on the 10th and 11th in Kulu where snow is reported to have fallen as low as 8,000 feet. In the beginning of June there was a depth of about 7 or 8 feet of snow on the Rohtang and Hamta passes.

(5) In the Kumaon hills the snowfall was on the whole considerably lighter than usual and the accumulations in the third week of May were certainly not much above the average.

(6) The reports of snowfall in the Assam Himalayas are very conflicting. It appears probable, however, that the fall was very unevenly distributed, being heavy in some parts and light elsewhere.

15. Summary of snowfall.—The available information thus indicates—

(1) That the snowfall was very light up to March, and normal or in excess during the following two months.

(2) That snow fell to much lower levels than usual in May in some parts of the western Himalayas.

(3) That owing to the scantiness of the fall of the earlier months the depth of snow on the peaks and higher passes at the beginning of June was normal or below it in most districts.

16. Temperature in the Punjab is to a certain extent influenced by the amount of accumulated snow in the regions to the north, but it may be noted that during April and May the mean temperature of that province was very nearly normal. The departures in the corresponding months of 1907 were —5·1° and —3·2° F.

SUMMARY AND INFERENCES.

17. The conditions most noticeable this year may be briefly stated as follows:

(a) The great prolongation of the winter conditions in northern India.

(b) The abnormal character of the winds in the equatorial ocean region for at least the first three weeks of May, and the excessive rainfall at Zanzibar. There were indications of a retardation of about three or four weeks in the usual extension of the south-east trades across the equator.

(c) The late and weak condition of the monsoon rains of Abyssinia. The Abyssinian monsoon has an origin which is common with that of the Indian monsoon.

(d) The heavy snowfall in April and May.

18. Conditions (a) and (b) have in the past frequently been associated with a late arrival of the Arabian Sea branch of the monsoon, and with weakness of the rains in their early stages. There seems to be no reason to anticipate a departure this year from such a relationship.

The evidence from Abyssinia (c) tends to confirm the impression that the Indian monsoon may be late.

With regard to (d), it may be noted generally that late snowfall has a tendency to retard the establishment of the monsoon, and that heavy accumulations exercise a detrimental influence during the earlier months of the monsoon period, especially in northwest India

This year, although late snowfall has occurred, the accumulations are not large owing to the scantiness of the falls during the earlier months. Thus the snowfall may be expected to delay the monsoon, but not to extend its influence beyond the earlier part of July, and the rainfall in the northwest of India, which is particularly susceptible to the adverse influence of snowfall accumulations, is not likely to be especially affected.

19. The available data for this year have been analysed by the statistical method developed by Dr. Walker, and described by him in his monsoon forecast for last year. The result indicates a probability of a slight defect in the total monsoon rainfall averaged over India.

FORECAST.

1. The Arabian Sea branch of the monsoon, which is now five days overdue on the west coast, is likely to be further delayed, but probably not for more than a week.

2. It appears that the rains will probably be weak during June and possibly during the earlier part of July.

3. There are no indications that the proportionate rainfall for the northwest, as compared with the rest of India, is likely to be abnormal.

4. The total rainfall for the whole of India during the period from June to September will probably be nearly normal, or in slight defect.

6. (1) The expression "fulminate," as used in these rules, means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture, whether included in any of the foregoing definitions or not, which, from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion-caps or any other appliance for developing detonation, or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous

(2) Fulminate shall, for the purposes of these rules, be sub-divided as follows, namely:—

(a) Division 1 comprising such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury, and preparations of those substances, such as are used in percussion-caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorus, or certain descriptions of compounds of phosphorus, with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur, or with sulphuret, with or without carbonaceous matter, and

(4) The expression "safety fuze" as used in these rules, means a fuze for blasting which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive in such quantity, that the burning of such fuze would not communicate laterally with other like fuzes

(5) The expression "safety cartridge," as used in these rules,—

(i) means a cartridge for small arms, the case of which can be extracted from the small-arm after firing, and which is so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges, and

(ii) includes a rifle-calibre machine-gun cartridge, if it is as described in clause (i) whether it is for use with a machine-gun having chambers identical with those of rifles or with a machine-gun having special chambers.

i No explosive shall be conveyed from place to place unless packed in the manner provided for in the foregoing rules ii There shall not be conveyed in any carriage which is being used for the conveyance of an explosive, any explosive of a different class and division, of whatsoever nature, which contains its own means of ignition, unless it is sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another

iii Except in the case of small consignments carried by railway which may be unloaded at any time, explosives shall be loaded or unloaded only between sunrise and sunset For the purposes of this rule no consignment of more than half a wagon-load booked to one station shall be deemed to be a small consignment

iv Whilst the explosive is being loaded on or unloaded out of any carriage no fire or artificial light, or any article which is liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion [such as charcoal, lucifer-matches, articles for striking a light, petroleum to which the Indian Petroleum Act, 1899 (VIII of 1899) or any other Act for the time being in force regarding the importation, possession, and transport of petroleum, applies, or any spirit or oil or substance that gives forth an inflammable vapour at a temperature below 100° Fahrenheit] shall be, or shall be allowed to be, brought, had or used dangerously near to such carriage, and no smoking shall be allowed in, on, or dangerously near to, the same:

Provided that when the use of a light for the purposes of such loading or unloading is unavoidable, a lamp of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger from fire or explosion may be used; and no person, while handling any explosive (except an explosive of division 1, Class 6, if packed in accordance with the packing rules) shall wear boots or shoes with iron or steel nails, heels or tips

v In the loading or unloading of any explosive, the casks and packages containing the same shall be passed from hand to hand and not rolled upon the ground, they shall not be thrown or dropped down, but shall be carefully deposited and stowed.
